WINGED MISSILES.

The cave-in of the bluff that took place at Yaquina, Oregon, was worth thousands of dollars to the railroad company. A thousand dollars' worth of powder would not have accomplished what the rain did. The rock and dirt fell into the bulkhead just where it was wanted.

The prince of Wales has become a very regular attendant at the sessions of the English parliament. The fact is that the prince is very much worried about the chances of the succession in case of his mother's death, and wants to make as many friends as possible.

In 1864 a Maine man was charged with stealing $30) from an express company. The company failed to make out its case and had to pay him $4,000 damages, but only a week ago, after patiently watching for all these years, they got the drop on him and he will now go to prison.

Walker Fearn, late United States minister at Athens, states that brigandage no longer exists in Greece. He says that he and his danghter and a few friends, unarmed and without an escort, visited on horseback the wildest parts of Greece and met with nothing but cordial hospitality.

Riveting by electricity has been successfully accomplished. The cold rivet is placed in the hole, and when heated to the proper temperature it can be closed by any of the ordinary apparatus now in use. The heating of a half-inch rivet of two or three inches in length takes about half a

The late Henry W. Grady was a great raconteur. He was a master of dialect, and was never afraid of giving a good story plenty of coloring. It was considered a remarkable thing in the office of the Atlanta Constitution if a week went by without a new yarn from Grady. His stories were always witty but never vulgar.

Seattle was founded thirty-eight years ago by some thirty or forty men who went there in the Schooner Exact, which had been chartered by a party of California miners to go to Alaska. These young men were landed at Alki Point, and went to the site of Seattle, which was then an Indian settlement and mainly a dense forest.

The last venture that we read of in the use of human hair is a fan valued at $250. says Harper's Bazar. Deft fingers must have fashioned this unique curiosity, for what appears to be costly lace fringing the sticks is really human hair; baby curls, like unto fairy thistle down, we doubt not, yielding to the gentle wooing of summer's softest breezes.

General Khaireddin Pasha, who recently died at Constantinople, was a remarkable man. He was a Circassian and was purchased as a slave sixty years ago by the Turkish state treasurer. After various adventures he was made grand vizier by Abdul, but his tenure of office was brief. The Turks resented his success, and his downfall was as sudden as his rise.

A Frenchman at Santa Fe. N. M., has brought from Paris the secret of the manufacture of a new and cheap building materaccount. In Paris he found many large structures built of concrete mixture, of which volcanic sand is the chief ingred ient. This sand exists in vast quantities near Santa Fe. The other known ingredients are lime and water, and the secret is in the fourth ingredient and the propor-

Stanley says that during his recent African expedition he came across a new and interesting race of blacks, the Wahoumas, who were absolutely European in type and very intelligent. They appeared to be descendants of the ancient Ethiopians, who settled in some way not known to him in Equatorial Africa. These people never intermingled with the aboriginal races, but kept their blood intact, considering the ordinary negroes beneath them.

Pundita Ramabai, that accomplished Hindoo lady who is so well remembered in New York and Boston, has formed a club of "king's daughters" among her pupils in India, and says that she already sees the effect of it in the steadying and strengthening of character in these irresponsible and undeveloped maidens. She has translated into Maratti the four mottoes of the Wordsworth clubs: "Look up, and not down," "Look forward, and not back," "Look out and not in," and "Lend a hand."

Among the exhibits at the Indianapolis meeting of the Western Canned Goods Association are two cans containing beef soup, part of a lot prepared for the United States navy in 1819. They are owned by William Daggett, of Indianapolis, whose grandfather was at the head of Daggett & Kenslett, of New Haven, Conn., in the early part of the century. The contents are supposed to be in good condition; if not the fermentation and creation of gases within would break the seal. The soup to-day is therefore seventy-one years old.

A Cleveland artist says that a genuino artist is very much like a singed cat. He is better than he looks. In speaking of artists in general he says that the artist of ability does not differ in appearance from the ordinary man. He says that in Munich when the student begins to draw from the antique he lets his hair grow long and carries a paint box around with him. When he enters a more advanced class he cuts his hair reasonably short and leaves the paint box at home. When he gets down to genuine painting he wears his hair in the ordinary style and dresses like the ordinary mortal.

In a recent work on "The Pphysiology of Bodily Exercise" Dr. F. A. Lagrange says that fencing, apparatus gymnastics and riding school lessons may be safely prescribed for the person "whose brain languishes for want of work." But for "a child overworked at school, for a person whose nerve centers are congested owing to a persistent mental effort in preparing for an examination, for such we must prescribe long walks, the easily learned exercise of rowing, and, felling better, the old game of leap frog and prisoner's base, running games, anything in fact rather than difficult exercises and acrobatic gymnastics.

The force of an ice shove is illustrated by an accident related in a Montreal paper, when a house and family were swept away: "The map and woman and their two or three children were in the house, which was an old French style affair. The house had foundations and walls three feet thick in places. It was about 12 o'clock, and the family were at their dinner, when suddenly the ice commenced to move. The upper ice struck the sar of shore ice and sent it like a huge knife up the bank, scraping all before it. Before the family had time to escape the edge of the knife had struck the house. It cut it clean away and left not a soul alive of the entire family. Hardly one stone remained upon the other, so heavy was the crash of the ice upon the house."

There is more Catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven Catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure, manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it falls to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address.
