KENDALL'S SPAVIN GURE.

BELVERNON, Pa., Nov. 27, '90. DR. B. J. KENDALL Co.: DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:

Gents-I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly,

WM. A. CURL

Gents: In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April, showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours.

Miller Murder Story. The Lehigh Valley Railroad company announces a quarterly dividend of 124 per cent. payable April 15. THE EVIDENCE FOR THE STATE

A Strong Chain of Circumstantial Evidence Against the Negro. Blood on His Clothing and Razor. A Conflict of Expert Evidence.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 11 .- Dr. Formad yesterday gave some damaging expert testimony against Lingo. Dr. Formad is demonstrator of microscopy at the University of Pennsylvania and has made 13.000 post northin examina-tions. He examines the clothing of the prisoner and found blood on the coat, pantaloons, overalls, shirt, undershirt and suspen lers, but did not discover blood on the sleeve of the blue shirt picked up in the field, the stalk knife, butcher knife, pen knife or rubber boots, He found that Mrs. Miller had been criminally assaulted.

"Now, how about the razor, doctor?" Taking the razor in his hand the witness "I found no blood on the blade, but between the him iles were evidences Removing them with caustic potash I found distinct clots of blood.

For the Defense.

CAMDEN, N. J., Murch 12 .- The prosecutor yesterday sprang a sensation in court by alie ing that the lawyers for the defense had been trying to intimidate Dr. Formad. The court guaranteed protection to the witness. Early in the Afternoon Session the commonwealth rested its case, and Lawyer George Taylor made a brilliant opening speech for the defense. It was short and plausible, and the outline of the evidence he promised to produce was such as to intimate that he would prove an alibi for Lingo.

Mrs. Mary A. Tourshon, colored, said she saw and talked with Lingo at the Pensaukin station on the afternoon of He wore gum boots, an oll pair of blue overalls and a blue shirt. She was positive that one sleeve of the shirt was torn off, for she spoke to her husband about it at the time.

Rev. Dayid R. Kershon, husband of the previous witness, followed, and corroborated her testimony.

Alonzo Davis, colored, played dice with Lingo in Merchantville until after 2 p. m. on Sept. 25. Charlie Bell corroborated this testimony.

Lingo's Wife on the Stand.

Campen, N. J., March 13.—A further attempt to establish an alibi for Francis Lingo was made by his counsel yesterday. The witnesses examined are all colored persons, and some comment was made upon this fact. It appears as though the people of the prisoner's race were determined to save him if possi-ble. His wife was one of the witnesses. She told a straight sounding story of her husband's return to his home that Thursday afternoon of the murder. She Nettie Miller, colored, was standing on the schoolhouse steps on Thursday morning and saw Lingo go to the pump and wash blood from his hands. This testimony went to prove the claim of the defense that the cut on Lingo's hand was caused by his stalk knife, and that he cut his hand in the morning. A number of other colored witnesses testified to seeing Lingo in Matchtown on the afternoon of the murder. Lingo on the Stand.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 14 .- By a great many more witnesses called yesterday the defense in the trial of Francis Lingo endeavored to prove that Mrs. Miller had not been murdered where her body was found. A schoolboy swore that he saw Lingo at the pump the morning of the mur-der washing blood from his hands.

During the after soon Lingo was called to the stand. He was questioned as to his movements on the day of the murder, and was also called upon to give testimony concerning his early life. He was calm and undisturbed. He con-fessed to having been in prison several Lingo said his overalls were torn at the knee the day of the murder, and one of the sleeves of his blue shirt was loose. This he tore off and threw away. This was on the edge of the bush lot.

Lingo Bites His Counsel.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 16.—Frank Lingo continued his testimony in his own defense and underwent a rigid cross examination. The prisoner was cool and calm and no damaging admissions were elicited. He said he was not in the bush lot on the day of the murder. He did not meet the Du Hadways there, nor the insurance agent, Wilder. He did not limp, and gave the jury a sample of his walk. To give a conclusive illustration of his claim that Lingo's teeth could not have inflicted the lacerated wounds on Mrs. Miller's hand, Judge Wescott told the prisoner to bite his hand, locating to him the spot where Mrs. Miller's hand was wounded. Lingo caught the hand of his counsel between the teeth and bit on the flesh rather gingerly. "Bite harder," cried the ex-judge; "harder, harder yet." Then, with a sudden wince of pain, he exclaimed, "That's enough." Judge Wescott's hand was deeply marked by the nogro's teeth as he showed it to the jury. Lingo also bit into a cake of soap, which was given to the jury as a part of the evidence.

Cross Examination Finished. CAMDEN. N. J., March 17.—The cross examination of Lingo was continued by the state. The questions put to him were searching, but he made his answers in a cool, deliberate way, and did not at any time appear to be confused. In answer to a question as to why he had cut off his moustache, he said it was done by the advice of his lawyers, who told him to shave his face clean. Prosecutor Jenkins ordered him to give a practical demonstration of the manner in which he cut corn, so as to show to the jury how he inflicted the wound upon his hand. The prisoner retired after being on the stand for seven hours. The defense then put witnesses on the stand to impeach the testimony of Wilder, the insurance agent, and introduced further expert medical testimony.

Smuggled $10,000 Worth of Dresses. New York, March 17 .- Miss Jennie Shea, the dress:maker whose two trunks containing $10,000 worth of dresses, etc., were seized by customs officers, was arrested on a charge of smuggling and gave $2,000 bail for her appearance on Friday, when the examination will take
