FRED KURTZ, -- EDITOR

Wm. A. Wallace will be the next Democratic candidate for governor.

He will be nominated on first ballot and maybe by acclamation.

His campaign will be one of the most brilliant and statesmanlike in the history of Pennsylvania.

He will be elected and prove one of the ablest governors the Keystone state ever had.

He is one of the best organizers in the state, knows all about her interests and will make the campaign upon state issues in a manner that will long be remembered.

He has a long public record in the state senate and one term in the U. S. senate, in which no flaw can be found and upon which he and his friends can go before the people with pride and show that every act of his was in the interests of the masses.

The miners, the farmers, the laboring classes, the business men of the commonwealth, will find upon the statute books laws that throw around them the mantle of protection, and their author, Wm. A. Wallace.

In the state senate and in the U. S. Senate, Wm. A. Wallace stood in the front, looked upon by his fellow members as a safe leader and a sound constitutional lawyer.

The opposition can bring no man up on the stump who can cope with Wm. A. Wallace, or find a flaw in his record, or match him for ability.

For these reasons he should be, and the CENTRE REPORTER predicts he will be, the next Democratic standard bearer in this state.

Wallace is the man for the hour, and the writer hereof is for Cleveland for President.

One half of the Philadelphia delegation to the Democratic state convention have already wheeled around for Wallace.

Harrisburg went for Delamater and Perry county for Hastings. Our Dan is making it hot, or late, for the Standard Oil Co's man.

Democratic state convention meets at Scranton July 2.

Republican state convention meets at Harrisburg, June 25.

The most important scene in the Reformed synod at Lebanon, Saturday, was the reading of the report by Dr. Appel favoring the union of the two Reformed churches in this country. After remarks it was adopted item by item.

Hastings stock is bracing up a little, but the Andrews-Delamater-Quay machine, got too much start in the outset, before the other fellows knew what was going on. Still, there is no telling, Centre county may yet have the next Republican nominee for governor, and Clearfield the next governor.

Senator Gerard Brown, of York, an active granger, and quite an able man, is lending a helping hand in the organizing of the new Farmers' Alliances, which have grown so rapidly in the last few months, and far outnumber the order of Patrons already, with whom some of the leaders are a great drawback, much to the detriment of the grange, which otherwise is a good organization.

We think that the Democrats of Pennsylvania will consider themselves mightily well served, whether they get William A. Wallace or Robert E. Pattison as their candidate for Governor. Where are there two better men, where two men who command more respect either in the State or nationally? Both are able, both courageous and both comprehend and are devoted to the interests of the people.

The county branches of the Farmers' alliance in Minnesota, without exception, are revolting in strong terms against the McKinley bill. There is hardly a paper of any party in the State but opposes the bill and demands tariff reform. It is believed the course of the five Minnesota congressmen in supporting the bill will make the State Democratic in November. In 1886 the Democrats elected three of the five congressmen, and this year, with a Democratic Farmers' alliance combination on governor, it is believed four districts will be carried on the tariff question.

W. C. T. U. CONVENTION.

Resolution and Plan of Work Adopted for the Ensuing Year.

The following resolutions and plan of work were adopted by the recent Convention at Bellefonte.

WHEREAS, The W. C. T. U., since its last convention, has been severely criticised by the secular press on account of its strong sympathy for political Prohibition, and

WHEREAS, A few of the members of the organization deemed it wise to withdraw therefrom and form what they are pleased to call a Non-Partisan W. C. T. U., therefore

Resolved, That since the National and Pennsylvania State W. C. T. U. are not now, and never have been, either sectarian or partisan bodies, we declare ourselves, as ever, loyal to both organizations. And,

WHEREAS, Centre county gave a majority, in 1885 for the Prohibition Amendment, thus virtually declaring in favor of Prohibition, we deplore(?) the late decision of the presiding judge and associates in granting licenses. We further desire to express our high esteem of Associate Judges McCarthy and Foreman, of Huntingdon county, and Judge Rhoads of our own county, for their unwavering stand in the cause of God, Home and Humanity.

Resolved, That we heartily endorse our State officials in their aggressive warfare against the saloon and for the protection of the home.

Resolved, That realizing the responsibilities which will devolve upon American women in the future as citizens of this Republic we will prepare for an intelligent ballot by informing ourselves upon the franchise.

Resolved, That, as a County organization, we express our thanks to the W. C. T. U. of Bellefonte for its hearty welcome, to the friends who have so kindly entertained us, to the ministers who honored us by their presence and sympathy, and to all who have contributed to our comfort, thus enlarging our opportunities for usefulness as a W. C. T. U.

R. V. PUGH, Chairman of Com.

M. B. CAES, Chairman of Com.

Ungrateful ingratitude! Shameful going back on a friend! It is just like a dream to us, that the boodle concern—the Fiedler-Henderson-Gasette, is abusing his friend and rescuer, Cornelius, for hitting the wrong chap, at Lock Haven, in a mistake for one who had offended him. Ungrateful ingratitude we call it, and why? See,

When Powers' house was on fire, Fiedler were you not so boozey that you would have rolled from the shed roof on which you were, had not this same Cornelius hurried to your rescue, held you down and prevented you from meeting an awful fate? Ungrateful ingratitude for now to abuse your friend Cornelius!

Did not Cornelius prevent your being fired out of the Undine fire company, because many thought you were no credit to the organization, and in which Cornelius made a far bigger mistake than in hitting the wrong fellow at Lock Haven?

Ungrateful ingratitude! to turn upon the friend who saved you from tumbling from a roof and from being tumbled from the Undine fire company! If ever Cornelius committed two grievous errors in his life, these are the two.

The refusal of Judge Acheson, of the United States districts court to interfere on behalf of Silverman, the brewers' agent who has been arrested and will be tried in Armstrong county for violating the state license law, is a severe disappointment to the liquor interests, who expected to take the case out of the jurisdiction of the state court. The judge held that Silverman can make his defense in the Armstrong county court and there is no need that the federal court should interfere at this stage of the proceedings.

Another Railroad Project.

The Pittsburg Post says: The Pittsburg and Western railroad, not content with crippling the Pennsylvania along the Fort Wayne lines, has entered into a deal to even rival the grand old Central. The other railroad in the deal is the Beech Creek line. They propose to make a through line from the lakes to the seaboard.

The Pittsburg and Western road already touches Butler Pa. The Beech Creek line runs from Williamsport to Clearfield. The distance between the terminal of the two roads is less than one hundred miles. The proposed line would pass through one of the richest coal and lumber regions of the state. The route would take in Indiana, Marion, Punxsutawney and Freeport. It would start at Clearfield, run directly west to the great Walston mines at Punxsutawney, and thence south through Marion to Indiana, and catch the new coal field there. From Indiana it will run direct to Freeport and on to Butler.

These two companies have been arranging the deal for some time, and the property owners along the route are offering a big bonus for the lines. Senator Wallace, of the Beech Creek road, is pushing the deal, and Judge Silas M. Clark, of the supreme bench, is also working for it in the interest of Indiana county, where he lives. Andrew Carnegie also figures in it, and it is believed the road will soon be built.

With the Pittsburg and Western and the Beech Creek road connected they will have a through line to Williamsport. There they have made an arrangement with the Lehigh Valley road which takes the line east to Easton. Here they connect with an independent road, and the Pittsburg and Western has a line of its own from Toledo to New York city.

The great resources of Indiana county, which are just being developed, is one of the baits which first started the move. The whole county is underlaid with the best quality of coal, and Indiana county coke has already taken a place in the market beside the product of the Conneville field.

Uses for old Paper.

Most housekeepers know how invaluable newspapers are for packing away the winter clothing, the printing ink acting as a preservative to the stoutest moth, some housewives think, as successfully as camphor or tar paper. For this reason newspapers are invaluable under the carpet laid over the regular carpet paper. The most valuable quality of newspapers in the kitchen, however, is their ability to keep out the air. It is well known that ice, completely enveloped in newspapers so that all air is shut out, will keep a longer time than under other condition; and that a pitcher of ice water laid in a newspaper, with the ends of the paper twisted together to exclude the air, will remain all night in any summer room with scarcely any perceptible melting of the ice. These facts should be utilized often than they are in the care of the sick at night. In freezer only three-quarters full of ice and salt, and finish with newspapers, and the difference in the time of freezing and quality of the cream is not perceptible from the result where the freezer is packed full of ice. After removing the dasher, it is better to cork up the cream and cover it tightly with a packing of newspapers than to use more ice. The newspapers retain the cold already in the ice better than a packing of cracked ice and salt, which must have crevices to admit the air.

Mr. Porter, superintendent of the census, a few evenings ago, intimated very plainly that so far as the chronic diseases questions were concerned it was not the intention of the office to endeavor to bring to punishment those who were reluctant to make answer but as to the "mortgage" question he held language not quite so cheering for those who had determined not to answer this part of the schedule, though the probability is strong that nothing will be done with recalcitrants on this matter.

He expressed himself very earnestly, however, with regard to bringing the law to bear upon those who wilfully refuse to answer, any and all questions put to them by the enumerators. They will be compelled to answer he said or to take the consequences of their refusal. He thought there was a possibility that members of the criminal classes might take advantage of the fight made against the diseases and mortgage questions to refuse any information whatever to the enumerators, and he stated that this would not be tolerated under any circumstances.

Dauphin county is likely to have two delegates for Hastings and two for Delamater.

Lebanon also goes for Hastings.

Forest county is reported for Wallace. In Huntingdon it is supposed there will be one Hastings and one Stone delegate.

THE SUMMER AT ATLANTIC CITY.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Great Facilities.

The prospects for a brilliant summer season at Atlantic City were never so bright as at the present time. The extraordinarily liberal patronage which it has gained during the winter and spring season, largely due to the magnificent transportation facilities maintained by the Pennsylvania Railroad, is still manifesting itself in the well-filled hotels, which bid fair to hold their visitors well through the early summer season. The city by the sea is in better condition to entertain and amuse its friends than ever before. New hotels have been built, and older ones remodeled and enlarged. The great ocean boulevard has been completed, so that Atlantic City now possesses the handsomest and most attractive ocean front of any seaside resort in America. All indications point to the largest summer season in the history of the place.

The Pennsylvania Railroad Company has kept well in line with the spirit of improvement which has pervaded the seashore. Its facilities for promptly and comfortably handling large numbers of people have been increased so as to supply any possible demand; the road-bed of its double line has been improved greatly, and the terminal facilities both at Philadelphia and Atlantic City have been enlarged and improved. The betterment of the tracks will enable the management to materially reduce the time between the Delaware River and the sea, and the summer schedule will present the quickest, best equipped, safest and most satisfactory service of trains for everybody ever enjoyed by the hosts of Atlantic City's summer patrons. The comprehensive system of excursion tickets leading from all points on the Pennsylvania System will be available, as in the past years, at the exceptionally low rates that have heretofore prevailed. It would be well for our readers to remember that a summer trip that does not include Atlantic City lacks the spice that would make it memorable.

Senator Carlisle has embodied some very plain language in a letter written by him to B. F. Howard, of Alabama, in response to the latter's request for his views upon the bill now before Congress providing for a system of warehouses for farm products, to be operated by the government. The Senator, after rehearsing the features of the proposed plan, and saying that the farmers have so long been taxed for the benefit of other classes and that they are now demanding that the very policy they have heretofore denounced as ruinous be applied to them, explains at length the features of the proposed system and shows how it will in the end work injury to the agricultural classes.

In conclusion Senator Carlisle says: "I have thus given you as briefly as the nature of the subject would permit some of the reasons why I think the proposed plan for the relief of the farmers would be injurious instead of beneficial not only to them but to all the other people of the country. But it would be unbecomingly to say distinctly before closing this communication that even if it could be conclusively shown that this or any other similar scheme would be peculiarly beneficial to any particular class of our people I would still be unalterably opposed to its adoption, because in my opinion it would be another wide and dangerous departure from the principles upon which our political institutions are founded."

"It would be in fact, the longest step yet taken in time of space towards the consolidation of power in the hands of the Federal Government and the subjection of the private affairs of the people to the supervision and control of a central and irresponsible authority. You and I are Democrats and as such we believe that the government should scrupulously abstain from all unnecessary concerns of its citizens."

One of the Philadelphia delegates to the Democratic state convention, the other day, while Mr. Wallace was at the Continental hotel, called and said to him:

"Mr. Wallace, I want you to know that nobody controls my vote and that I am for you, first, last and all the time. I think that your nomination will bring the Democratic party together and bring out the vote in full strength next November. The Democrats in my district sir, admire and respect you because you have always been true to the party's principles, and when the opposition had any abuse to heap upon you you were always selected as the one whose shoulders must bear the burden. That was because our opponents feared you more than any body else in the party. Your Democracy has been of the right sort ever since I can remember, and that is why I am going to vote for you for Governor."

Pure Brandy.

We call our readers, attention to the following testimonial from undoubted authority on the excellence and purity of Speer's P. J. Brandy.

New York.

MR. SPEER: I congratulate you on a recent unsought testimonial as to the purity of your brandy. Lady Duffus Hardy, of London, England an old acquaintance of mine, on testing from the bottle of brandy we brought from Passaic the other day, immediately asked me to get a like one for her, which I did this morning. The English aristocrats, you know, male and female, are pretty good judges of brandy. Wishing you every success in your really good work.

I remain yours truly. PRENTICE MULFORD Editor N. Y. Graphic.

A correspondent, writing from the now famous Conemaugh Valley, says: One year ago Johnstown was a struggle city of unsightly structures, whose streets zig-zagged in every direction and in which architectural beauty was everywhere conspicuous by its absence. Today it is a city in which imposing and pretty buildings are the rule, and there is a uniformity in the course and angles of its streets that could not have been brought about except by the destruction of the old town. Johnstown has recovered from its great blow, and is now more prosperous than ever." This is a wonderful showing for one year; but all of the credit must not be given to the recuperative qualities of the distressed communities. The charity of the people which inspired generous response to the appeals for assistance and the magnificent work of the commission under Governor Beaver's direction must share the honor. Indeed, the new Johnstown is a monument to their public spirited and intelligent work and to Judge Cummin's martyrdom.

Still greater ungrateful ingratitude is that of Fiedler, of the foul Gazette, proposing to champion Strohm for commissioner and dropping Decker who assisted Fiedler in getting a pile of printing boodle out of that office. This is as great ungrateful ingratitude as Fiedler shows towards Cornelius who prevented him from tumbling down over a shed roof. Decker was spoiled and killed by tacking on to Fiedler, and now Strohm must beware lest Fiedler's friendship kill him before the nominating convention meets. Nobody now goes for Decker, since Fiedler favors Strohm, except, perhaps, Henderson, who promises to bring him "all Bald Eagle." But he don't own anybody—don't own himself, having bartered his soul to old Nick before he left Osceola.

The republican situation is rather complicated just now and is becoming more doubtful day by day. Delamater has lost ground during the last week, but Senator Quay will control the state convention and he will nominate Delamater if he shall think it safe to do it. As for the democrats, they will have at least one hundred and fifty unstructured delegates in their convention. About one hundred of these are known to be favorable to the nomination of Senator Wallace. The rest are divided between the other candidates. The latest primary elections show that the Searight faction carried Fayette county and that Forest county is likely to go for Wallace. Searight will control the Fayette delegation, and he is claimed by the friends of both Wallace and Pattison.

Scriner's Magazine for June is a Stanley number, containing the only article which he will contribute to any periodical, and the first authoritative word from him on many of the most important features of his great expedition for the relief of Emin Pasha. This article fills thirty-two pages of the issue and is a most graphic and exciting narrative from first to last. It opens with a solemn acknowledgment of Stanley's belief in God's help to him when he was helpless in the forest solitudes of Africa. "I feel utterly unable," he says, "to attribute our salvation to any other cause than to a gracious Providence, who, for some purpose of His own, preserved us."

It is a healthy omen for the farmer that many of the journals are taking sides in favor of the farming interests. No class is as deserving the support of the press as the farming class, and if the newspapers keep hammering away in that direction, legislatures and congresses will have to hear and obey, and that farmers have rights which others must respect.

The Disagreeable Winter

Now that the cold drizzly rains are transformed to delightful spring, and the muddy roads to pleasant drives it would be well to look about and prepare for the lurking disease often coming with the new vegetation, as to better enable us to follow out daily avocations we should be in good health and spirits. No well-regulated family is without a stimulant of some kind. Deception is probably more practiced by unscrupulous dealers in liquors than any other business. Max Klein, 32 Federal street, is a reliable party; to him we point with pleasure. No deception, no misrepresentation, no selling under false colors with him. His Silver Age Brandy is positively pure and solid everywhere for $1.50 per quart only. His six-year-old Pennsylvania Brandy at $1 each quart, or two-quarts for $2, are as represented. His wines, brandies and gins are as good and reasonable as any in the country. Send for complete catalogue and price list to Max Klein, 32 Federal Street, Allegheny, Pa.
