KENDALL'S SPAVIN CURE.

BELVERNON, Pa., Nov. 27, '90.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.:

Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly, WM. A. CURL.

GERMANTOWN, N. Y., Nov. 2, 1889.

DR. B. J. KENDALL CO.,
Enosburgh Falls, Vt.

Gents: In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, hock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lameness Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was no cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great improvements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle, and before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April, showing no more signs of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every stable in the land. Respectfully yours,

EUGENE DEWITT.

LINGO IS CONVICTED.

Last Scenes in Camden's Great Murder Trial.

HIS NERVE NEVER FORSOOK HIM.

The Prisoner Bears Up Bravely Under the Ordeal—Motion Made for a New Trial—The Judge's Charge to the Jury—He Urges Them to Place Reason Above Passion.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 18.—Yesterday the defense called the last witnesses for the accused in the Lingo murder trial, and some important testimony was heard in relation to the blood stained bushes in the neighborhood of the murder and their mysterious disappearance. The state then entered upon its testimony in rebuttal.

The testimony was all in at 12 o'clock and the jury retired. The court refused permission for the prosecutor to bring in further evidence as to whether blood was found around the body and as to Mrs. Miller's clothes, and both sides closed.

Arguments for and Against Lingo.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 19.—The opening argument for the state in the trial of Francis Lingo for the murder of Mrs. Miller was finished yesterday morning, and Lawyer Taylor began the first speech for the defense. Mr. Wescott to close for the state will then have another address. Judge Garrison will sum up, and it is likely that Lingo's fate will be decided today. Something of a mild sensation was aroused by the prosecutor's allegation that the torn sleeve which was produced in evidence had been torn again.

Tuesday it was in the hands of the defendant's counsel. Mr. Jenkins asserted that the button had been cut off. This has an importance not seen perhaps at first glance. Lingo alleged that the sleeve bothered him and that he tore it off and threw it away. The state attempts to show that the sleeve, even if torn, could not have been an inconvenience if buttoned, and advances the theory that a poor man accustomed to patched clothing would not destroy the sleeve intentionally.

Mr. Wescott Cuts His Hand.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 20.—Judge Wescott continued his argument in Lingo's behalf yesterday. In the course of his speech he handled the razor with which the crime is alleged to have been committed with such recklessness as to call forth a warning from Judge Garrison. After declaring that if the wounds had been made with the razor it would have been dulled, he thereupon, to prove that it was sharp, drew it across the back of his own hand, making a deep cut. After cutting himself he asked Lingo to bind the wound. Chalkley Leconey was again an interested listener.

The Last Day.

CAMDEN, N. J., March 21.—At precisely 8:33 o'clock last night the twelve men who held the life of Francis Lingo in their hands filed into the court room with solemn faces and took their seats in the jury box. Judge Garrison was in his seat as soon as notified that the jury were ready. The prisoner showed little of the supreme misery of uncertainty that he must have felt.

"Gentlemen, have you agreed upon a verdict?" asked the clerk.

"We have," responded the foreman.

"What say you as to the guilt of this defendant?"

Murder in the First Degree.

"Guilty of murder in the first degree."

The strained silence of the room was broken by a buzz of confused sounds and an attempt at hand clapping that was quickly resented by the court officers, and three or four spectators were immediately ejected by the court officers.

The prisoner's head dropped forward during the polling of the jury.

The light of triumph made the face of Richard S. Jenkins twenty years younger. Wilson S. Jenkins and he looked toward each other in mutual congratulation. It was an earned victory, and they enjoyed it.

Lingo's nerve did not forsake him in this extreme moment. Seemingly he was the coolest man in the court house when the verdict was announced.

A motion for a new taial was at once made.

The Closing Argument.

The closing argument for the state was finished by ex-Prosecutor Richard S. Jenkins at 10:41 yesterday, much sooner than had been expected. The conclusion of his speech was somewhat abrupt, and it appeared as though he was physically unable to continue further. It was an evident relief, however, to the jurymen, especially as Judge Garrison postponed charging them until 1 o'clock, giving them an opportunity to have dinner first.

The Judge's Charge.

When the court reassembled Judge Garrison read his charge in a clear, concise voice. He first recited the story of Mrs. Miller's disappearance, the finding of the body and the arrest of Lingo. He said: "This testimony which you have listened to for over a week you must consider and decide whether it satisfies you beyond a reasonable doubt of the defendant's guilt. When I say a reasonable doubt, I do not mean a mere probable doubt. The law means such a doubt as precludes in your mind a belief in or a moral certainty of the guilt of the prisoner."

After setting for the state's theory of the assault, outrage and murder in the woods and the evidence of Lingo's presence in the woods, the blood on his clothes and on the razor, Judge Garrison said that if the jury believed that from the evidence, the state's theory was established it was their duty to convict, but if they had a reasonable doubt of the truth of this evidence it was their duty not to convict.

Place Reason Above Passion.

The judge then went into a lengthy review of the evidence, explaining the law in each case in a simple and positive manner. He concluded as follows:

"In this case, gentlemen, be guided by your judgment, not your passions; by your reason, not your prejudice. Heed only the evidence in this case and the law as laid down to you, and your duty is plain."

Judge Garrison concluded his charge at 1:50.

Court then adjourned until 8 o'clock p. m., but it was half an hour later when the jury returned with the verdict which consigns Francis Lingo to the gallows.

LAWRENCE BARRETT'S DEATH.

The Eminent Tragedian a Victim of Pneumonia.

NEW YORK, March 21.—Lawrence Barrett, the actor, died at 10:45 last night at the Windsor hotel.

The death of the distinguished actor was a total surprise both to his physicians and friends, as he was believed to be improving until late yesterday afternoon. Early in the evening, however, his condition became alarming, and his physicians were hurriedly summoned. They remained with him to the end, using every means to rouse his rapidly failing energies, but their efforts were in vain, and the great tragedian breathed his last in the presence of his wife and a few friends, who had been hastily called in to witness the last sad scene.

Mr. Barrett's illness dates from Wednesday night when he was compelled to leave the theatre where he was engaged. It was said at the time that he was merely suffering from a severe cold and would be out in a few days. Even yesterday the reports of his condition were very favorable. Heart failure, superinduced by pneumonia, was the direct cause of death. Dr. Chambers says pneumonia set in on Thursday morning.

LAWRENCE BARRETT.

Mrs. Barrett, who was in Boston, was sent for Thursday evening Dr. J. P. Oliver, of Boston, Mr. Barrett's family physician, was also summoned and came on at once. A consultation was held and it was decided that Mr. Barrett's case was serious, but that if no other complications appeared, the sick man might pull through. Between 5 and 6 o'clock last evening there was a rapid change for the worse, and at the latter hour Mr. Barrett was in a semi-conscious condition.

About fifteen minutes before the end came Mr. Barrett was entirely unconscious, and so he remained until he died. The funeral will probably take place in Boston. Edwin Booth was deeply moved when he received notice of Mr. Barrett's death.

NEW JERSEY METHODISTS.

The Conference Condemns the New Liquor License Law.

TRENTON, March 24.—There was a lively discussion in the New Jersey Methodist conference yesterday over the liquor legislation enacted by the legislature which adjourned last Friday.

The governor and other officials were denounced for taking the power of the granting license from the courts in temperance localities and giving it to a county commission appointed by the governor. This will give a license to Asbury Park and all the temperance towns in the state.

A committee was appointed to visit all the churches in the conference for the purpose of having committees created to co-operate with a general committee for a unification of the ballot. They now favor the indorsement of all bona fide temperance candidates in either party, and will support them if pledged. The discussion is continued today.

Felton Succeeds Hearst.

SACRAMENTO, Cal., March 20.—Ex-Congressman Felton has been elected to succeed Hearst in the United States senate. The vote stood: Felton, 73; Estee, 15; White (Dem.), 28; Heacock and Johnston, 1 each. Senator-elect Felton was born in New York fifty-eight years ago, and came to California when he was 17 years of age. He engaged in mining and mercantile pursuits, and entered politics as a Democrat. He afterwards became a Republican, and was elected to the assembly for four years. He declined renomination six years ago and was sent to congress from the Fifth district. He has also held the position of United States sub-treasurer of San Francisco.

The Company Yielded.

CHICAGO, March 24.—The switchmen employed on the Chicago and Northwestern railroad in this city went out on strike at 6 p. m. last evening, but returned to work a few hours later, the company conceding their demands. The trouble was caused by the discharge of Switchman Crowe last Saturday by Yardmaster McInery. A committee from the switchmen's union waited on the officials of the road and claimed that Crowe had been discharged without cause, and demanded that he be taken back and McInery discharged.

Hatfield Tired of Warfare.

WHEELING, W. Va., March 23.—Capt. Hatfield, hitherto one of the most bloodthirsty of those engaged in the McCoy-Hatfield feud, in Logan county, is out in a card, in which he says: "A general amnesty has been declared in the famous feud, and there will be no more bloodshed. The war spirit in me has abated, and I sincerely rejoice in the prospect of peace. We have undergone a fearful loss of noble lives, and much valuable property has been destroyed in the struggle. I now propose to rest."

Chinese Law in America.

OTTAWA, March 24.—A detective, recently from British Columbia, states that during his stay in Victoria he saw enough to convince him that the Chinese in that province were administering punishment according to their own civil and criminal code. He says he got on to the track of two cases in which criminals had been tried under their code and secretly beheaded. He thinks many Chinamen are thus dealt with on the Pacific coast.

A Female Coiner Arrested.

PITTSBURG, March 24.—United States detectives arrested Mrs. Grant at Jamestown. She is a member of the Warren county gang of counterfeiters led by Farmer Chauncey Marble. Pittsburg detectives expect hard work in convicting Marble, whose trial will occur in July. He is worth $100,000. He has retained the most eminent legal talent to defend him.

Charged with Killing Her Sister.

MEDIA, Pa., March 24.—The trial of Henry F. Schmidt and Caroline, his wife, charged with the murder of Emma Pfitzenmeyer, Mrs. Schmidt's maiden sister, in Chester, on the night of Dec. 4 last, began in the court house here yesterday. The woman will be tried first.
