Quay and the Governorship.
 WASHINGTON, Dec. 24.—A Philadelphia congressman who favors neither of the avowed candidates in the Pennsylvania gubernatorial contest has this to say of Senator Quay's position:
 "As to Quay's position I can speak from absolute knowledge of the facts. He has not authorized Andrews to say that he favors the nomination of Delamater, and he has not said to Senator Delamater that he will be for him. He has most solemnly assured Gen. Hastings that he will take no part in the fight, and that, while he would not contemplate Senator Delamater's nomination with displeasure, yet he will allow Hastings to win if he can. Indeed, Quay could not now make an open fight, or authorize the use of his name for Delamater against Gen. Hastings, for the latter told the senator that he would only go on in the contest upon the assurance that he would not have Quay to fight, and Quay said to him: 'Go ahead. I am hands off. I am friendly to Delamater personally, and if he wants to make the fight I can't oppose him and I don't oppose you. In short, Quay has made Delamater and Quay his candidates. In the meantime the friends of Delamater, knowing Quay's personal feelings, are making the most of it and are assisted by Chairman Andrews, who is naturally and enthusiastically for Delamater.'

Callaghan's Campaign Against Powderly.
 SCRANTON, Pa., Dec. 24.—Hon. Edward Callaghan, of Scottsdale, who charges Mr. T. V. Powderly with conspiracy, has given another evidence of his eccentricity. Judge Archbold has received the following telegram:
 Why should you impede Officer Washbaugh in the discharge of his sworn duty? Answer to Pittsburgh papers.

EDWARD CALLAGHAN.
 Mr. Callaghan sent another telegram to Justice Hand. It reads as follows:
 The charge of conspiracy is specified. Why impede the officer in discharging his duty?

Justice Hand turned the last dispatch over to Judge Archbold. He says that he will take no notice of such impertinent and ridiculous communications.

Head Blown Off by Burglars.
 TARENTUM, Pa., Dec. 24.—Mrs. Paul Rebert had her head blown off by burglars in her husband's jewelry store last night while attempting to prevent three desperadoes from carrying off a tray of diamonds and jewelry. Her husband, who was in the back yard at the time, heard the shot and immediately ran into the store to find his wife lying dead on the floor. He picked up a revolver one of the murderers left behind and sprang through the window after them. He shot several times at the burglars, but they escaped. A large posse are now in pursuit of the villains, and if they are caught will likely be lynched.

New Railroad Project Postponed.
 BOYERTOWN, Pa., Dec. 24.—Dr. Thomas J. B. Rhoads, president of the Boyertown board of trade, and chairman of the committee to lay before the Pennsylvania Railroad company the petition of the citizens, plans, etc., for a new railroad from Phoenixville to Allentown via Boyertown, received a letter from Vice President De Barry stating that the company will not go into such an enterprise at this time. The reason given is that the new road from Downingtown to Morrisville via Bridgeport will be an expensive one to build, and must be completed before another project of the same kind is undertaken.

Cresson in South America.
 CONSHOHOCKEN, Pa., Dec. 23.—William Henry Cresson, the defaulting cashier of the Traders' National bank, who fled from his home after heavily involving the bank by his speculations, is in South America. At least that is the conclusion arrived at by the government secret service detectives, who have tracked Cresson ever since he disappeared two months ago. The exact location is not definitely known, but it is supposed that he has gone to Brazil, where the present condition of affairs is extremely favorable to his safety.

A Colored Preacher in Trouble.
 NEW CASTLE, Pa., Dec. 24.—Rev. Daniel G. Moore, formerly pastor of the Mt. Zion Colored Baptist church of this city, was placed in jail here on a charge of embezzlement. The congregation was raising money to pay for the erection of a new church, and an information has been made charging the minister with appropriating the funds he collected to his own use. Moore claims the arrest is spite work, and that the congregation owes him salary. Rev. Moore is a native of Youngstown. The amount involved is small.

Petrolia Burned.
 PITTSBURG, Dec. 23.—The little town of Petrolia, once one of the liveliest oil towns in the country, was desolated by a fire which broke out at 3 o'clock Sunday morning and raged fiercely, helped by a high wind, until the entire business portion of the town was destroyed, a blow from which the place will doubtless never recover, and its 700 inhabitants will seek a new place to live in some other oil town.

Bar Iron Manufacturers.
 PHILADELPHIA, Dec. 31.—At a largely attended meeting of eastern bar manufacturers it was decided that the base price of bar iron should remain at 2 cents per pound at the mills or Philadelphia delivery. A resolution was adopted providing for the appointment of a committee of nine to confer with the western manufacturers, with a view of forming a national schedule of extras for small wages.

Learned a Costly Accomplishment.
 BRADFORD, Pa., Dec. 24.—Emma Cole, aged 30, of Windfall, this county, was arrested by United States Marshal McCrea for making and circulating counterfeit money. Miss Cole says she was taught by a friend how to make the counterfeit money with plaster of Paris moulds and that she only made $4. She will have a hearing before United States Commissioner Chapman.

A Woman Falls from a Ladder.
 POTTSVILLE, Dec. 24.—Mrs. Charles Schwartz, residing on the Germantown road, near this place, in descending a ladder in her husband's barn fell, owing to the ladder breaking, and sustained a fracture of the skull and a broken arm. Her injuries will most likely prove fatal.
