

Care of Children's Teeth.

Very few mothers realize the necessity of caring for and properly preserving a child's first teeth, so that they shall drop naturally out of the jaw, without decay, when the time comes.

The first permanent teeth come in when the child is about six years of age. These are molars, and they come back of the milk teeth.

"Why don't you fight," he said to the big man, "instead of standing there and howling and swearing?"

"German Syrup"

"I have been a great sufferer from Asthma and severe Colds every Winter, and last Fall my friends as well as myself thought because of my feeble condition, and great distress from constant coughing, and inability to raise any of the accumulated matter from my lungs, that my time was close at hand.

Boschec's German Syrup. I am confident it saved my life. Almost the first dose gave me great relief and a gentle refreshing sleep, such as I had not had for weeks.

THE DAY OF LIBERTY.

BY W. B. HOLDEN.

"We hold these truths to be self-evident," wrote Thomas Jefferson, "that all men are created equal; that they are endowed by their Creator with certain unalienable rights; that among these are life, liberty and the pursuit of happiness; that to secure these rights governments are instituted among men, deriving their just powers from the consent of the governed."

Now it is a singular fact that at the time the Declaration of Independence was promulgated these truths were by no means "self-evident," indeed a great many colonists, in common with the royalists, held exactly the contrary view.

It is not difficult to trace the rise of nations. First, the little colony, all of one family, or nearly related; then the village, with an elective chief; then a district, with an hereditary ruler, and finally a nation, with a king, or perhaps an autocrat.

There is not the slightest doubt that in the beginning all men were equal and that governments did derive their powers from the consent of the people governed, but when Thomas Jefferson wrote these truths had, long since been forgotten.

From fear, ignorance or motives of self-interest, it was held by the vast majority of mankind that the king was the source of all power; that liberty and the pursuit of happiness, even life itself, was a gift from the king; and that all men were created in classes, arranged like a pyramid, with the king on top, and every class having the right to oppress all others below it.

Not only did the ruling classes, as they were called, believe in these ideas, but the peasants, the lowest class of all, dutifully accepted such teaching, and submitted to fate with only slight murmuring.

It was this state of affairs that the Revolutionary leaders were confronted with. At different periods in the world's history, the people had risen and deposed or killed their rulers, and there had been republics formed, but the people had never before dared to assert or strive to maintain that they were the source of power, and the Declaration of Independence was unique.

At the present day the condition of affairs has been almost completely reversed. With the exception of Oriental countries, or those still sunk in barbarism, the majority of mankind vigorously deny the divine right of kings. Even in Russia, where the Czar rules with autocratic power, the people are not dejected; they submit, simply because the times are not yet ripe for revolt.

With this single exception, all civilized people have now established their right to make the laws that govern them; and, except the Czar, all rulers have admitted that they derive their just powers from the consent of the governed.

Better than a I, we have to chronicle the wonderful growth of true republics and the consequent down fall of monarchies.

For years, the little republic of Switzerland stood alone in Europe; but now that it has been joined by France, there is every reason to believe that other nations will follow their example.

Spain and Portugal have a strong republican party, while Italy, Greece and Servia are very restive under monarchical rule.

America is now a continent of republics. Some European nations have dependencies on this side of the Atlantic, but the people are dependent only in name.

The British possessions in North America are virtually independent, and can be actually so at any time without provoking any warlike measures on the part of the parent government. No wars, revolutions are mainly peaceful, as witness the recent deposition of the Emperor of Brazil.

Africa has three republics in Liberia, Transvaal and the Orange Free State, while Asia, alone of the continents, possesses no republic within its limits.

Australia, which is a continent in itself, is practically a republic, holding only nominal allegiance to Great Britain, and recently the question of an Australian confederation has been freely discussed.

Thus the day of liberty may be said to have fairly dawned. America's Independence Day was the first gleam of light that has never been extinguished, and it is not too much to anticipate that when our country closes its second century of existence there will not be an absolute ruler, on the face of the earth.

Deafness Can't Be Cured by local applications, as they cannot reach the diseased portion of the ear. There is only one way to cure deafness, and that is by constitutional remedies. Deafness is caused by an inflamed condition of the mucous lining of the Eustachian Tube. When this tube gets inflamed you have a rumbling sound or imperfect hearing, and when it is entirely closed, Deafness is the result, and unless the inflammation can be taken out and this tube restored to its normal condition, hearing will be destroyed forever; nine cases out of ten are caused by catarrh, which is nothing but an inflamed condition of the mucous surfaces.

We will give One Hundred Dollars for any case of Deafness (caused by catarrh) that we cannot cure by taking Hall's Catarrh Cure. Send for circulars, free.

Shoot the Spy

A cough or cold is a spy which has stealthily come inside the lines of health and is there to discover some vulnerable point in the fortification of the constitution which is guarding your well-being.

That point discovered the spy reports it to the enemy on the outside. The enemy is the changeable winter climate. If the cold gets in, look out for an attack at the weak point.

To avoid this, shoot the spy, kill the cold, using SCOTT'S EMULSION of pure Norwegian Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites of Lime and Soda as the weapon.

It is an expert cold slayer, and fortifies the system against Consumption, Scrofula, General Debility, and all Anemic and Wasting Diseases (specially in Children). Especially helpful for children to prevent their taking cold. Palatable as Milk.

SPECIAL.—Scott's Emulsion is non-secret, and is prescribed by the Medical Profession all over the world, because its ingredients are scientifically combined in such a manner as to greatly increase their remedial value.

CAUTION.—Scott's Emulsion is put up in salmon-colored wrappers. Be sure and get the genuine. Prepared only by Scott & Bowne, Manufacturing Chemists, New York. Sold by all Druggists.

CATARRH

It is an Ointment of which a small particle is applied to the nostrils. Price, 25c. Sold by druggists or sent by mail.
