"A Yard of Roses."

One of the popular paintings at the New York Academy of Design was a yard-long panel of Roses. A crowd was always before it. One art-critic e relaimed, "Such a bit of nature should belong to all the people, it is too beautiful for one man to hide away."

The Youth's Companion, of Boston, seized the idea, and spent twenty thousand doll ars to reproduce the painting. The result has been a triumph of artistic delicacy and color.

No other form of indisposition occurs so fre quently with adults, as well as with children, as dyspepsia (weakness of digestion). No other manifests itself by so many different symptoms, and is consequently mistaken for some other disorder. No other has more serious results if neg'ected, and yet ness. for no other is more easily cured than so-called growing a indigestion. It occurs with babies and teething children and with grown persons particularly in consequence of a cold on the stomach, (catarrh) caused by wet feet, improper diet or ptemperance in eating or diffiking. The use of icy beverages is particularly dangerous in this respect. It manifests itself at first by loss of appet te, aversion to certain kinds of food, a desire to vomit, coaled tongue, parched lips and sharp pains just above and be ween the and sharp pains just above and be ween the eyes. If the troub e continues for any length of time, the patients grow thin and weak, and and in couse in the become prevish and mores. If the disease is confined to the stomach it is usually accompanied by constipation. If it extends into the intestines, as is often the case with children, distributes, as is often the case with children, distributed in the beginning the pain over the eyes in creases to uch an extent with grown persons that the ymptoms resumble those of inflammation of the bowers or of the brain, More or less violert atticks of fever almost always accompany a weak digestion, and frequently the cause of the disease is sought anywhere else than in the stomach, which has become rebeilous in consequence of a cold or an improper diet.
