PENNSYLVANIA LEGISLATURE How the Wheels of Government

Revolve at Harrisburg. HARRISBURG, Feb. 11.—A number of bills were introduced in the house. The bill directing the appointment of court stenographers was passed by 104 to 56. The house also passed finally the bill to prohibit mining and manufacturing corporations from carrying on company stores, and the bill regulating the issue of policies of insurance and certificates of inspection made by steam boiler insurance companies in Philadelphia.

In the senate the amendment to the liquor law providing that the license money shall be paid into the treasury of the city, borough and township wherever the licensed places are situated, was read for the third time and finally passed. The act authorizing chattel mortgages on petroleum or coal oil and asphaltum blocks was passed.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 12.—In the senate bills were passed finally providing for an additional law judge in the Eleventh judicial district; authorizing the purchase of land for public parks in cities of the second class; authorizing cities of the second class to change and improve public wharves and landings. A communication was read from the governor nominating a number of persons to be notaries public. The rule was suspended and the senate went into executive session and confirmed the appointments.

In the house the Saturday half holiday bill was reported favorably from the committee on judiciary general. The calendar of bills on second reading was taken up, and the bill requiring public school directors to be sworn or affirmed before entering upon their duties was passed, with the provision that violation of the not shall work a forfeiture of the state appropriation stricken out.

HARRISBURG, Feb. 13.-In the state senate, after the transaction of some routine business, Senator Gobin called up the veto message of the governor on the resolutions instructing the United States senators to favor the federal elections bill. The senator said that there was no warrant for such a message, and claimed that the governor's signature could neither add to nor take from the force of the resolution. The governor sent in the message recommending that the general assembly make an bly make an appropriation covering the deficiency in the office of the adjutant general, and also suggesting an appropriation for the current year. The sen-ate adjourned till Wednesday, Feb. 18. The house passed on second reading the amendment to the insurance act. allowing companies to change the par value of their shares of stock, and the bill requiring peddlers and venders in cities of the first and second class to pay

Injured Other PITTSBURG, Feb. 17.- A mammoth rock, weighing at least 200 pounds, fell from Duquesne Heights, and crashed into a passenger coach of the Washingington, Pa., express on the Pan Handle road, instantly killing one passenger and seriously injuring three others. Their names are: Killed-Miss Clara Fleming, aged 19 years: brains crushed out and badly mangled. Injured-J. F. Donahue, aged 20 years, badly hurt about the head and chest; Miss Mamie Baldwin, aged 18 years, cut about the head, breast and arm; unknown young man, badly bruised.

The victims were all students of Duff's college in this city, and were on their way to school when the accident hap-

It crashed into the centre of the coach, completely wrecking it.

Miss Fleming and Mr. Donahue were sitting in the same seat, but the young lady occupied the window side. Before she had time to escape the rock came through the car and crushed her to Donahue made a leap and escaped with serious cuts and bruises. The others were struck by pieces of the rock, which broke as it fell. A scene of wild confusion followed, and several young ladies fainted, but order was soon restored, and after detaching the wrecked car the train was brought into Pittsburg. Miss Fleming's body was sent to her home at Washington, Pa., and the injured were taken to a hospital. No blame is attached to the railroad, as the accident was unavoidable.

THREE MINERS ENTOMBED. Another Mine Horror Reported from

Scottdale. SCOTTDALE, Pa., Feb 17 .- The Moyer mine, about three miles from this place, is on fire. An employe dropped a naked lamp which is thought to have caused an explosion. The mine has never been known to contain gas and while the authorities here are discreetly silent, it is known that the striking cokers through-out the region are charged with having set the mine on fire to secure a general suspension of the Rainey works. The three men who are known to be in the burning mine are: James Waddell, aged 22; John and Robert Ro-hovel, aged 12 and 14 respectively. Those who claim to know say that ten or twelve Huagarians were also in the mine when the fire started, but the officials of the mine say that all the miners have been accounted for except the three mentioned above. The mine is now being flooded. Berland's creek, six feet wide and swollen has been turned into the mouth of the shaft, and with an utter abandon for the unfortunates entombed, the mine will be saved. The great body of water, forming a solid shaft six feet in diameter, has poured into the ponderous tomb, and yet it is not full. There was no effort made to save the men in the mine. The fire cut off all possible hope for the rescue, and as the company has no list other than their pay roll, they are as completely mystified as outsiders.

The Illustrious Warrior Passes Peacefully Away.

ARRANGEMENTS FOR THE FUNERAL

Over 3,000 Messages of Condolence Received - The Funeral Takes Place Thursday-Interment at St. Louis, with M litary Honors-Gen. Sherman's Brilliant Military Career-History of His Last Illness.

NEW YORK, Feb. 14.—Gen. Sherman died at his residence in this city at 1:50 this afternoon.

New York, Feb. 16.—Ever since the death of Gen. W. T. Sherman was announced Saturday afternoon, telegrams of sympathy and condolence have been pouring in from all parts of the country. Some 3,000 were received, including messages from the president, from public officials, soldiers who had fought under the general and other friends.

GEN. SHERMAN.

The military guard from Governor's Island was on duty all night and will remain until the body is removed. Four men were always on duty and relays came on every three hours. One was stationed in the death chamber, while the others stood guard in the hall be-It will be difficult to number the friends who called during the past few days and left cards. Among those who left cards were Mrs. Gen. Grant, C. M. Depew, ex-Secretary Fairchild, Mr. and Mrs. Elkins, Samuel Dalton, adjutant general of Massachusetts; Maj. Gen. George M. Wheeler, United States army; Rear Adml. Stevens, United States navy; Mr. and Mrs. Vail, Maj. and Mrs. Bates. United States army; Lieut. Com. Cleney, United States navy; A. R. Eno, W. D. Guthrie, Col. L. E. Hendrick, Lieut. Brooks, United States army; Carl Schurz, John Scott, Col. Girard, Perry Belmont, D. O. Mills, J. W. Puncho, Charles H. Turner, of St. Louis: Rev. and Mrs. Mackay Smith and William Aspinwall.

Funeral Arrangements. The funeral services over the remains of the general will take place on Thursday from his late residence. Thursday A Boulder Kills One Student and evening the body will be taken to St. It will be in charge of Gen. Schofield, and will be accompanied by a delega-tion from Post Lafayette, Grand Army of the Republic, No. 140, of this city. The interment will take place in Calvary cemetery, at St. Louis, by the side of Mrs. Sherman. There will be a mili-tary display in St. Louis. The funeral rites will not be in conformnce with the rites of any particular religion, in com-pliance with the request of the general. He desired a soldier's burial.

The Last Illness.

Gen. Sherman's disease, or complication of iseases, as it seemed to be, puzzled his famly and friends. His vitality was wonderful. Rally and relapse succeeded each other so rapidly and from such apparant little cause that those about the general were ever. even till the last, at a loss to know what to expect. Hope and apprehension alternated, and on several occasions prior to the final crists the family gathered around the bed, expecting the end.

Dr. C. T. Alexander, of the United states army, who attended the general makes the following statement: "Wednesday night, Feb. 6. Gen. Sherman attended a performance at the Casino. On returning nome he complained of a sore throat, but neither he nor his family paid any attention to it. The sore throat was present Thursday, but it did not prevent the general from attending the mar-riage of Mr. Elilott F. Shepard's daughter at noon on that day. Friday the sore throat had progressed to a point where Gen. Sherman concluded that he was sick, and I was sent for as an old friend of the general and his family. When I first saw him he was sufferng from slight tonsilitis-an ordinary case of sore throat—and I prescribed the usual remedies. Saturday the tonsilitis was improved.

"Sunday morning there was an outbreak of erysipelas on Geo. Sherman's nose. The eryerysipelas on Non. Sherman's hose. The cry-sipelas spread during Sunday and Sunday night, and Monday it had developed to the extent of involving in the swelling the greater part of the forehead and the upper part of the forehead and the upper part of the face. From the very beginning the effect of the erysipelas was most marked and decided on the brain. There were slelir-ous and unconscious spells from the start, and they marked each progress of the dis-ease at intervals. Tuesday the symptoms be-

"From that point the complications in Gen. Sherman's condition were fully chronicled in the daily newspapers. The erysipelas was gotten under control, but other symptoms leveloped. Gen. Sherman's death was not iue either to erysipelas or to pneumonia, but to inability to cough up the mucus which filled his lungs. The lungs were the weak point. There was a slight improvement on Friday which aroused scarcely justified hopes, which were abandoned for the last ime Saturday morning. The end came just before 2 o'clock Saturday afternoon and the general passed away peacefully and pain-lessly, in presence of his family and one or two close friends.

Gen. Sherman's History.

William Tecumseh Sherman was born at Lancaster, O., on Feb. 8, 1820. He was the sixth of eleven children. On the death of his father, who was a judge of the supreme court of Obio, he was adopted by Thomas Ewing, who afterward became United States

He had while in the army studied law and. thinking this profession more to his taste, he practiced it for the next two years. He became superintendent of the Louisiana State Seminary of Learning and Military Academy in 1859, but resigned in 1861, at the beginning of the civil war.

Gen. Sherman was at once commissioned colonel of a regiment of infantry and , commanded a volunteer brigade at the battle of Bull Run, July 2), 1851. He was soon ap-pointed brigadier general of volunteers and assigned to the command of the department of the Cumberland, but from some cause he was removed, and was for some months in command of a camp of instruction near St

He took part in the Tennessee and Mississippi campaign, commanding a division at Shiloh, April 6 and 7, 1862, and in the subse-quent slege of Corinth. On May 1, 1862, he was appointed major general of volunteers, and was frequently engaged during the summer and autumn of 1862. He took an active part in the Vicksburg campaign, and was made brigadier general in the regular army. Gen. Sherman succeeded Gen. Grant as commander of the Army of the Tennessee of Oct. 25, 1863. He took part in the operation around Chattanooga and the assault and capture of Missionary ridge. He also organized an army of 100,000 men for the spring campaign of 1864. On March 12, 1864, he succeeded Gen. Grant as commander of the mili-tary division of the Mississippi, embracing the departments and armies of the surround

On May 2, 1864, he entered on the invasion of Georgia, making Atlanta his first point, and between that date and Sept. I fought many pitched battles. He received the capitulation of Atlanta, Sept. 2, 1834, and occupied it as a military post until Nov. 45, 1864. Having sent about two-fifths of his force, under Gen. Thomas, to repel Gen. Hood's movement into Tennessee and destroy much of Atlanta, he marched southward to the see, with a force of 60,000 men, in less than a month passing over about 300 miles with his army, without any important action till he reached Ft. McAllister, below Savannah, which he captured after a brief action Dec. 13, Savannah surrendering Dec. 21, 1834. He commenced Jan. 15, 1805, his invasion of the Carolina's, being about six weeks in passing torough South Carolina. He fought two battles in North Carolina, March 15 and 2)-1 1865; occupied Goldens o Mayen 22, and, hav-ing given his army a few weeks' rest, cap-tured Raleigh, April 65, and negotiated with Gen. J. E. Johnston terms of surrender of all Confederate forces in the field. These terms were pron unced inaumissable by the federal overnment, and Gea. Suerman, under Gor

On April 8, 1882, Gen. Sherman retired to private life and moved to St. Louis. In the early part of 1886 he transferred his residence to New York city. Six children survive the general. His wife died on Nov. 28, 1888.

Jack the Ripper Again.

LONDON, Feb. 14 .- A renewal of the 'Jack the Ripper" scare terrorizes that quarter of that city where the performances of the mysterious murderer have heretofore been the cause of much alarm. The body of a young woman was discovered in a secluded locality in Chambers street. She had been horribly gashed with a sharp instrument. The woman's head had been severed almost entirely from the body, and it was a ghastly spectacle that met those who viewed the remains.

The woman was identified as an unfortunate known as "Carroty Nell." The poor creature had evidently been ecoyed to the place of her death in the same way that the other victims of "Jack the Ripper" had been. That Jack the Ripper" is the mur derer is in no way doubted.

CONGRESSIONAL RESUME. The Week's Work of the Fifty-first Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 12 .- After routine busiess the house went into committee of the whole on the legislative appropriation bill. No action was taken on the bill. The senate passed the naval appropriation bill. The District of Columbia bill was reported and placed on the calendar. The copyright bill was taken up, but laid aside informally. A number of bills were taken from the calendar

WASHINGTON, Feb. 13 .- In the senate the copyright bill was taken up, the pending question being on an amendment by Mr. Sherman; but owing to Mr. Sherman's absence the bill was laid aside, and the District of Columbia appropriation bill was con-sidered and passed. A number of bills on the calendar were passed.

After routine business the house went into the committee of the whole on the legisla-tive bill. Mr. Grosvener had read an account of the meeting at Cooper union, together with Ex-President Cleveland's letter to E. Ellery Anderson, to which he gave his hearty indorsement. Comment on the Cleveland letter was made by Mr. Hooker, of Miss. ssippi, and without disposing of the bill the house adjourned.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.-The house pas the legislative appropriation bill, and upon receipt of the president's message announcing the death of Admiral Porter adjourned Mr. Sherman's amendment to the copyright bill providing that foreign editions of etc., which are copyrighted in the United States may be admitted to this country on the payment of the regular tariff duties. The bill was then inid aside. Washington, Feb. 16.—The senate agreed to the conference report on the army appropriation bill. The copyright bill was taken up and a number of amendments rejected. The president's message announcing the death of Gen. Sherman was received, and Messrs. Hawley, Morgan, Manderson, Davis, Pierce and Evarts delivered eulogies on the Admiral Porter Reaches the Haven of Rest.

HOW HE SERVED HIS COUNTRY.

Over Sixty Years in the United States Navy-Five Generations of Naval Heroes-Selected His Own Burial Place-Gen. Sherman's Last

WASHINGTON, Feb. 14.-The flags on the executive departments, which have so often been half masted during the past month in token of national bereavement, are again fluttering at half mast, this time in memory of Admiral David D. Porter, who died yesterday at his residence in this city. They will re-main thus until after the funeral, which will take place Tuesday.

Admiral Porter had been suffering from fatty degen eration of the heart for a long time, and had had spells of severe illness from time to time. Within the last week or so, however, he has been in a fair condition, and the end was not expected. He died in his chair, and the end

Admiral Porter's Career.

David Dixon Porter was born in Chester, Pa., June 8, 1813, Almost as long as there has been an American navy, the name of Porter has been honorably connected with it. Five generations of the family have gone down to the sea in ships, and al! have acquitted themselves with bravery.
David D. had his first experience in the Mexican service in 1827, being then 14 years of age. In 1829 be was appointed midshipman in the United States navy, and attained his lieutenancy in 1841. He served during the entire Mexican war, had charge of the naval rendezvous at New Orleans, and was engaged in every action on the coast.

Afterward he commanded for some years steamships in the Pacific Mail service be-tween New York and the Isthmus of Panama. At the beginning of the civil war he was appointed to the command of the frigate Powhatan, on service in the gulf. In Farragut's attack on New Orleans, Porter, now promoted to commander, commanded the mortar fleet. Farragut, having destroyed the enemy's fleet of fifteen vessels, left the reduction of Ft. Jackson and Ft. St. Philip to Porter while he proceeded to the city. The forts surrendered in April. 1862. Porter then assisted Farragut in all the latter's operations between New Or-leans and Vicksburg, where he effectively bombarded the forts and enabled the fleet to pass in safety. For his services at Vicksburg. Porter received the thanks of congress and the com-mission of rear admiral, dated July 4, 1863, the date of the fall of that town. He ran past the batteries of Vicksburg and captured the Confederate forts at Grand Gulf, which put him into comu nication with Gen. Grant. In the spring of 1864 Porter co-operated with Banks in the Red river fiasco, and later in the same year was transferred to the North Atlantic squadron, and reduced Ft. Fisher, the gallant Gen. Terry commanding the land forces. Rear Admiral Porter received a vote of thanks from congress, which was the fourth that he received during the war. Rear Admiral Porter was promoted to be vice admiral on July 25, 1866, served awhile as superintendent of the Naval Academy, and was then transferred to Washington. Aug. 15, 1870, he was appointed admiral of the navy, the highest grade in the service.

Admiral Porter's Funeral. WASHINGTON, Feb. 16.—The funeral of Admiral Porter will take place to-morrow at his late residence, 1712 H street. The body will be interred in Arlington cemetery. The cortege will be formed as follows: About 100 marines from the barracks here and in Annapolis, 500 cavalrymen and artillerymen from Washington barracks and Ft. Myer, 1,000 members of the local Grand Army posts. 1,000 infantry men from the District National Guard, who have volunteered their services and a naval Grand Army of the Republic post from Philadelphia, of which Admiral Porter was a member. This will make up a line of nearly 3,000. All officers of the navy in this city will attend the funeral in full uniform. National Republican Clubs.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 17 .- Arrangements are being perfected to make the national convention of Republican clubs, to be held in this city on April 21 and 22 next, a grand success. President Hermann of the local committee, is in receipt of letters almost daily from the presidents of clubs from all over the country, assuring him that they will attend the convention and assist in making the event the most successful of the kind ever held in this country. It is estimated that fully 50,000 visitors will attend from outside cities.

Threatened with Hydrophobia. WILMINGTON, Del., Feb. 17 .- Yesterday when John Sterret Smith, a wellknown farmer living near Elkton, Md. was handling a small beagle dog the animal bit him severely on the hand. The farmers' son, Walker, aged 16, was also severely bitten on the hands. The wounds of father and son are ragged. The animal was at once tied up, and he showed every indication of suffering from hydrophobia. Smith and his son have made preparations to leave for New York today to go under treat- $20.00 up, at ment at the Pasteur institute.

But little rain has fallen there since January 1, and the total amount for the winter season has been very much less than the All Quiet at Kearney.

NEWARK, Feb. 17.—There is perfect quiet in Kearney, not even loiterers being found round the mills of the Clark Thread company. The works are in full blast, and but for the boarded windows there is no evidence of the scenes that were transacted on Passaic avenue last week. The new mem were brought over from No. 1 mill under a heavy guard and placed in their former quarters. No trouble is anticipted. Both sides declare they will never yield.
