LOCAL ITEMS.

-We would urge our friends before purchasing their Holiday gifts to be sure to call at Green's Pharmacy, in the Bush House Block at Bellefonte. He has a very large stock of beautiful goods at low prices and in addition he gives to every cash purchaser of one dollar's worth or more, a beautiful, new and useful souvenier. If there was no other inducement it would be worth while to go just to see his mammoth trout.

-Ask at your store for Calla Lily floar-it is No. 1.

-Hon. Joseph Parker of Clearfield, formerly of Lewistown, died on 4th. -The Centre Hall band will hold a festival in their hall during the holidays, continue one week.

-Mrs. James Gentzel of Georges valley died on Wednesday morning; funeral on Sabbath forenoon.

-Henry Emerick of Farmers Mills, gave our sanctum a call, and reports rain and mud as plenty down there as here. -J. W. Sweetwood, of Georges valley gave us a call. He is true to his name-always sweet, raises the nicest honey in this part of the kingdom.

-Miss Elsie Geiss, teacher of the primary school, was unable, from sickness, to teach for several days and the school was closed, this and last week. -Dr. J. H. Hulbert, of Mill Hall, died Thursday at the age of 82. He came of a long-lived family, his father having died at the age of 104,

-We have received a copy of the La Grange, Ind., Standard, containing an excellent Thanksgiving sermon, de-livered by Rev. D. J. Mitterling, formerly of this place.

FRED. KURTZ, Editor and Prop's Andrews Gets a Hearing And Is Sent Back to Jail on Damaging Evidence.

Alfred Andrews, the man suspected of having murdered Miss Clara Price, had a hearing in the court house last Saturday, before Judge Furst and Associate District Attorney J. C. Meyer and ex-Judge Orvis appeared for the Commonwealth and E. R. Chambers and Col. J.

L. Spangler appeared for the defence.

James Marstellar was the first witness examined and his evidence showed that on that fatallmorning himself and another man were going to a hunting camp on the other side of Karthaus. When near the bridge, on this side of the river, they found a woman lying dead in the road with bullet wounds on her person. They drove on to Karthaus and gave the marm when, in company with others, they returned to the dead body.

12.30 o'clock. She was lying on her face and breast with her hands crossed under her. From all appearance she had been running. The body was then cold out-wardly but still warm internally. Her hat was lying about a rod from her body with a bullet hole through it, and a bullet had perforated the basket she had been carrying which lay near by. At in further attempts upon it, and had to that time only one bullet hole was discovered on her person and that was through her ear. An examination of the ground revealed the fact that she had been running. Tracks were found 1½ rods further up the pike and leading into the woods. Only one of these was plainly discernible and measured 10½ inches.

The doctor wade a post mortage examination of the street and got semething over a dollar in change. The doctor made a post mortem exami-nation and found the ball that caused her death to have entered between the eighth and ninth rib on left side of body passed through the lung, severed the pulmonary artery and lodged against the sternum. The force of the ball was well spent as it was in no ways flattened or misshapen. It was of 32 calibre, centre fire. The Exposition is closed until October next. We saw it; it was great, being in its infancy, but we saw enough to convince ourselves of the fact that enterprise, such as displayed there, should not be passed by without some comment. But we still wonder why it was that only one whole sale liquor house was so boldly represented. You could see its pyramid of bottles from any part of the great building. It was the prettiest display there. Max Klein has proved to the public that he wants to be seen.
