The Century's Programme in 1892-1 New "Life of Columbus"---Articles for Farmers Etc.

That great American periodical, The Century, is going to undo its own unrivaled record in its programme for 1892, and as many of its new features begin with the November number, new readers should commence with that issue, readers should commence with that issue,

In this number are the opening chapters of "THE NAULAHKA," a novel by Rudyard Kipling, the famous author of Plain Tales from the Hills," written in collaboration with an American writer. Wolcott Balestier. It is the story of a young man and a young woman from a "bo-ming" Colorado town, who go to India, he in search of a wonderful jeweled neckace, called "the Naulahka" (from which the story takes its name.) and she as a physician to women. The novel describes their remarkable adventures at the court of an Indian maharajah Be-ides this THE CEN URY will print three other novels during the year, and a great number of short stories by the best American story writers.

A POPULAR FAMILY. JENNIE: "How is it, Kate, that you always seem to 'catch on' to the last new thing? Do what I may, you always seem to get ahead of me."

JENNIE: "Well, during the last few months, for example, you have taken up painting.

without any teacher; you came to the rescue when Miss Lafarge deserted her Delsarte class so suddenly, and certainly we are all improving in grace under your instruction; I heard you telling Tommy Eames last evening how his club made mistakes in playing baseball; you seem to be up on all the latest 'fads,' and know just what to do under all circumstances; you entertain beautifully; and in the last month you have improved so in health, owing, you tell me, to your physical culture exercises. Where do you get all of your information from in this little out-of-the way place?—for you never go to the city."

KATE: "Why, Jennie, you will make me vain. I have only one source of information, but it is surprising how it meets all wants. I very seldom hear of anything new but what the next few days bring me full information but it is surprising how it meets all wants. I very seldom hear of anything new but what the next few days bring me full information on the subject. Magic? No! Magazine! And a great treasure it is to us all, for it really furnishes the reading for the whole household: father has given up his magazine that he has taken for years, as he says this one gives more and better information on the subjects of the day; and mother says that it is that that makes her such a famous housekeeper. In fact, we all agree that it is the only really Family magazine published, as we have sent for samples of all of them, and find that one is all for men, another all for women, and another for children only, while this one suits every one of us; so we only need to take one instead of several, and that is where the economy comes in, for it is only $2.00 a year. Perhaps you think I am too lavish in my praise; but I will let you see ours, or, better still, send 10 cents to the publisher, W. Jennings Demorest, 15 East 14th Street, New York, for a sample copy, and I shall always consider that I have done you a great favor; and may be you will be cutting us out, as you say we have the reputation of being the best informed family in town. If that be so, it is Demorest's Family Magazine that does it."

AN EXCEPTIONAL YEAR.

THE Year 1891 has been marked by a greater advance than any similar period since the Magazine was published. Notonly has the literary and artistic excellence been maintained and increased but a corresponding gata has been made in the sale and influence of the Magazine. At the end of 1891 the circulation has risen to more than 140,000. If may justly be promised that the further improvements for the coming year will be proportionate to these largely increased opportunities.

FOR NEXT YEAR.

It is not possible to give, in a 'rief space, an account of all of the features in preparation, but the material is deficient in neither importance nor range of subject. Among the subjects treat d: THE POOR IN THE WORD'S GREAT CITIES.

It is proposed to published a series articles, upon a scale not before attempted giving the results of special study and work among the poor of the great cities. The plan will include an account of the conditions of life in those cities (in many lands) where the results of research will be helpful for purposes of comparison as well as for their own intrinsic interest. While, from a scientific point of view, the articles will be a contribution of great importance, the treatment will be thoroughly popular, and the elaborate illustrations will serve to make the presentation of the subject vividas well as picturesque.

IMPORTANT MOMENTS.

The aim of this series of very short articles is to describe the signal occasions when some decisive event took place, or when some great experiment was first shown to be successful—such moments as that of the first use of the Atlantic cable, the first use of the telegraph and telephone, the first successful experiment with eiter, the night of the Chicago fire, the scene at the monent of the vote on the impeachment of Andrew Johnson etc., etc

OUT OF DOOR PAPERS.

In the early spring will be begun a number of seasonable articles, among them being: SMALL COUNTRY PLACES, how to law out and beautify them, by Samuel Persons, Jr. FISHING LORE FROM AN ANGLER'S NOTE-BOOK, by Dr. Leroy M. Yale.

Gents—I would like to make known to those who are almost persuaded to use Kendall's Spavin Cure the fact that I think it is a most excellent Liniment. I have used it on a Blood Spavin. The horse went on three legs for three years when I commenced to use your Kendall's Spavin Cure. I used ten bottles on the horse and have worked him for three years since and has not been lame.

Yours truly,

Gents: In praise of Kendall's Spavin Cure I will say, that a year ago I had a valuable young horse become very lame, nock enlarged and swollen. The horsemen about here (we have no Veterinary Surgeon here) pronounced his lamences Blood Spavin or Thoroughpin, they all told me there was ne cure for it, he became about useless, and I considered him almost worthless. A friend told me of the merits of your Kendall's Spavin Cure, so I bought a bottle, and I could see very plainly great impovements immediately from its use, and before the bottle was used up I was satisfied that it was doing him a great deal of good. I bought a second bottle, but before it was used up my horse was cured and has been in the team doing heavy work all the season since last April, showing no more sigms of it. I consider your Kendall's Spavin Cure a valuable medicine, and it should be in every ttable to the lated. Respectfully yours.

His Dastardly Attempt on the Life | Brazil's Exiled Emperor Succumbs of Russell Sage.

THE CRANK HORRIBLY MANGLED

The Man Entered the Office of Mr. Sage and Demanded a Large Sum of Money-As It Was Not Immediately Forthcoming He Exploded a Large Amount of Dynamite.

New York, Dec. 5 .- A serious explosion occurred at twenty-five minutes past noon yesterday in Russell Sage's office, at 71 Broadway, in which at least two persons were blown to pieces, and sev-eral others dangerously wounded, Rus-sell Sage was in his office at the time, but escaped with slight injuries.

A clearer, mere deliberate plot has not been recorded for years. A man, an entire stranger, entered Mr. Sage's office, on the second floor, inquiring for Mr. Sage, and saying that he wanted to see him on important private business. Mr. Sage was at the time talking to his brother-in-law, Colonel H. W. Slocum, of Brooklyn. W. A. Ladlow, clerk, told him that Mr. Sage was busy. The man persisted and continued to talk in a loud Mr. Sage, who was in an inner matter. He asked the man what was wanted. The man said, "I demand an interview with you." Mr. Sage inquired with what he could be obliged. The man replied: "We want $1,200,000. We want them right here and now."

Mr. Sage started at this proposal, but instantly recovering his presence of mind said that it was a great deal of money, and that he would have to think about it. He knew that he was think about it. He knew that he was dealing with a crank, and was sparing for time. But subterfuges were in vain with this crank. He said he had no time to wait. "The money is wanted now," he went on. "In this satchel I have a hundred pounds of dynamite, and unless you hand over the money up she goes." Mr. Sage made one more attempt to temporize. He had not got the money, he said. His visitor must come again. At the word the man made an angry gesture, and raised the satchel at arm's length.

To attention whatever in Brazil, and this vester in the sage of the satchel in the sage of the satchel in the disease, which had for some time troubled him, was aggravated by his mental suffering, and he took to his bed, gradually growing worse until the end.

Dom Pedro's 66th birthday anniversary was on Dec. 2, and expressions of hope for his recovery were received on the occasion from the king and queen of Portugal and others. The reminder had a depressing effect on Dom Pedro, an angry gesture, and raised the satchel his almost deserted condition and the Train 1. (Daily except Sunday.)

To attention whatever in Brazil, and this seems to have been a final blow.

The disease, which had for some time troubled him, was aggravated by his mental suffering, and he took to his bed, gradually growing worse until the end.

Dom Pedro's 66th birthday anniversary was on Dec. 2, and expressions of hope for his recovery were received on the occasion from the king and queen of Portugal and others. The reminder had a depressing effect on Dom Pedro, provided the satchel had a depressing effect on Dom Pedro and the contrast between his almost deserted condition and the stations. at arm's length.

"You will not," he shouted: "then here goes." The men in the outside of-fice heard a deafening crash; walls and ceiling fell around and upon them; the windows were blown clear across Rector street into Trinity cemetery, with them a man, mangled and torn-the crank, the clerks think. With bleeding faces, deafened, weak and blinded by dust and blood, the clerks staggered out into the hall, and fell rather than walked

His head, which was severed from the body, was identified by Russell Sage as that of the man who made the demand and caused the explosion, but of the thousands who have viewed the ghastly features not one has been able to tell his name or to give any clew as to where he

Two men were killed by the explosion; the bomb thrower himself and B. F. Norton, clerk in Mr. Sage's office. YORK, Dec. 7 .- W. D. Southworth, of San Francisco, who came to New York a few days ago, and who is said to know something about the plot to assassinate Russell Sage, was ar-rested yesterday. He is now at police headquarters. Of the wounded, all are out of serious danger with the exception of young Robertson, who is still at the Chambers Street hospital, and the physicians are very dubious as to whether he will pull through or not.

NEW YORK, Dec. 8. - William D. Southworth, the man whom Inspector Byrnes arrested upon suspicion of being an accomplice of the dynamiter who blew up Russell Sage's office, was brought to the Tombs from police headquarters by Detective Sergeant Titus, and arraigned before Police Justice Smith. No formal hearing was had, the sergeant merely asking that the prisoner be removed to the Tombs as a suspicious character, for further examination. To this the justice at once acceded, and Southworth, who was unrepresented by counsel, was placed in one of the Tombs

The head of the man who dropped the dynamite bomb in Mr. Sage's office is suspended in a glass jar containing a preservative fluid in the morgue. About lifty persons who said they thought they had known the man called at the morgue to identify the head. Of these four persons expressed the opinion that the head is that of "Professor Denton," a mysterious crank who has long been known in Brooklyn and in this city. The identification is not complete, but the gentlemen named knew Denton and are positive that the bomb thrower's features strongly resemble his.

A Cowboy's Fearful Experience. Wichita, Kan., Dec. 8.—A cowboy named Harding for nine days was a prisoner in the bottom of an old well near Beaver City. Harding had been sent in search of stray cattle, and was cantering along when his pony stopped suddenly on the edge of the hidden well and threw his rider. Harding fell a distance of thirty feet, landing on a lot of brush and mud which had accumulated at the bottom of the hole. For five days at the bottom of the hole. For five days Harding had neither bite nor sup, but the sixth day wolves found him out, and, watching his opportunity, he shot one. On this Harding subsisted for the succeeding three days, when his cries attracted the attention of a stage driver.

The rescued man will probably spend the balance of his life in a lunatic asylum.

His Physical Ailments Greatly Aggravated by the Pain of Absence From His Native Land-A Democratic Royalist Who Was Beloved for the Purity of His Patriotism.

Paris, Dec.5.—Dom Pedro, ex-emperor of Brazil, died yesterday. The ex-emperor's complaint was diabetes, and for the last forty-eight hours his life had been depaired of. The Princess Isabella was at her father's bedside at the time of his demise, and was overwhelmed with grief to such an extent that she, too, may be seriously ill. The Count D'En may be seriously ill. The Count D'En, husband of the princess, was also pres-ent. It is said that almost the last, if not the last conscious words of the exemperor, were an expression of his deep affection for Brazil and his regret that he could not go back there to die. Dom

Pedro bitterly felt his exile, and inti-mate friends assert that his physical ail-ments were greatly aggravated by the pain of absence from his native land, and that this might be called the pri-mary cause of his death, as his health had been generally good before his de-position in November, 1889.

Dom Pedro always cherished the hope of being recalled to his native land, and when the revolution broke out against Da Fonseca's dictatorship the ex-emperor was persuaded by the Count d'Eu that if he should make a public offer to return the Brazilians might accept it.

He married in 1843 the dust and blood, the into the hall, and fell rather than walked down the steps. Mr. Sage was blown clear through the doorway of his private office, and across the room.
