Henderson pretended he would be a Jack Greist in the Commissioners office, but he turned out to be only a jack ass.

Henderson has given up the notion to run for Sheriff next year—he heard something drop. Even John Decker is disgusted with him.

In China, the other day, the platform of a theatre at Wienhen, in the province of Shantung collapsed during a performance. Five hundred persons were killed.

A thrifty dockmaster of New York who received a salary of $1,800 a year, saved $11,500 in a little over two years. It is probable that it was done by not keeping a hired girl.

"The man that went up in a balloon eaten by sharks the papers say," remarked the old lady, "goodness I always thought sharks lived in the water and not up in the clouds."

Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, is the new speaker of the house of representatives. In the Republican caucus, which met at noon Saturday, he received on the second ballot eighty-five votes, or one more than he required to secure the nomination.

A Hastings club has been organized in Lancaster. With a club ready thus early our uncle Dan should be able to cudgel Delamater and Mootooth off the track. Hurrah for Hastings, on that side.

The election of Charles Turner to Congress in New York City is fraught with a significant interest. He is a poor young man, has no money, yet Tammany Hall nominated and elected him by a rousing majority. This season he drove an ice wagon.

The fire has been getting in more work. By the burning of a bakery in Philadelphia, Monday morning, two women and five children were burned.

Same morning at St. Paul, the Washington hotel, a two-story stone building, was burned. Two men perished in the flames.

Stanley expects to reach Zanzibar next Thursday, and when he does will settle down for a time and try to catch up with the world's news for the last three years. He and his companions were rejoiced when they received some missing mail some days ago to learn that Queen Victoria is still alive. Stanley had heard no news from the civilized world for over two years.

The Republicans in congress are forced to give up the revolutionary intentions on contests. The plot to seat West Virginia and Maryland Republican congressmen in the seats of Democrats who held the gubernatorial certificates has been abandoned. Messrs. McKinley and Grosvenor hunted up the alleged precedent and found a law covering the case. This law stipulates that those members-elect holding certificates are the ones that must be sworn in.

It takes a prodigious amount of vegetable matter to form a layer of coal; it being estimated that the present growth of the world would make a layer less than one-eighth of an inch in thickness, and that it would take a million years of vegetable growths to form a coal-bed 10 feet in thickness. The United States has an area of more than 440,000 square miles of coal field, and more than 100,000,000 tons of coal were mined in this country last year, enough to run a ring around the earth at the center 5½ feet wide and 5½ feet thick. Competent scientists say that there is enough coal in the United States to supply the world for the next 2000 years.

The most heartrending tales of destitution and suffering among the fishermen of Labrador coast keep pouring in and it is now evident that many deaths from starvation will have to be chronicled before relief reaches these unfortunate next spring.

Near Point Equimanz families have been discovered on the verge of starvation subsisting on the flesh of dogs. At a number of the fishing stations anticipating a scarcity of food the fishermen saved the refuse from their fish, which they salted and which will have to be eaten to keep them alive. The fisheries, upon which they entirely depend, were a failure and they were left without means to buy food.

It is feared that before the winter is out the past history of the sufferings of these people will repeat itself and that they will again be driven to cannibalism.

Opening of Congress.

Congress met on Monday. The roll call showed the presence of 327 members, the three absentees being O'Neill, of Indiana, Randall, of Pennsylvania, and Whitthorne of Tennessee.

More than a quorum having been disclosed, nominations for speaker were in order, and Mr. Reed was placed in nomination by Mr. Henderson, of Illinois. The mention of Mr. Reed's name was a signal for applause on the republican side which was returned with interest by the democrats, when Mr. McCreaty, of Kentucky nominated Mr. Carlisle for the honorable position Messrs. Cannon, of Illinois; Mills, of Texas Henderson of Iowa, and Felix Campbell were appointed tellers, and the clerk proceeded to call the roll. The vote resulted: For Reed, 166; for Carlisle, 154; for Cummings, of New York, 1. (Cowles, of North Carolina). Mr. Reed, having been declared elected speaker, was escorted to the chair by Messrs. McKinley and Carlisle amid applause, and the oath office was administered by Mr. Kelley, of Pennsylvania.

What is causing the present mild weather and so much rain may possibly be suggested by the following: It is a theory of the meteorologists lately originated that the cause of the mild weather last winter and fall is due to change made in the course of the Gulf stream now running closer to the Atlantic coast than it ever did before. The cause for this is attributed to depressions made in the bed of the ocean in that degree by the earthquakes which showed their effects inland at Charleston and other places in South Carolina. It is argued by these meteorologists, that the deep indentations made in the bed of the ocean, took the Gulf stream's flow close to the continent, thereby affecting the climatic conditions, and producing unusual softness in the atmosphere where the weather ought to be cold and the earth frozen in deep degrees. Whether or not the scientists are right in their conjectures, the unlearned are not competent to judge, but the fact is clear to all observers, that since the earthquakes which shook South Carolina, with the exception of a blizzard or two, our winters have been unusually mild.

Judge Anderson has denied his application for citizenship made by Mormons who had taken the endowment house oath. He holds that the church is a testable organization in its teachings and hostile to the government in its practices, disobeying the laws and seeking the overthrow of the government. The oath binds its members under penalty of death to implicit obedience in things temporal as well as spiritual to the priesthood and to avenge the death of Joseph and Hiram Smith upon the government and people of the United States. Therefore, aliens who are members of the church are not fit persons to be made citizens. The judge reviews the evidence at great length and lays stress upon the refusal of Mormons to give the nature of the oath, while ex-Mormons described it as above stated. The judge quotes from speeches of Brigham Young and other leaders, and leans to the opinion that the Mountain Meadow massacre was inspired by their utterances.

Nothing cuts so deeply as the truth. That is one reason why political bosses and men who want to achieve the largest material success have such a horror of downright plain-speaking. They would see all our institutions subverted and the spirit of the fathers destroyed rather than lift up their voices in defense of the truth for fear that some one might be offended and votes lost. Men whose souls are on fire with devotion to the right never stop to count cost, nor do they keep their mouths shut when speech is needed. Had the founders of this republic looked only after their personal fortunes there would have been no revolution and we would still be a dependency of the British crown. But they spoke and acted and lol they won freedom for their descendants and immortal fame for themselves. The battles of the republic have not all been fought. Altoona Tribune.

At the Brazilian legation in this city it was thought that Dom Pedro would establish his residence in France, but it is not believed that he will make any prolonged stay in one place, the late emperor having a penchant for travel. His winters, in all probability, will be spent in Nice and Cannes, where he has many friends. To-morrow is his birthday when he will be sixty-four years of age.

- Great fires inside a week: The fire at Lynn, Mass., loss, $5,000,000.
- The fire at Boston, loss, $3,000,000.
- The fire at Leechburg, loss near one million.
- The fire at Minneapolis, Sunday night, destruction of the Tribune building, and seven persons burned.

President Harrison's first message is out, and he thinks that the tariff needs an overhauling. The recent elections, no doubt, give him new ideas. He says in the message:

"I recommend a revision of our tariff law, both in its administrative features and in the schedules. The need of the former is generally conceded and an agreement upon the evils to be remedied and the best methods for their correction will probably not be difficult. Uniformity of valuation at all our ports is essential, and effective measures should be taken to secure it. It is equally desirable that questions affecting rates and classifications should be promptly decided. The preparation of a new schedule of Custom duties is a matter of great delicacy because of its direct effect upon the business of the country and of great difficulty by reason of the wide diversion of opinion as to the objects that may properly be promoted by such legislation.

Reliable advices from Portugal indicate the imminence of a demonstration in favor of a republic which will even menace the overthrow of the monarchy. The republicans of Lisbon, Oporto, Villareal and Aveiro are co-operating. They have ninety-seven working committees and 17,000 enrolled members, among whom are Deputy Coelho, of Lisbon, a member of the academy of science; Deputy Freitas, of Oporto; Colonel Elias Garcia, a professor in the military school, and Dr. Braz, a member of the municipal council of Lisbon. The leaders of the army, and especially those of the artillery, are ripe for a republic. Senor Zorilla recently paid a secret visit to Lisbon to confer with the supporters of the revolutionary movement. The changes in Rio Janeiro, which in themselves are viewed with comparative indifference here, are anxiously watched by the government as associated with the republican agitation on the Spanish peninsula and with reference to their reflex influence upon the whole of Europe.

Scribner's Magazine of December is a Holiday number of striking beauty and attractiveness in its illustrations, and the text of the articles will appeal to the fancy and sympathy of readers, rather than to their desire for instruction in practical affairs. With the exception of the fourth instalment of Harold Frederic's serial, each article is complete in this issue. The contents include a sympathetic study of life in the poorest quarters of New York's tenements; a vigorous end paper, sure to provoke discussion, by Edward J. Phelps, Esq., ex-Minister to England; a genial and discriminating review of the whole field of American humorous drawing, by J. A. Mitchell, the founder and editor of Life; another story by Mr. H. C. Bunner, editor of Puck, whose "Zadoc Pine," and Squire Five-Fathom," in previous Christmas issues, will be recalled; a vivid and picturesque account of some characteristic Breton festivals; and a sunny picture of life and eccentric character on some of the least frequented of the Bahama Islands.

It now seems that any statement to the effect that the number of Indian population is slowly decreasing is not in accord with the truth. The Indian is not dying off and vanishing from the earth any more than the Caucasian is. They have, for the most part, adopted semi-civilized habits, and live quiet lives. They are increasing rather than decreasing. In the quiet, orderly communities of the Indian Territory, in the reservations of Dakota, and in the pueblos of New Mexico and Arizona the Indian is encamped peacefully, and his children are being educated. He is fairly prosperous, provided the Indian agent and the contractor do not try to starve him, and he is raising his family and increasing in the land.

It is an indisputable proposition that in making Representative Reed of Maine, the caucus nominee for speaker of the house the Republicans have done the best thing possible under present conditions. The same statement, on general principles, will apply to the selection of Edward J. McPherson of this State, as the nominee for clerk. Reed is a man of admitted high character, real ability and pretensions educational requirements. His Democratic friends, and he has many of them, aver that he is as scrupulously honest as it is possible for men in his position to be.

It is rather remarkable that the big fire in Boston last week should have followed closely upon the heels of an editorial article in the Globe demonstrating that such a fire as that which devastated Lynn could not possibly occur in Boston. The fire fiend has a way of playing jokes of this character.

A Pan-American Dollar.

The silver coinage of Canada and the United States are of the same value, and on our northern border Canadian silver circulates freely. Our greenback dollar also is readily taken in Canada. A uniform dollar is most advantageous for trade between the two countries. It has been suggested that one of the things that should occupy the careful attention of the three Americas' congress is the fixing on a common silver dollar for all the countries. The coin should be of uniform size and weight in all the republics, but each would stamp its own national device on its own dollar.

The South American countries are at present unfortunately suffering from a depreciated paper currency, but, following the example of the United States, they could resume in due time. The time need not be long if they resumed on a silver basis. All the countries of the American continent united in a common silver coinage would, undoubtedly, have a powerful influence on the silver market of the world. They would have an important bearing on the question of the bi-metallic standard also.

The influence of such a pan-American dollar on our trade with the countries south of us would become more and more favorable.

Alaska wants to have a delegate in congress, and be placed on an equal footing with the other territories. The request ought to be granted. Alaska pays to the United States government every year enough money to cover the interest of her purchase money. She pays it from the seal fisheries, and it is a larger sum than any of the other territories pay to the government, or ever did pay.

Uranium is a very rare metal, worth $12,000 a ton. It can be used as a substitute for gold in alloys with platinum and copper. This makes it valuable, as also does its high electrical resistance. A vein of the metal in a very pure state has recently been discovered in Cornwall, England.

Any one having costs to pay to Sheriff Cook should demand an itemized bill, which he is bound to render, and then have it examined against the imposition of overcharges. The sheriff seems to have scooped in quite a handsome sum in this way. Perhaps the exposure in the Register and other Democratic papers will deter this official from further wrongs in this direction. But it is hardly safe to trust him. Mr. Dale, of this town, got back $12 which the sheriff overcharged him. Mr. Bushman has notified this officer that an illegal charge of $22 must be refunded. There are a number of others, and they should all compel the sheriff to hand back the bundle, and if he fails, prosecute him to recover it.

In accordance with general expectation Congressman Thomas B. Reed, of Maine, has beaten Congressman McKinley, of Ohio, for the speakership of the next house, and what's more he had a complete walk-over. In all the country from ocean to ocean and from the gulfs to the lakes there cannot be found a stauncher advocate of protectionism than McKinley, and his defeat may be regarded as a slap at the Chinese policy. Even the chairman of the republican national committee Senator Quay is said to have done missionary work against Ohio's favorite son and the McKinleyites threaten to "get even." It looks very much as if there are breakers ahead of the republican vessel thinks the Patriot.

At Wilkesbarre a few months ago Chief of Police Watkins, of Parsons, while under the influence of liquor, was killed by being struck by an engine while sitting on the platform of the Delaware and Hudson railroad station. About a month ago his widow filed a claim in court for $10,000 damages against John Schumacher, a very wealthy saloon keeper who had sold her husband liquor while he was visibly affected by it. The case was up before three arbitrators who after hearing all the arguments, this afternoon awarded the widow $2,500. It is said the defendant will not make any appeal from the decision.

The New York Herald thinks it is rather surprising to be told that the Haytiens are not pleased because Frederick Douglass our Minister, is not a white man. Mr. Douglass is the peer of anybody in Hayti, white or black but if he is not a persona grata he should be brought back home. We must respect our sister republic's wishes, though it strikes us that the negroes down there, who are usually engaged in cutting throats and pillaging are growing fastidious.

Clara Brice's Murderer.

Alfred Andrews was arrested at Brimble, on Sunday evening and brought to the county jail at Bellefonte on Monday. He answers perfectly the description given of the man who was seen following Clara Brice just before she was murdered. Andrews admits having been in the vicinity of the spot where the body was found on Wednesday, the day of the murder.

Hopkins Sentenced.

On Saturday afternoon Hopkins was brought into court and sentenced by Judge Farst.

By the Court—Mr. Hopkins stand up! Have you anything to say why sentence of death should not be pronounced upon you according to law?

Prisoner—No sir.

The Court—Mr. Hopkins, you have been convicted by a jury of your country of the highest crime known to the law—the crime of murder. The murder of a member of your family. You had a fair and impartial trial; your counsel was zealous in the discharge of every duty to protect you and see that you had a fair and just trial; you had a conscientious jury, sworn to try the issue between you and the Commonwealth and a true deliberance make. That jury under the evidence found you guilty of murder in the first degree. There cannot be a question, there cannot be a shadow of a doubt but that the verdict is the exact truth in your case. You committed this crime in cold blood; you committed it with malice in your heart; you committed it before you resolved to commit it and you lay in wait in your own house at midnight, waiting for the purpose. We have but little else to say to you but this, that you need expect no clemency from the Governor of this Commonwealth or the board of pardon; you must make your address for pardons and forgiveness to a higher power and we commend you to a prayerful consideration of your own condition; we say to you kindly and with the best feeling of our heart to repent of your sins and seek pardon from God whose law you have offended. The penalty of your crime is death; it is the consequences of your own crime; by your crime you have forfeited your life and we say to you in conclusion to make your peace with God; seek his pardon and it may be that you will be forgiven if you repent in sincerity and truth.

The sentence of the court is that you, William S. Hopkins, the prisoner at the bar, be taken hence to the jail of Centre county from whence you came and from thence to the place of execution and that you be there hanged by the neck if you are dead, and may God Almighty have mercy on your soul.

A Grand Display.
The undersigned respectfully announces that he has opened his new store at Spring Mills with an entire new stock of goods just received from New York and Philadelphia.

This large stock has been selected with great care as regards quality and price to meet the wants of a home market.

The dry goods and dress trimming departments are very complete, the fashions and styles being entirely new and very desirable. The combination dress patterns especially are very neat and stylish in appearance, and must be seen to be appreciated. Hosiery, gloves, ribbons, buttons, notions, etc., in endless variety at reduced prices. Boots, shoes and rubber goods of every description, and at astonishingly low figures for the quality. Men's and boys' fine dress shoes, lace and congress; ladies', misses', and children's shoes, of all grades, and are not surpassed, if equaled, for style, finish and wearing qualities, by any other store in the valley.

Groceries received every day and always fresh. Also keep a full line of the finer grade of groceries not usually kept in country stores. The goods are very choice and desirable.

Clothing, hats and caps, all the latest styles. Hardware, wood and willow ware, glass and queensware of every description, and will always keep a complete stock.

In addition to the above I am receiving a large variety of choice goods for the holidays to please the little folks as well as the large ones. A visit to inspect and examine goods is respectfully solicited.

D. E. BIBLE,
Spring Mills.

Good Joke on Snyder.

We do not mean on the individual Snyder, but a good joke on Snyder county. All the Register readers know the itinerant missionary, Brother Hershey, whose field is the United States, Ontario and takes in Snyder county too. For the love of the cause, Brother Hershey, like St. Paul, preaches free of charge and distributes his own original tracts. While in Snyder county in his good work it was during a hot political campaign. When he enters a dwelling it is with the scriptural salutation, and he announces his object at once, and entering the abode of one of the sovereigns of Snyder the missionary put the question at once and direct:

"Which side is this house on, on the side of the Savior or on the other side?"

"Ef he is running on the Republican ticket, we have three votes for him, and if not, then we all vote for the other fellow," came the response from the head of the family.

Hard at Work.

Nearly one hundred Eminent Persons are now engaged in preparing valuable and important contributions to The Youth's Companion for 1890.

Mr. Gladstone is getting together his reminiscences of Moly, the Historian; Justin McCarthy is writing up his personal recollections of great Prime Ministers; Sir Morell Mackenzie is thinking of what he shall say to The Companion upon the training of their young; Captain Kennedy is recalling the exciting episodes of his five hundred different trips across the Atlantic, and making notes for his articles; F. T. Barnum is preparing the account of how he secured his White Elephant; General Wolsey is about the boy and girl laborers of America, what they do and what they earn; Hon. James G. Blaine is writing a paper for our young political class; popular authors and writers are contributing the presidents of three leading American colleges will give advice to boys on their future; Lyndell and Shuler are to talk about the wonders of nature; Marion Harland promises to entertain the girls, while Lieutenant Schwatka will take the boys' imagination to the loneliest place in the United States.

There are hundreds of pleasures in store for The Companion's readers of 1890. Every one is hard at work as you see. $1.75 will admit you to 52 weeks of these entertainments. Send for Full Prospectus for 1890 to The Youth's Companion, Boston, Mass.

Several new sewing machines, Davis and New Home make, will sell at least to close them out. G. W. BUSHMAN.

THE NEWS OF THE DAY

HOW TO GET IT
WHERE TO GET IT

Announcement of The
Pittsburg Post
FOR 1890

The Fiction Department.

As a family newspaper The Post will stand without a peer. Its fiction department will continue to be one of the most attractive in the country. The serial novels for which contracts for 1890 have already been made are the products of some of the foremost romance writers of the world. There will be several of these novels in the course of the year, and in book form any one of them would cost more than a year's subscription to The Post.

The Market Reports.

As a Guide for buyers and sellers of merchandise and produce, The Post's market reports will be found full, reliable, extensive, and of very latest dates from every commercial center. While in size and quality of reading matter it is equal to two of the ordinary ones, all of which, and other excellent features, make it the largest, best and cheapest paper in the country. The cattle, produce and grain markets, especially prepared for the weekly edition, are always full and reliable.

The News Departments

The Post are complete, giving each week the world's history for the week, able correspondents at Washington, Harrisburg and other cities.

A Welcome Visitor.

The Weekly Post is the largest Democratic paper in the United States and the aim of the publishers is to make it a welcome visitor to the reader's home. One of life's real pleasures is an easy chair, a quiet corner and a copy of The Weekly Post. Each number of this sterling family magazine—it deserves the name—is a perfect encyclopedia of the world for a week. No feature, fictional, topical or special, is omitted.

Some Extraordinary Premiums.
The Post is offering some extraordinary premiums this year for subscribers. Send for a copy of its premium list. I find Ideal Tooth Powder is without exception the best I have ever used. With its aid I keep my teeth very clean and white, which I was unable to do with any other powder I have ever tried before. So says Ferdinand E. Chardart, Baltimore, Md.

By the way, will you buy and use Ideal Tooth Powder? We can thoroughly recommend it. E. E. Nichols, Dentist, Salina, Kansas, says, "Ideal Tooth Powder, in my estimation, just what its name indicates. An engraving 20 x 24 is given with each two bottles. Price 25 cents per bottle.

Either of the following engravings, "Evangeline," "Bayard," "Monarch of the Glen" or "The First Step," without advertising on them, size 20 x 24 inches, given with one 50 cent or two 25 cent bottles of Ideal Tooth Powder. These are not cheap lithographs, but works of art. A. D. Bowman, Dentist, Nicholia, Idaho, says, "I am using your Ideal Tooth Powder, and find it superior to all others.

The engraving "Evangeline" arrived safely on the 24th of December, making it seem like a Christmas gift. Trusting that Ideal Tooth Powder may flourish, I remain, yours respectfully, Elois Earnest, Denver, Col. One of these engravings, without advertising on it, worth $1 retail is given with each two 25 cent bottles of Ideal Tooth Powder.
