ROBBERS FOILED

AN ATTEMPT MADE TO ROB THE BANK.

Two Men Foiled in their Attempts to Loot The Penns Valley Bank. Three Shots Fired at Them.

Last night about one o'clock, this end of town was awakened from its slumbers by the report of a revolver, but to many this was a slight significance until this morning when the report of the attempted robbery of the Penns Valley Bank was heard.

About one o'clock this morning, Clem Deininger, clerk in the bank, was awakened from his sleep by the barking of a dog in Wolf & Crawford's store. Clem sleeps in the private room | ty Pa; Clara B. He opened the back door and fired two shots into the air to alarm the town. Those awakened by the reports saw the retreating forms of two men, who ran up to Hoffer street and then down. Pursuit was not given and the men easily escaped.

It was an exceedingly narrow escape for the man at the window, as the ball went through both sash and struck the iron window catch otherwise the robber would have been plunked fair in the faco.
