TROOPS OVERAWED.

Striking Miners in Tennessee Compel the Soldiers to Withdraw,

TAKING THE CONVICTS WITH THEM

After a Parley with the Leaders of the Mob Colonel Sevier Yields to Their Terms-Governor Buchanan Calls Out the Entire Military Force of the State.

KNOXVILLE, Tenn., July 21. - The crisis in the trouble between the ousted miners in this district and the convicts who were brought here from the state prison at Nashville has at last been reached. When about 400 armed strikers attacked the guards who had charge of fifty felons at Briceville last Wednesday night and liberated their charges, it was confidently predicted that this would be but the beginning of a general movement throughout the en-tire mining district of the state. Gov-ernor Buchanan was immediately notified and responded by sending two com-panies from Chattanooga and one from Knoxville to the scene. Of the fifty convicts taken from the guards at Brice-ville two escaped and the others were brought to this city.

The Convicts Taken Back. When the militia arrived they took the convicts along back with them, and warned the mob that they would protect them at all hazards. Governor Buchanan at once proceeded to the seat of the trouble, and in a neat speech explained his position to the rebellious miners. He told them that it was his sworn duty to uphold the law, and if the convict lease system was wrong he was not to blame, and that the only recourse of the men was through the legislature. The miners announced that their families were starring and that their lies were starving and that they were compelled to drive out the convicts if it cost the life of every man in the valley. They made all sorts of fun of the handful of beardless youths, but declared they would not harm the "Spider legged, cigarette smoking dudes," as they characterized the militia, but that as soon as the militia were withdrawn they would the militia were withdrawn they would release every convict in the region. Be-coming impatient, however, at the tardiness in recalling the troops, they decided to try to overcome the military by force of numbers, and succeeded.

Met Miners in Fighting Trim. Troops from Briceville arrived here at 4 p. m. yesterday. They are all in good spirits and will return in the morning with reinforcements. The boys were badly treated by the people of Knoxville, who seemed to be in perfect sympathy with the lawless element in Coal Creek. Two thousand miners, farmers and others who have no occupation at and others who have no occupation at all took possession of the hills around all took possession of the hills around the Briceville camp. Fifteen hundred of these were armed with rifles, while the rest had shotguns and pistols. They came from all the country within a ra-dius of fifty miles. The organization was complete and their leaders placed there along the hill sides with rullitary them along the hill sides with military precision. At the call to arms the little garrison turned out gallantly and prepared for defense.

Officers Feared a Massacre. It was apparent at a glance that a fight would result in a massacre. A meeting of the officers was called. Some declared a stout resistance to the first attack would be sufficient, and the mob would withdraw. Others thought that it would be suicidal, yet everyone was in favor of doing his duty, notwith-standing the exposed position they were to defend. The miners called a parley, and were met on neutral grounds by Colonel Sevier. They stated that they had sufficient force to overwhelm the soldiers, but did not care to shed blood if the convicts were quietly sent away. This request was at first emphatically refused, as the officers feared the result if the prisoners were allowed to go un-

They Promised to Avoid Destruction The miners then asked Colonel Sevier if he would remove his troops and take the convicts with him. He asked what would be done to the mining company's property, which was also under his protection. They replied that it would not be injured. He also asked if an attack would be made on the Knoxville Iron company's stockade, just below Brice-ville. If such was intended he intended to fall back there and fight it out re-gardless of consequences. The leader replied that no attack would be made.

The Troops March Out. The troops then marched out, carrying with them the convicts, all the commissary supplies and baggage. They marched to Briceville and took the train to Knoxville. The promise not to attack the stockade has already been violated, and the 1,350 soldiers at that place were put on a train and sent to Knoxville. The mob then started for Oliver Springs, where they also intend liberating the prisoners. The whole of east Tennessee is in sympathy with the

Another Wholesale Release. After the release of convicts at Brice ville and the troops and convicts had been placed on the train the mob went to the mines of the Knoxville Iron com-pany and surrounded the stockade and pany and surrounded the stockade and captured the 125 convicts. They were shipped away to Knoxville, and arrived here about 5:30 o'clock. All convicts are now here in an old building under guard. A call of labor leaders has been issued for a labor meeting here that has been issued for a labor meeting here this afternoon. It is reported here that the miners at Oliver Springs have released the 130 convicts there, but this report has not been verified. The excitement here is intense. The streets are crowded, and a diversity of opinion is heard. Many labor men say the miners have done right.
