REMARKABLE GATHERING.

Questions of Theology and Science Ably Discussed by Learned Mon of America and Great Britain. The Power of the Press on Religious Thought.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 8.—The Methodist Ecumenical conference, which began its sessions here yesterlay, is one of the most remarkable religious bodies ever convened in this country. The ecumen-ical conference, as its name implies, is composed of the representatives of all the various branches of Methodism established throughout the world. Over 500 delegates answered to roll call—300 from the various Methodist churches in the United States and 200 from abroad. Yesterday's proceedings were devoted to religious exercises and the work of to religious exercises and the work of organization. WASHINGTON, Oct. 9.—The after-noon session of the Methodist confer-ence was devoted to a discussion of the subject, "The Present Status of Meth-odism in the Western Section." Rev. Bishop Fowler, of San Francisco, was the essayist, and handled his subject with great eloquence and fervor. He was followed by Bishop Gallaway, of Mississippi, who said the southern Methodists were keeping pace with the growth of Methodism. Rev. William Brigger of Ganada make of the loss the growth of Methodish. Rev. withan Briggs, of Canada, spoke of the work in the Dominion, and Bishop Arnott, of the African Methodist Episcopal church, said that more than one-half of the negroes of the country were influenced by the African Methodist church.

the African Methodist church. WASHINGTON, Oct. 10.—The discus-sions in the Methodisticumenical coun-cil yesterday were on the subject "Chris-tian Unity" and "Christian Co-opera-tien." Dr. T. G. Selby, of Scotland, led the former discussion and A. Coke Smith, of Nashville, Tenn., the latter. During the discussion on co-operation Smith, of Nashville, Tehn, the latter, During the discussion on co-operation Rev. Hugh P. Hughes, of London, said that Methodists, Presbyterians, Angeli-cans and Congregationalists were thor-oughly united for the spread of gospel truth.

Science and Religion.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 12.-The fourth day's session of the Methodist Ecumenical council was presided over by Rev. Dr. William Arthur, of England, who Dr. William Arthur, of England, who conducted the devotional exercises. The subject for the day was "The Church and Scientific Thought." The first es-say was one by Percy W. Bunting, edi-tor of The Contemporary Review. In Mr. Bunting's absence it was read by J. B. Slack, of London. The paper treated of the influence of modern scien-tific progress on religious thought. When we speak of the influence of scientific thought, the writer said, we all mean the great theory of evolution, which has changed not only our thoughts but our changed not only our thoughts but our methods of thinking, and has transferred both science and theology to a new plane.

On the whole the question of the fatherhood of God seeks and can receive little or no light from any part ofh is creation short of man. So far as we can see the laws of the natural and spiritual worlds differ too widely for comparison. On the moral nature and immortality of man, science again has so little to teach. man, science again has so little to teach, that its modern developments leave the matter much where they found it. Rev. W. T. Davison, of England, tu-tor in Biblical literature and exceesis, in Richmond (England) college, Wes-leyan Methodist church, followed in an address on the subject of the Bible and modern criticism. Biblical criticism has modern criticism. Biblical criticism, he said, is now a science. Religious teachers must not interfere with scientific work on its own plane, but should carefully watch it. Science might meddle with the casket, it could not mar or even reach the subtle perfume within. Bishop Fowler, of San Francisco, held that a great host had the conviction that the son of God had power to forgive. The Jesuits never argued; they insisted. Unless Methodists could defend their ground they must surrender.

Power of the Press.

WASHINGTON, Oct. 13.-The fifth day of the Ecumenical Methodist council opened with Bisnop J. W. Wood, of the African M.E. Zion church. Fayetteville, N. C., in the chair. The topic for the first session was "The Church and Her Agencies," and Bishop R. S. Foster, of Massachusetts, proceeded to address the council on "The Responsibilities and Qualifications of the Preacher." He was followed by Rev. John Bond, the Wes-leyan Methodist church, London, and Rev. Howard William Day, of the Afri-can M. E. Zion church, Harrisburg, Pa. The afternoon session of the conference was devoted to essays on the reigious press and the religious uses the

of secular press. Rev. H. P. Hughes, of London Mis-sion Wesleyan Methodist church, was the principal essayist. He spoke of the origin and obscurity of the press and of its gigantic growth. The earliest En-glish journal, he said, was a small pam-phlet printed in the time of James I. He spoke of the enterprise of the great journals and the expense connected with it and the profits of journalism. The religious press, he said, should work for Christ and not for gain. News-papers, he added, have an ambition to influence public opinion. The power of journalism, when used on the right side, is immense. Religious journalism ought not identify itself with political bonds, so it could regard all questions from a religions standpoint. In conclu-sion he said that the church had learned much from secular journalism and hoped they would learn much more. Rev. E. H. Dewart, editor of The Christian Guardian, Toronto, Ont., fol-lowed Mr. Hughes. He maintained that the full influence of the press was not yet fully recognized by the church, and that there were the same reasons for using the press that justified the use of the pulpit and platform. It is not the rival, but supporter and supplement to the preacher. The church needs its own press. The religious press should be liberal, but loyal to essential truth. It should be wisely adapted to the times in which its work is done. It is not a mere organ of the church, but an in-structor and inspirer of those who read it. Rev. E. E. Hass, D. D., of Nashville, the principal essayist. He spoke of the origin and obscurity of the press and of

It struck August Grafft, watchman on the Pittsburg, Vir-ginia and Charleston railroad at the junction of the latter with the Pennsylvania railroad. His lamp and one leg were broken, and he was in a very condition. In eight minutes an exp. freight would be due. If the bowlder remained on the track where it had stopped there would certainly be a wreck. Fitzsimmons' Escape.

PITTSBURG, Oct. 12.-The Allegheny county prison board met to hear the report of the committee appointed to in-vestigate the manner in which Frederick R. Fitzsimmons, the murderer of Detective Gilkenson, escaped three weeks ago, and it was unanimously resolved to instruct the new warden to dismiss Keepers Larimer and Price. The committee found that the management of ex-Warden Berlin, who resigned, was loose and incompetent, and it is believed the county commissioners will sue Berlin's bondsmen for all the damages incurred by the county through Fitzsimmons' case.

The Broken Banks.

CLEARFIELD, Pa., Oct. 13 .- The financial flurry is about over, although many of the creditors of the trio of broken banks still mourn the loss of their hundreds of dollars, and not a few of thousands. The Phillipsburg bank will be able to pay in full, and the Houtzdale bank perhaps sixty cents on the dollar. There are many conflicting rumors afloat, and it is impossible to get at the truth of affairs, but it is generally con-ceded that the heaviest loosers of all 200 ORIGI will be the depositors of the Clearfield First National bank.
