Their Fate.

BEGGS SHOWS GREAT CONCERN

And Goes Scott Free-Coughlin, O'Sullivan and Burke Receive Their Life Sentences Bravely-Kunze Takes His Three Years' Term Smilingly-Motion for a New Trial.

CHICAGO, Dec. 17.—The five prisoners were ushered in over the iron bridge leading from the jail. Lawyer John F. Beggs, with a deathly pallor on his face and his blue eyes staring as though pro-truding from the bleached bones of a skeleton, headed the line. Behind him came Dan Coughlin, with a half ner-vous, half cynical smile upon his face. It was apparent to every observer that he had nerved himself for the ordeal. Then next came O'Sullivan, his jaws compressed and the fingers of his right hand tugging nervously at his mustache. Martin Burke, close behind him, had the same look of stolid indifference that he had worn throughout the trial. Lit the Kunze, the last in line, was as usual the comedian of the prisoners, and smiled and waved his hands at the officers and newspaper men as he entered triumphant ring in it, when he an-swered "We have," in response to the question of the clerk of the court as to whether he and colleagues had agreed on a verdict. Rising in his seat he handed a folded paper to the clerk. The stillness at this moment was not merely oppressive but painful.

The little comedian simply tentiary." smiled and showed his teeth. To all appearances the verdict at the most suited him as well as an acquittal. The Suspense Ended.

THE PENNSYLVANIA STATE COLLEGE

For the third time the clerk cleared his throat and proceeded: "We find the prisoners, Daniel Coughlin, Martin Burke and Patrick O'Sullivan guilty of murder as charged in the indictment and fix their punishment at imprison-ment in the penitentiary for the terms of their natural lives.

As soon as the verdict was rendered the deputies clustered around the pris-oners and effectually prevented any at-tempts of communication with them. Chief Hubbard stood at the rear of the deputies with several officers in citizens clothes, while Sheriff Matson stood at the right hand corner of the bench close by the judge. Attorney Forrest im-mediately entered a motion for a new trial for Burke and Kunze in the absence of Attorney Donahue, for O'Sulli van and Kunze

The Crime. A crime was committed in Chicago on the 4th of May last which has produced an in-tense sensation everywhere. Dr. P. H. Cronin, the leader of one of the two factions in the Clan-na-Gael, a semi-political benevelent, as-sociation, was murdered in a mysterious mansociation, was intratered in a mysterious man-ner. Some one called at his office on the evening of the fateful day and demanded his medical services at Lakeview, to which place he immediately repaired. No one saw him alive afterwards. His body was discovered in a machine in Arrela wards are May 29 a manhole in Argyle park on May 22. The murder proved to be the result of well planned plot, and evidence was difficul to obtain. Finally five men were put on tria for the crime and after a long delay a jur was chosen. It seems that a room near D was chosen. It seems that a room near Dr. Cronin's office was hired, so that watch could be kept over his movements, almost three months before the murder was committed. On May 5 a bloody trunk was found in Lake View. On May 11 Woodruff was arrested and confessed to hauling the trunk. On May 22 the body was found. In June the suspects were indicted and on Aug. 26 the trial opened. Since then the case has been dragging its slow length along and the proceedings are fresh in the memory of the newspaper read-ers.

The Jury Retires.

CHICAGO, Dec. 14.-Judge Longenecker concluded: "Gentlemen, you are not here to acquit guilty men or convict inno-cen men. But any same man must by carefully weighing the evidence of this trial, believe these five men guilty." The state's attorney then sat down and the state's attorney then sat down and the great case was ended. Judge McConnell immediately began the reading of his charge to the jury. If the jurors found the defendants guilty, any or all of them were to be punished by death, imprisonment for life or for any term of years not less than fourteen. The charge was very elaborate and fair to both sides. The prisoners listened to its reading with inprisoners listened to its reading with innse interest.

At the conclusion of the charge the exhibits that had been introduced in evidence were given to the jury. Five bailiffs were sworn to take the jurymen to the grand jury room, there to keep them without meat or drink except water, until a verdict was rendered.
