On Monday morning last as the early ed in stopping the train with only the baggage car off the track.

An examination being made of the frog after the accident disclosed the fact that some fiend in human shape had placed a large stone therein with the evident intention of wrecking the train. It was impossible for the stone to roll into the position it was found as the track at that place is upon the level, and the stone was placed there with designing intent. The railroad company will investigate and endeavor to ferret out the perpetrators.
