

RACKET STORE NEWS.

Mr. Kurtz,
Dear Sir:—Please tell the readers of the "Reporter" that during January they will find special bargains in every department of "The Racket." When we say bargains, we mean the clear cut modern kind, not the cut-and-dried kind usually called bargains. A few sample prices will suffice to show what we mean:
Men's Rubbers, 25 cents a pair. Silk and Wool Plaids, yard wide, 25 cents per yard, worth easily double. Knickerbocker Dress Goods, 8 cents per yard, usual price, 12¢. Remnants in Dress Goods, Calicoes, Muslins, at split prices. Nuff Ced.
Come and see yourself why "The Racket" has doubled itself in a year, and why you will find it crowded when other stores are empty.
Respectfully Yours,
G. R. SPIGELMYER,
SHEM SPIGELMYER, JR.
Bellefonte, Pa., Jan. 5, 1892.

PERSONAL.

—A live Burgess—chief Burgess Ritter.
—John Musser, an old residenter of Millheim, is quite ill—grip, of course.
—S. K. Knepley had a bad dose of the grip, but is able to be out again.
—Mrs. Ananda Roberts, of Pittsburg, Pa., is visiting her father in this place, Mr. Ezra Krumbine.
—Frank Crawford spent several days of last week in Union county and returned again on Saturday evening.
—Mrs. Elmer Campbell, of Linden Hall, visited her mother, Mrs. Judge Love, on Church street, on Monday.
—George Sweeney was housed up a few days last week and was seriously ill, having an attack of the grip, but at present is much improved.
—Andrew Campbell, the genial grain agent and lumber boss of Coburn and Engleby, favored our sanctum with a call. He is a Democrat of the first water.
—C. D. Runkle, on Saturday, was in town to see old friends. "Davy" has aged considerably the past two years. Time has added many silvery locks.
—Mr. John H. Bible, an honored and respected citizen of Centre Hill, gave the REPORTER office a visit last week, and spent a few minutes with us.
—Mr. and Mrs. R. Porter Odenkirk, the bride and groom, returned home last week after a wedding tour extending over two weeks. They visited several of our Eastern cities.
—S. F. Smith, of Tusseyville, gave these headquarters a pleasant call, and enrolled his name as a REPORTER patron. Come and do likewise, if you are not already there, reader.
—Mr. J. F. Royer, of Tusseyville, favored our sanctum with a call a few days ago and had his label properly adjusted. Mr. Royer is a very pleasant gentleman and we were very sorry he did not lengthen his visit.
—Miss Anna Mills, a talented and musical young lady, of Lock Haven, is visiting her cousin, Miss Jennie Kreamer. Miss Mills is quite a soloist and nightly during the convention charms the audience with her exquisite voice.
—Mr. and Mrs. Daniel Ripka, of Spring Mills, visited their daughter, Mrs. J. E. Kustaborder, at Bellefonte, Pa., during the past week or two. Mr. W. H. Lohr and wife, of Forest Hill, Union county, also visited at same place at same time.
—Mr. Henry Rossman, of Tusseyville, gave our sanctum a visit Tuesday. Mr. Rossman conducts a first-class undertaking establishment at Tusseyville and is quite successful as an embalmer, having taken a course in same a few weeks ago under Prof. Sullivan, at Pittsburg.
—John Grove, one of Gregg township's leading citizens gave the REPORTER sanctum a call, and like the REPORTER, he can't forget that Sherman was implicated in stealing the presidency from Tilden. "Handsome is who handsome does"—Mr. Grove had his label on REPORTER set close to '94, and it did him good—us too—to do it. Next.
—Bert Shimp, who had been employed in the foundry at this place, has secured lucrative employment in the works at Logan, near Lewistown, Bert, and family have been visiting at Lewistown for several weeks but returned to their home here last week to prepare household goods for removal. Sorry to lose Bert as a citizen, and hope he will again return.
—Mr. J. Edgar Martz, who has been located at Spokane Falls, Washington, the last few years, arrived in this section a few weeks ago for a visit among friends and relatives in and about Tusseyville. Mr. Martz is a native of this valley and departed for the west about five years ago. He intends locating in Altoona for the present, and will not return to his late residence.

HORRIBLY MANGLED.

FRANK COOPER ALMOST INSTANTLY KILLED.

FELL FROM A CAR UPON THE RAILS.

EIGHT FREIGHT CARS PASS OVER HIS PROSTRATE BODY.

Centre Hall Station the Scene of a Horrible Accident on Tuesday Evening in Which the Conductor of the Freight Loses His Life by Falling under the Wheels.

A horrible accident occurred on Tuesday afternoon at the station at this place, in which Frank B. Cooper, conductor on the local freight on its way to Bellefonte from Sunbury, lost his life in the performance of his duties, by falling from a moving car upon the track below, and eight cars passed over his body, severing his right leg below the knee and completely disemboweling the unfortunate man.

It appears the freight which passes the 2:47 mail east, when on time, at Centre Hall, was over one hour behind scheduled time at Centre Hall and did not arrive at this station until about ten minutes after four o'clock. The weather was dreary and sultry, a slight rain falling which made work upon the freight train extremely hazardous.

When the train was in the cut about twenty rods below the station it was the intention of the trainmen to disconnect a stock car from about the middle of the train which was in motion, and throw it in on the depot siding, making what is called a "flying switch." Conductor Cooper got between the forward part of the train and the stock car, on the bumpers, to pull the coupling pin to disconnect the car. When he pulled the pin the forward part of the train went ahead and it is supposed he had hold of the brake rod to support him in the stooping position, his hold slipped and he fell head foremost to the track below upon the rails, right under the wheels.

The part of the train behind, composed of seven or eight heavily laden coal cars and caboose were moving and it would have been impossible to stop them to rescue the unfortunate man from the jaws of death. The cars passed over his body which was across the rails, severing his right leg below the knee, crushing his left leg, and completely disemboweling him and almost cutting his body in two across the hips, which would have surely happened had not his heavy clothing protected his body to a certain extent.

A brakeman saw him fall from the train to the track and immediately ran to his assistance. When he arrived he found him lying across the rails with his head in the ditch beside the track. He was still alive when the brakeman came to his body, and lived for about fifteen minutes after the accident. A cushion from the caboose was hurriedly brought and the unfortunate man placed on it, and a brakeman dispatched to the depot for assistance. A physician was at once telephoned for from town and Dr. Jacobs was only a few minutes in getting to the depot, but before his arrival upon the scene, Cooper had breathed his last, and the vital spark had fled.

A push car used by the section hands was brought down to where he lay and his body placed upon it and brought up to the depot, being run in on the mill switch to allow the 4:28 passenger train to pass, which had been flagged and stopped at the scene of the accident. After the passenger train left the depot the body was carried into the freight house and Dr. Jacobs made an examination of the remains for a report to the officials. He found the wheels had passed over the right leg below the knee, which was connected only by shreds of flesh. His left leg was also crushed and the bones broken from the knee up to the hip. The wheels evidently passed diagonally over his right leg first and then upon the left over the body above the hips. The wheels then likely dragged his body around directly across the rails and passed over his abdomen, for in this position he was found by the brakeman. The abdomen was horribly mangled and the entrails protruded.

He was a married man aged about thirty-eight years, and resided in Sunbury, where he has a wife and daughter thirteen years old.

The body was taken to Dauberman's undertaking establishment in the evening where it was properly prepared for burial. Later in the evening they received orders from Superintendent Westfall to ship it to Sunbury on the 7:03 Wednesday morning train to the family for burial.

THE REAPER DEATH.

Mr. Samuel Hess, Centre County's Aged Citizen Succumbs to the Grip.

The old patriarch has gone to his long home. The venerable Samuel Hess, of near Pinegrove Mills, died on Thursday night, of last week, from an attack of grip. Mr. Hess was near the close of his 93rd year, and known to nearly all our readers. He was a man of great worth, in his day, to his fellow men. As a citizen and neighbor, he was kind and scrupulously upright—he was of the good old stock of honest men in every sense of the word, and reared a family of children who stand in the highest esteem among their neighbors. He was a devoted member of the Lutheran church. Father Hess has a sister, Mrs. William Harter, of Anronsburg, who survives him—the rest of his brothers and sisters having departed this life several years ago, some many years in advance of him. He was the oldest of the family, and Mrs. Harter the youngest. He is now gathered with them. His funeral took place at Pinegrove Mills, on Tuesday forenoon, 12th, and was very largely attended by a wide circle of relatives and friends. His wife died some forty years ago, he remaining a widower since his bereavement. Thus a good man has gone, at an age that few are favored with. He was the father of six children, of whom four survive him, namely Michael F., of near Boalsburg, Jonathan, of Williamsport, Mrs. Fred. Bortoff and Mrs. Stover.

Mr. Hess was elected a county commissioner over a third of a century ago, without having sought the office, and proved a highly efficient commissioner. His favorite past-time was hunting deer in the fall, at which he was an expert, and many of the feet-footed fell at his unerring aim. The past few years he had to forego the temptations of a hunter, from rheumatic afflictions. He was a farmer by occupation, and has resided on his farm near Pinegrove Mills upwards of sixty years. Peace to his ashes.

General Irvin Gregg, a distinguished soldier of the war with Mexico and the late war, died at his residence in Washington, on the 6th inst., in his 66th year. General Gregg has resided there since he was retired from active service. He served in the Second Pennsylvania volunteers in the Mexican war, rising to the rank of captain.

At the beginning of the late war he volunteered with the Fifth Pennsylvania reserves, but he was soon transferred to the regular service and afterward became colonel of the Sixteenth Pennsylvania cavalry. In the fight at Deep Bottom he was wounded in the wrist, and he was again wounded at Amelia Springs in 1865. At the close of the war he was breveted major general. This made his fourth promotion for gallant services between 1861 and 1865. After the war he had command of the troops in Southwestern Virginia, and was afterward sent to Louisiana as inspector of freedmen. In July 1868, he was appointed colonel of the Eighth United States cavalry, and served as such until 1878, when he was retired as a result of a severe affliction of the knee joint, received two years previous.

General Gregg was well-known in Centre county, and some eight years ago operated the ore banks near Centre Hill. He was a brother of Col. Andrew Gregg, of this place. He was tall of stature, finely built, and straight. He was a gentleman of excellent qualities and culture.

General Gregg was born in Potter township, this county, at the Stone mill, some two and a half miles from this place.

He lived at Lewisburg a number of years, and from there removed to Washington. His remains were interred in the Arlington cemetery, opposite Washington.

Insurance Meeting. The annual meeting and election of the Farmers Mutual Fire Insurance Company, of Centre county, was held at Bariges hotel on Monday. The statement of its affairs shows this time-honored company to be on first-class footing. At the election the following directors were unanimously chosen for the ensuing year:

Miles, Samuel Gramly and Daniel Brungart, Haines, John H. Musser, Penn, H. E. Duck, Gregg, S. J. Herring and Major J. B. Fisher, Potter, Samuel Slaek and Fred. Kurtz, Harris, Colonel William McFarlane, Colledge, Jacob Bortoff, Ferguson, H. C. Campbell and J. G. Bailey.

The new board organized by electing the following officers: President: Fred. Kurtz, Vice President: S. J. Herring, Treasurer: William Wolf, Secretary: D. F. Luse.

Beech Creek to Enter Altoona. It is not definitely settled that the Beech Creek and New York Central Railroads are to gain an entrance to Altoona, only 120 miles east of Pittsburg, by the absorption of the stock of the Altoona and Wopsononock Railroad Company. This road now runs to Daugherty's mines and was to have been extended to Frugality, but instead it is now to go to Coalport, where connection will be made with the Cresson and Coalport and Pennsylvania and Northwestern roads, and then to Gazzam, connecting with the Beech Creek Road. The work is being rapidly pushed forward and by next summer the Pennsylvania Company will have a strong rival for its coal-carrying trade.

Fur's Barn in Porter Township Burned. The large barn belonging to the Furst brothers and known as the "Squire William Allison barn," in Porter township, on the Cedar Run road, was destroyed by fire Thursday a. m., a short time after midnight. Report says that not only the barn, but all the contents, including all the live stock except seven head of young cattle, the wagon shed and implements were burned. The tenant of the farm is a man by the name of Enos Bush, whose loss is heavy, as he had no insurance, whatever. Mr. Bush had six head of milch cows and eleven horses, all victims of the conflagration.

The Furst brothers have the following insurance: One thousand on the barn, $900 on the hay and grain, etc., and $300 on the wagon shed.

Home Burned. On Saturday night December 26th, a log dwelling house occupied by Mrs. Sarah Wasson and her three sons, at Huhlersburg, was destroyed by fire. They were awakened during the night by the smoke, and they had but a few moments left to flee for their lives. The flames spread rapidly and nothing could be saved from the little home. There was no insurance and the loss will bear heavily upon these unfortunate ones. They were kindly cared for by friends in that community.

Will Remain. Reports have been circulated the past week that Mr. George B. Brandon, the obliging and accommodating landlord of the Brokerhoff House, Bellefonte, would sever his connection with the hotel in the spring. They were unfounded and no truth in them. Mr. Brandon will remain and cater in the future as before to the traveling public.

Died at Millheim. Mrs. Jessie Kreamer, died at Millheim, on Sunday last, aged about 53 years.

Mingle's shoe store receives new stock every day. Prices are always fair and reasonable.

INQUEST HELD.

THE JURY IMPANELLED RENDER A VERDICT.

The Jury Fails to Find George Weaver and Wife Guilty of Murdering Their Child.

The rumors relative to the death of the nine-months-old child of George Weaver, in the Seven mountains, above Collier's saw mill near Tusseyville, which were current and of which we gave an account last week in these columns, do not appear to have been well-founded from the report of the jury impanelled to render a verdict as to the cause of the death of the child.

The autopsy announced to be held last Wednesday morning at Tusseyville did not take place until in the afternoon. J. S. Houseman, J. P., had been directed by District Attorney Meyer to hold an inquest and the 'Squire arranged for same on Wednesday morning, intending to raise the body and have a postmortem examination made to ascertain if possible, the direct cause of the death of the child, and if same had been inhumanly treated by its parents. He had secured the services of one of Centre Hall's physicians to make the examination, but by some misunderstanding, the inquest was not held in the morning, owing to the non-arrival of the physician. The jury had been summoned, and the body raised from the Zion cemetery, where it was interred, but the inquest was postponed until the afternoon, as no verdict could be rendered without a physician in charge. Mr. Houseman directed a constable to proceed to Pottery Mills and secure the physician at that place, Dr. Alexander, (formerly of Millin county,) to make the examination. The constable returned with the physician and 'Squire Houseman had the following gentlemen sworn in as jury to render a verdict: George Reiber, Levi Stump, Henry Shadow, Reuben W. Colyer, Peter Jordan and David Fye.

The parents of the child could not be found when efforts were made to secure them to attend the inquest. Several other witnesses, were summoned and their testimony taken.

When the examination was made by Dr. Alexander, no bruises of any kind were found on the body of the child, nothing but a small sore on the forehead and this could not be assigned as caused by a blow. Thus all reports of the undertaker, Mr. Henry Rossman, having discovered several bruises and cuts upon the child's head, which were covered with cotton, while placing it in the coffin, are unfounded and not correct, as he himself informs us. It was also reported the father had struck it on the head with a strap this is also not correct. The examination by the physician led him to believe that death was caused by blood poisoning, as the child had a skin disease, eczema, which developed into blood poisoning, and caused its death.

The child had been neglected during its illness and received no treatment whatever to allay the eruptions of the skin and to this the Dr. attributed its death, the jury rendering a verdict accordingly, and that it had not come to its death from blows received from the parents.

The child received inhuman treatment from its parents, as the testimony of Mrs. J. E. Nevel shows and which was corroborated by several other witnesses. She said that some time after the 29th of December, she was at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver. She found the child in a filthy condition, and terribly cut in the face and about the head. Mrs. Weaver, who is a untidy housekeeper, entreated her to take the child home with her and care for it, stating that her husband, George Weaver, would do violence to the child, and probably kill it. She further stated that the half-witted father had whipped the child with a large strap, cutting its head until it bled. He afterwards brutally hit it with his fist causing one of its eyes to become black and blue. Mrs. Nevel took the child, washed it completely and put ointment on its wounds and bound them up. In a few days afterwards the child was taken back to the Weaver hut, and soon after death followed.

This phase of the case is bad enough, and too bad to occur in a civilized community. 'Squire Houseman discharged the jury after their report, and the body was again interred in the cemetery.

A Full Equipment. The REPORTER office received a full and fine equipment of job type of the latest styles and designs, for the execution of all kinds of job work. All old type has been thrown out and their places supplied with new, and we now have a modernly equipped office. Work will be executed with neatness and dispatch. We carry in stock a fine line of wedding invitations, wedding envelopes, cards, letter and note heads, etc., etc., and guarantee our work to be strictly first class,—if in need of anything enumerated give us a call, and we will gladly quote prices.

Boots and shoes of good quality have always been handled at our store. To sell good quality at low prices has been a problem we have worked on for years and have found its solution. Our prices are very low and quality of the best—Powers Shoe Store, Bellefonte.

INQUEST HELD.

THE JURY IMPANELLED RENDER A VERDICT.

The Jury Fails to Find George Weaver and Wife Guilty of Murdering Their Child.

The rumors relative to the death of the nine-months-old child of George Weaver, in the Seven mountains, above Collier's saw mill near Tusseyville, which were current and of which we gave an account last week in these columns, do not appear to have been well-founded from the report of the jury impanelled to render a verdict as to the cause of the death of the child.

The autopsy announced to be held last Wednesday morning at Tusseyville did not take place until in the afternoon. J. S. Houseman, J. P., had been directed by District Attorney Meyer to hold an inquest and the 'Squire arranged for same on Wednesday morning, intending to raise the body and have a postmortem examination made to ascertain if possible, the direct cause of the death of the child, and if same had been inhumanly treated by its parents. He had secured the services of one of Centre Hall's physicians to make the examination, but by some misunderstanding, the inquest was not held in the morning, owing to the non-arrival of the physician. The jury had been summoned, and the body raised from the Zion cemetery, where it was interred, but the inquest was postponed until the afternoon, as no verdict could be rendered without a physician in charge. Mr. Houseman directed a constable to proceed to Pottery Mills and secure the physician at that place, Dr. Alexander, (formerly of Millin county,) to make the examination. The constable returned with the physician and 'Squire Houseman had the following gentlemen sworn in as jury to render a verdict: George Reiber, Levi Stump, Henry Shadow, Reuben W. Colyer, Peter Jordan and David Fye.

The parents of the child could not be found when efforts were made to secure them to attend the inquest. Several other witnesses, were summoned and their testimony taken.

When the examination was made by Dr. Alexander, no bruises of any kind were found on the body of the child, nothing but a small sore on the forehead and this could not be assigned as caused by a blow. Thus all reports of the undertaker, Mr. Henry Rossman, having discovered several bruises and cuts upon the child's head, which were covered with cotton, while placing it in the coffin, are unfounded and not correct, as he himself informs us. It was also reported the father had struck it on the head with a strap this is also not correct. The examination by the physician led him to believe that death was caused by blood poisoning, as the child had a skin disease, eczema, which developed into blood poisoning, and caused its death.

The child had been neglected during its illness and received no treatment whatever to allay the eruptions of the skin and to this the Dr. attributed its death, the jury rendering a verdict accordingly, and that it had not come to its death from blows received from the parents.

The child received inhuman treatment from its parents, as the testimony of Mrs. J. E. Nevel shows and which was corroborated by several other witnesses. She said that some time after the 29th of December, she was at the house of Mr. and Mrs. Weaver. She found the child in a filthy condition, and terribly cut in the face and about the head. Mrs. Weaver, who is a untidy housekeeper, entreated her to take the child home with her and care for it, stating that her husband, George Weaver, would do violence to the child, and probably kill it. She further stated that the half-witted father had whipped the child with a large strap, cutting its head until it bled. He afterwards brutally hit it with his fist causing one of its eyes to become black and blue. Mrs. Nevel took the child, washed it completely and put ointment on its wounds and bound them up. In a few days afterwards the child was taken back to the Weaver hut, and soon after death followed.

This phase of the case is bad enough, and too bad to occur in a civilized community. 'Squire Houseman discharged the jury after their report, and the body was again interred in the cemetery.

A Full Equipment. The REPORTER office received a full and fine equipment of job type of the latest styles and designs, for the execution of all kinds of job work. All old type has been thrown out and their places supplied with new, and we now have a modernly equipped office. Work will be executed with neatness and dispatch. We carry in stock a fine line of wedding invitations, wedding envelopes, cards, letter and note heads, etc., etc., and guarantee our work to be strictly first class,—if in need of anything enumerated give us a call, and we will gladly quote prices.

Boots and shoes of good quality have always been handled at our store. To sell good quality at low prices has been a problem we have worked on for years and have found its solution. Our prices are very low and quality of the best—Powers Shoe Store, Bellefonte.

JOHN R. LEE.

A Respected Citizen of Centre Hill is Called to His Last Resting Place.

On Sunday morning last, January 10th, the angel of death came and relieved Mr. John R. Lee, an aged and highly respected citizen of Centre Hill, of his suffering.

The deceased had been in poor health for several years, but was not confined to his bed or unable to be about, and could do light chores about his residence, until about one week previous to his death, he was seized in the clutches of that fatal disease, la grippe, caught a cold, and a few days later pneumonia set in which finally ended his earthly pilgrimage.

Mr. Lee was aged 74 years, 6 months and 12 days. He was the father of eleven children, eight boys and three girls, two of his sons having preceded him to the dim beyond, they were, William H. Lee, who died in 1864 and Robert, who also died in 1864. The surviving sons and daughters are: Mrs. Simon Ruble, of Iona, Kansas; Mrs. Mary Royer, of Nittany; Dr. George L. Lee, of Madisonburg; John H. Lee, of Tusseyville; Mrs. Emma Stemm, Boalsburg; James W. Lee, Centre Hall; Franklin D. Lee, Old Fort; Hiram Lee, Potters Mills, and Felix Lee, of Latrobe, Pa. There is left a sorrowing wife and nine children and twenty-two grand children.

Interment will be made in the Centre Hill cemetery on this morning, Thursday, at nine o'clock.

Tyrons Dynamite Scare. Early in the morning of Dec. 30th, the residents of Tyrona were startled by two muffled explosions, followed a few minutes later by a fire alarm. When the firemen ran to the engine house they found a stranger there who told them the fire was out. They stood around talking about it when a second alarm was sounded. They responded this time and found that the stable of the Clearfield hotel had been blown up and, with several surrounding stables, was in flames. In all six stables, eight head of horses and other property were destroyed. The greatest excitement prevails, as it is feared by the people that an organized effort to destroy the town is being made.

Oil in Place of Snow or Ice. Lumbering operations are being greatly impeded as a result of the openness of the winter. In order to get the logs into the streams, the operators are resorting to crude oil as a substitute for snow and ice. The skidways and slides are thoroughly greased, and by this means the greatly delayed work is being pushed forward as rapidly as possible. Lumbermen say that unless there is a favorable change in the weather soon, it will be necessary to work night and day in order to complete the job. On Pine Creek, Daniel Kavanaugh, who has 60,000,000 feet of logs to handle, is doing all his work with oil. This is one of the last resorts in lumber operations in the woods.

The Horse Frightened. On last Thursday evening, Dr. Jacobs received a call from Pleasant Gap. He had only gone a few rods from his home ascending the mountain, when his horse frightened and made a sudden spring to the side of the road, precipitating the sleigh down a high embankment below the residence of Samuel Rowe. The sleigh was badly broken up but the doctor was not injured. He then made the trip in a buggy.

Died at Bellefonte. Harold, the fifteen-year-old son of Mr. and Mrs. John P. Harris, of Bellefonte, died on Saturday afternoon, Jan. 2nd, of Bright's disease. Only a few months have elapsed since the death of their daughter, Mrs. Nannie Weaver, of Clearfield, and the death of their son is a sad blow to the grief stricken parents. Harold was largely connected with temperance and religious works.

Wedding Invitations, etc. We have received a fine line of type, suitable for printing wedding invitations, etc., and carry in stock finest grades of paper for same. Our work we guarantee as first-class and at low prices.

He Insulted Her. A Harrisburg young girl who wears a tiny, tinkling bell on her garter, reported to her father that the family physician had insulted her with the request, "Please let me see your tongue." The parent is pondering.—Patriot.

Powers, Bellefonte, handles all grades of heavy winter boots and shoes and as for prices, no cheaper can be purchased anywhere else. A trial is asked.

Don't Quarrel. With people for growning when they suffer with Rheumatism or Neuralgia: the pain is simply terrible; no ancient torture was more painful; but people ought to be blamed if having Rheumatism or Neuralgia and won't use Red Flag Oil, it has cured hundreds of sufferers and costs only 25 cents at J. D. Murray's Drug Store.

Grain Market. CORRECTED WEEKLY BY KURTZ & SON

Wheat	88
Rye	70
Oats	47
Barley	48
Buckwheat	45

Produce at Stores

Butter	20
Eggs	20
Lard	10
Shoulders	8
Ham	12
Tallow	4
Potatoes	20
Sides	8