On Sunday the Evangelical churches. throughout the state presented in many cases the scene of two ministers trying to occupy the same pulpit. At Slatington Rev. Mr. Newhard, the Bowman appointee, was seized by the chief of police and ordered to sit down or get out. At Reading, in the Sixth Street church, the Bowman followers left the church with the minister and held services in the Hebrew synagogue. At Catasauqua Rev. A. A. Leopold was refused by the trustees the privilege of entering the pulpit, and left the church, followed by his supporters. At the East Liberty church. Allentown, the congregation found that the keyhole had been plugged, and they could not get into the building. Entrance was finally effected through a window. At Bethlehem and Easton the congregations were so pronounced for either Bowman or the anti-Bowmanite conference that no dispute occurred.

Lancaster Licenses.

LANCASTER, Pa., March 10 .- The license court met yesterday and granted 197 tayern licenses in the county. The granting of tavern licenses in the city was postponed for a week in order to give the hotel keepers the benefit of the new town bill reducing the fee to $300. should it pass. There were also thirtythree bottlers', brewers', distillers', and liquor store licenses granted. The new stands and old stands against which there are remonstrances were then CAMDEN, N. J., March 5.-The scenes that marked the opening of the Le-coney trial were repeated at the trial of Francis Burton, or Lingo, the colored farm hand who is charged with the murder of Mrs. Annie Miller.

Judge Garrison presided, with his associates, Judges Hugg, Gaunt and Me-Dowell. Prosecutor Jenkins at once moved the indictment of Francis Burton, alias Lingo, for murder. At this the prisoner was brought in. He was stured in a dera striped sait, a snuff color, al spring overcoat, and wore a bag connect placin tep, and without bering at the and ence took a sent he very his con is 1. Same berch with Charley for oney.

John Miller on an armit of the mardered woman, was placed on the stand. He arose at dayore it on Sept. 25, the morning of the murder. He mached up his team and came to Camden for a load of coke that day. He got back home between 4 and 4:30 o'clock. His wife was not home. He never saw her again alive until the next Sunday, when her body was shown him in his house.

How the Body Was Found. CAMDEN, N. J., March 6. - There was an unusually large attendance of ladies at the Lingo trial yesterday. Chalkley Leconey was one of the first comers. Annie Carlin, an 11-year-old girl, was called. She knew Mrs. Miller very well, and saw her the day of the murder. She saw her near the school house, and asked her how the bady was. She saw Lingo at the same time. He was across the street, talking with a colored man. Beulah Kranz, another 11-year-old girl, was the next witness. Beulah estified that she saw Mrs. Miller when the first school bell rang at a quarter of She also saw Lingo tast afternoon, about an hour after she saw Mrs. Miller, or at a quarter of 3. This point was regarded as favorable to the defense. She was with Annie Carlin when she saw Mrs Miller. James Wilton Brown, colored, testi-fied that he and Major Holmes found the body of Mrs. Miller in Mitchison's woods. They found the body a short distance from a road which runs through the woods. It was raining at the time. Dr. William H. Izard, the county physician, was called. On the afternoon of Sept. 25 he went to Merchantville with Detective Warner. They aw

Dr. Iszard was of the opinion that the woman was killed where found. He testified that Mrs. Miller's throat was cut while she was still alive, and that the blood spurted with a great deal of vigor from the wound. He said he collected the evidence to show that she had been assaulted.

Lingo in the Woods. Camben, N. J., March 7.—The cross examination of County Physician Iszard was continued in the Lingo trial yesterday. He described the condition of the murlered woman's underclothing and explained the injury on Mrs. Miller's left hand. The wound was be-tween the knuckles of the little and third fingers, and was ragged as though it had been chewed. It extended in to The doctor thought the wound was caused by human teeth. Coroner J. G. Stanton was the next witness. He told or the removal of the homestead. He secured some specimens of certain secretions and turned them over to County Paysician Iszard for microscopical examination. Samuel Wiley, of Caulen, a collector for the Provident society, said that on Sept. 25 h had walked out to Matchtown, arriving there about 2:15. He

Lingo's Shirt Fleeve. CAMDEN. N. J., March 9.—The state forged another link in the chien of circumstantial evidence against Francis Lingo Saturiay. It was a torn blue shirt bearing traces of blood, and which, it is claimed by the prosecution, corre sponds with the shirt worn by Lingo on the morning of the marker. The testi-mony of George Wisson, John Miller's colored hired man, brought out the fact that Lingo were a our sairt that mornmg. Constable David Carlin testified that he found it near the wire fence, near the path leading to the Hampton

Lingo Needs an Alibi. CAMDEN, N. J., March 10. - From present indications the Lingo trial will continue at least ten days longer. The state yester-lay produced more testi-mony to show that Lingo was absent from his work on the day of the murder for about four hours. It was Thomas Young who said this. He employed Lingo to cut corn for him that day. Lingo quit work at noon for dinner and returned about half past 3 or 4 o'clock. and worked until sandown. The cross examination was not without its suggestive value to Lingo. Young said when he hired Lingo the previous day he was given to understand by the lat-ter he would not work full time, because it was important he should see an agent concerning some property he desired to purchase. Two young women who walked to Merchantville about the time the murder is supposed to have been committed aware they saw a color I man in the bush lot: could not identify him, but describe I him as dressed in a long black coat, clothes of blue color and wearing black hat. When asked if she thought she saw the man in the court room Miss Annie Lafferty said she saw a man just she saw that day.
