Death of Andrew H. Dill.

Andrew H. Dill, United States marshal for the Eastern district of Pennsylvania, died at his residence in Philadelphia on Sunday morning, of Bright's disease of the kidneys. He had been unconscious for over sixty hours before his death.

Andrew Hemphill Dill was born at Heretord, Baltimore, Md., January 18, 1836, and was but a little past infancy when his parents removed to this state, in which he has since lived.

Mr. Dill was elected a member of the state house of representatives in 1869. The following year he was elected to the state senate. During this term the state was reapportioned, throwing him into a district with an adverse majority of 500 but in 1872 he was renominated and re-elected.

In 1878 he was nominated by the democratic convention at Pittsburg as its candidate for governor, and resigned his seat to enter the contest. He was defeated by Henry M. Hoyt. In 1880 he was made chairman of the state committee.

In 1865 he became a partner of the firm of Billmyer, Dill & Co., in the manufacture of bill timber and boats and remained a member until 1880, he entered the firm of Dill, Watson & Co., of Somerset county. When United States Marshal Kerns resigned, in 1887, Mr. Dill was appointed for the unexpired term, and the following year was reappointed for the full term.

Wanted for Forgery. B. S. Swartz, who is at present an inmate of the Centre county jail, and whose sentence expires to-day, is wanted in this city on a charge of forgery preferred against him by John Coleman, the Third ward lumber man. The transaction occurred sometime in September last, Schwartz purchased a lot of lumber from Coleman, and in payment gave a promissory note bearing the date of September 18, 1889, and the signature of J. G. King, a lumberman of Centre county of reputed wealth. The amount of the note was for $250. King is well known throughout this lumber district and the note was accepted by Coleman in payment for the lumber. On the presentation of the note it was promptly returned pronounced a forgery. In the meanwhile Schwartz was arrested and sentenced on another charge to the Centre county jail for obtaining goods under false pretenses. His sentence expires to-day and Alderman Miller, of this city, was so notified by Sheriff Isler. The Alderman wired back to hold the prisoner until the arrival of Constable P. J. Kelly, who will bring the prisoner to this city on the midnight train. Schwartz will probably be given a hearing in the morning.—Wmsport Sun, 9.

The Wallace Failure.

The bond of the assignees and executor of William A. Wallace, approved by Judge Furst and ordered to be filed, is for the total sum of $1,655,000. The inventory shows an aggregate of $990,000. From this are to be deducted recorded liens and pledged assets, which are about $655,000, leaving $335,000 free assets. This is probably three fold the amount of unsecured debts. The personal debts of Wallace are about $400,000, including debts secured and unsecured. The appraised value of the real estate to be sold January 30 is $324,200, upon which are liens and claims for about $200,000. His other property in that county is appraised at about $513,000. This includes his interest of about seven eighths in 5,200 acres of coal land conveyed to Clearfield Creek coal company, upon which there are four mines in operation and others opening. The appraised value of his interest in property beyond the Clearfield company is about $150,000. This includes the stock in and claims against valuable mining properties in Pennsylvania, California, Colorado and Idaho, which were appraised at about one-third of the cost actually invested in them by him.

Violation of Game Laws.

The Harrisburg Patriot and other State papers are clamoring for an enforcement of the game laws of the State. This is interesting news for the genuine sportsmen and every one of them is in favor of the suggestion. The trouble is that no one seems to consider it a business to enforce the laws and they are violated every day. The law regulating the killing of deer in Pennsylvania is the one that has for years been most abused. Deer are pursued in and out of season with dogs and so persistently has this style of hunting been indulged in that Pennsylvania has few deer left in her forests. What is most needed in the shape of a game law from the present Legislature is an act making it unlawful to kill deer in this State for at least five years, and after that a law that will make it possible to punish those who hunt the deer out of season or in a manner other than that prescribed by the present law.

The counsel for the defence of Charles Cleary, who was granted a new trial for the murder of Policeman Paul, of Renova, made application to the Clinton county courts for a postponement to February and the same was granted. The reasons for this course are not known. The indications are that Charles Cleary will have his sentence commuted to imprisonment for life.

A New Cure for Rheumatism.

The Ledger, published at Oval, in Nippenose Valley says: "A man living in the west end of the valley sat in a chair in his house the other night, so sore with rheumatism that he could hardly stand. A big bear looked in at the window and him and the sight of the bear's fiery eyes sent such a chill over the man that he got up and skipped for upstairs, and hasn't felt a twinge since."

Bigler of Clearfield, W. T. Reber of Bellefonte, and A. L. Tilden of Erie. The latter is thought by some politicians to be the most probable selection, but it is reported that Reber has accepted the place.

Fletcher Johnson, author of "Johnston Flood," giving a graphic sketch of Sitting Bull, the Medicine Man, and the leading chiefs, and a completely illustrated history of the whole terrific struggle.

The weight during that time will form the basis for the contract price to be paid the railroads by the government for carrying the mails until the next weighing time is ordered, which will be in about four years.
