SPRAINS. Many people are apt to treat a sprain as a matter of slight consequence, when in reality it is usually a very serious injury.

A sprain is a wrenching of a joint whereby some of the ligaments, the bands which unite the bones, are torn or severely stretched.

The severity of the injury varies. A severe sprain, while containing no element of danger to the life of the patient, is, nevertheless, a serious injury, which may result in the permanent impairment of the functions of the joint.

A good way to prevent the hands from being scalded is to place the hot dripping flannel in a towel, then, taking hold of each end of the towel, wring it until the flannel is dry enough to apply.

In some cases serious disease of the bone may follow. This is the result of the original accident, and cannot be averted by treatment. In any case, however slight, it pays to keep perfectly still until the injury is repaired.

SOME USEFUL HINTS. Unless one has exceptionally careful and efficient servants the housewife should know that all glass jars are properly cleaned and dried after being emptied. Much fruit is "mysterious" spoiled in it is way when the directions for preserving have been carefully complied with.

If mixed or other sour pickles are inclined to mould drain off the vinegar, take off the upper layer and rinse off all particles of mould, and re-beat the vinegar if it seems strong, or if not, add new, and lay a few pieces of horse-radish root on the top.

If canned goods have not fermented before this time they will not. But if you have not drawn a paper bag over each jar or wrapped it in paper to exclude the light do so now—or the quality will surely be inferior if it does not ferment. Sufficient cooking and the exclusion of light are the main secrets of canning vegetables, and the latter precaution is fully as essential with fruit.

Paraffine from off the top of jellies, marmalade and the like, should be washed in cold water and kept in a closely covered can or jar for use another year.

Canned fruit is more delicious if it is opened an hour or two before it is needed, to restore the oxygen.

HOW THEY GOT RICH.—She—I could have married either Whipper or Snapper if I'd wanted to, and both of these men are whom I refused to have since got rich, while you are still as poor as a church mouse.

A feeling of dullness, languor, and depression means that your liver isn't doing its part. That means impure blood, to begin with, and all kinds of ailments in the end.

But you can stop them in advance. Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery invigorates the liver, purifies and enriches the blood, and rouses every organ into healthy action. It prevents and cures all diseases arising from a torpid liver or from impure blood. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness, Scrofulous, Skin and Scalp Diseases—even Consumption (or Lung-scrofula), in its earlier stages, all yield to it.

The makers of the "Discovery" claim for it only what it will do. They guarantee that it will do it. If it fails to benefit or cure, in any case, they'll return the money. Nothing else that claims to purify the blood is sold in this way; which proves, no matter what dealers may offer, that nothing else can be "just as good." Therefore, don't accept a substitute.
