PATTISON GOES IN.

Inauguration with Fitting Ceremonies at Harrisburg. HARRISBURG, Jan. 20. — The cere-monies attending the induction into office of Governor Robert E. Pattison are proceeding under the most propitious circumstances. The city is in gala attire. The principal buildings are adorned with bunting, tastefully draped, and private dwellings are gay with the national colors. The street are the productions of the street are the productions. national colors. The streets are thronged with people and the sounds of martial music and the tread of marching men are heard on every side. Shortly before noon the governor's party were escorted from the executive mansion to the capitol by the Eighth regiment, the governor's troop, and the Ringgold band, of Reading. The party included Governor Pattison and Governor Beaver, the governor's staff, the judges of the supreme court, the joint inaugural committee, Adjt. Gen. Hastings, Maj. Gen. Snowden, Brig. Gens. Gobin, Wiley and Dechert, together with their staff officers, and Messrs. William F. Harritt William F. Wi liam F. Harrity, William U. Hensel and William McClelland.

Administering the Oath. The party proceeded to a platform erected over the steps of the portico, where Rev. Dr. T. C. Swallow, of the Ridge Avenue Episcopal church, opened the ceremonies with prayer. Then Chief Clerk Smiley, of the senate, read the certificate of election, after which Judge

Clark, the senior Democratic judge of the supreme court, administered the oath of office to Mr. Pattison. The new governor then delivered his inaugural address, the ceremonies closing with the

The party then adjourned to the senate chamber, where the oath of office was administered to Lieutenant Gov-ernor Louis A. Watres and Secretary of Internal Affairs Thomas J. Stewart. At the conclusion of these ceremonies the governor and party took a position on the reviewing stand, facing State street at the foot of Capitol hill.

The Parade. There the new governor reviewed a procession of about 5,000 enthusiastic citizens of the Keystone state, under the generalship of Chief Marshal Asbury Awl. The line, while including a few military organizations, was principally composed of political clubs, most of them neatly uniformed. The following clubs were conspicuous for their Pennsylvania Legislature.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 16 .- The state legislature, as required by law, met in joint convention at noon yesterday in the hall of the house for the purpose of counting the vote cast for state officers last November. Lieutenant Governor Davis, who presided, made the formal announcement of the election of Pattison, Watres and Stewart. Nominations for United States senator were made in both houses. The Republicans nomi-nated Cameron, the Democrats Senator Ross and Chauncey F. Black, and Farmer Taggart, of Montgomery county, was named as an Independent candidate. The speaker said that the committees would not be announced until next week and the house adjourned till Treeday. In the greatest the Desire of the control of the cont Tuesday. In the senate the Democrats prevented the confirmation of appointments made by Governor Beaver.

HARRISBURG, Jan. 17.—Senator Robinson moved that the senate go into executive session for the purpose of taking up the nominations sent in by the gov ernor. Senator Ross. of Bucks, said he hoped the senator from Delaware would not press the motion at this time. He said misapprehension existed as to the attitude of the Democratic minority. They had no intention of antagonizing either the Republicans or Governor Beaver. A precedent was established in 1887, by which no confirmations were made until after the inauguration of the governor. The Democrats simply desired to keep the precedent. The senate agreed to take up Governor Beaver's appointments on Tuesday, Jan. 20, at 8 p. m. Then bills were introduced by Mr. Neeb, making eight hours a day's work in the institutions of the state; by Mr. Hines, providing for the safety of employes.

Burned a Barrel of Ink. SCRANTON, Pa., Jan. 19 .- At 2 o'clock a. m. the editors and printers employed on The Scranton Republican discovered smoke coming in dense volumes up the elevator way. The composing and ed-itorial rooms are on the fifth floor and there was a great scramble for the street. The smoke was caused by the burning of a barrel of ink in the base-ment, which did not damage the build-

Black Nominated for Senator, HARRISBURG, Jan. 20.—The Democrants of the hause and senate in joint caucus nominated Chauncy F. Black for United States senator.

HILL FOR SENATOR.

His Nomination by the Democratic Caucus Yesterday.

DAVID B.'s PRESIDENTIAL CHANCES.

Will Weed Wage War-Hill's Treatment of Him Unfavorably Criticised-Possible Trouble in 1892-The Republicans Give Senator Evarts a Unanimous Renomi-

ALBANY, Jan. 20.—In the Democratic caucus yesterday Governor Hill was nominated for United States senator to succeed Senator Evarts. The nomination was by acclamation. It is under-

DAVID B. HILL.

Senator Jacobs presided at the caucus. There were no complimentary nominations, and only one name, that of Governor Hill, was presented. Senator Sheehan placed the governor in nomi-nation, and Senator Cantor seconded it. Then the roll was called in order to put every member of the legislative majority on record.

The Republican caucus renominated Hon. William M. Evarts for United States senator.

What Will Weed Do? What will Smith M. Weed do? Now that David B. Hill is to take the United States senatorship, speculation runs high as to the attitude which the worsted Plattsburg statesman will as-

There is no question that Weed was held in the balance for months, and never gave up hope that he would get the senatorship until Hill announced that he would take the office himself. The Weed people believe that Hill has been making a scapegoat of Weed to hold the Democratic phalance solid for hold the Democratic phalanx solid for Hill. They see no reason why if Hill intended to go to the senate he could not have announced the fact to Weed two months ago.

Weed Kept on the Fence. He has kept Weed on the tentor hooks | Circulation over 100,000 copduring all that time, holding out crumbs of hope to him at every occasion. Whether true or not, the Weed men claim that Hill was bound by solemn promise to give the office to Weed. It was a generally accepted fact for years that if the Democrats carried the legislature Weed was to have the senatorship. Hill will now have the difficult task on his hands of reconciling his Plattsburg friend to accept the situation philosophically.

Weed controls many of the northern counties, and has hundreds of followers who will obey his behest blindly. Should Weed decide that Hill's actions warrant a full measure of revenge, the fur will fly in the northern counties if Hill receives the grand nomination in 1892. Hill's Presidential Chances. There are other Democratic leaders besides Weed who are disappointed by Hill's decision. It is well-known that Speaker Sheehan was earnestly opposed to the decision of Hill. Sheehan had a firm conviction that Hill would injure his chances of becoming president by going to the senate. This, of course, is a mooted question, there being many prominent Democrats who disagree on the expediency of such a step.

the expediency of such a step.

But Sheehan, who is solicitous for his captain, saw the most potent objections to such a course and advised strongly against it. There are many who fancy that Hill himself was hesitant about the advisability of the step and only came to his conclusion when he had discovered to his satisfaction that the situation imperatively demanded that har-mony could alone be maintained by his acceptance of the office.

Dangerous Possibilities in View. The claim that eighty-one votes are required to elect a United States senator is vigorously contended by the Democratic leaders. The meaning of the State constitution on this point is vague. It is claimed that the correct interpretation of the ambiguous clause in the constitution regarding this question would permit a majority of the members present at the joint session to elect, provided a majority of each house were present.

So there are dangerous possibilities in view for the Democrats, whatever interpretation may be made of the provision in the state constitution for the election of a United States senator.

Missed His Footing.

Columbus, O., Jan. 20.—James Burkhart, a bricklayer, fell from the sixth story of the New Chittenden hotel where he was employed. Having finished his day's work he started to descend by way of a short ladder from the roof to the floor of the sixth story. He missed his footing and dashed through the elevator shaft eighty-five feet to the ground. He was alive and conscious when reached by his companions, but it is thought that his injuries may be fatal. Missed His Footing.

Request for an Increase Refused. Indianapolis, Jan. 20 .- Grand Chief Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomo-Arthur, of the Brotherhood of Locomotive Engineers, sought a conference with General Manager Bradbury.of the Lake Erie and Western, in regard to the request of the engineers for an increase of pay. Mr. Bradbury said he had a contract with the engineers, and after several hours' discussion of the demand, flatly refused to make any advance.

Potters on Strike. FINDLAY, O., Jan. 20.—About 100 men and women employed in Bell Bro's, pottery went out on strike on account of a cut in the schedule of wages. They have requested the Western Potters' brotherbood to keep all other potters away from this city.

THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS has won the THE PHILADELPHIA PRESS has well the foremost place among Pennsylvania newspapers by the liberality, enterprise, and fairness with which it conducts its business, reports great events, and the completeness with which it records, day by day, the life of the city, State and

Its field is world wide, and its staff, its special correspondents, so many and well organized, its source of news so numerous, that it appeals to a wider constituency than any other newspaper ever published in Pennsylvania.

"THE PRESS," said one of the managers of the Western Union Telegraph Company, "now receives more telegraphic news than all the other Philadelphia newspapers combined," This statement is authorative and conclusive, and THE PRESS presents as daily witnesses to its truth, its twelve to twenty-four bright and interesting pages.

But it is not only by its news enterprise—by the zeal, energy, and integrity of its reporters and correspondents that THE PRESS has won and held the confidence of its many thousands of readers, representing every age and every condition of life, every trade and every profession, every faith and every political opinion. It is the excellence and varied interest of THE PRESS as a general family journal, appealing to women as well as to men, which have made for us so many friends at home, and extended its reputation throughout the country. It prints every important event of the world's progress.

The printing of news is always its first business but its columns are also enriched by contributions from the most gifted special writers, the most famous nevelists and some of the most eminent public men of the time. The literary engagements already made for 1891, probably surpass in number and variety, and nearly equal in cost, any contemporary magazine, for the field and resources of such a newspaper as THE PRESS make it not only a daily historian, but a daily forum and a daily tribune.
