LYON & CO., BELLEFONTE.

A NEW RAILROAD.

It Will Extend Along the Southern Border of Blair County.

For some time past a corps of Pennsylvania railroad engineers have been busily engaged locating a road from Mount Dallas, Bedford county, on the Bedford division of the Pennsylvania railroad, to Petersburg, Huntingdon county, on the main line. The new road will pass through Woodburg, Loysburg, Henrietta and Cove Eorge, making a connection with the Williamsburg branch of the Altoona division at the last name place.

It will extend directly through the well known Morrison's Cove, one of the best agricultural sections of the state, and will afford the farmers of this valley better facilities for transporting their produce to market than they at present enjoy. It will also be the means of opening up large stone quarries and the vast deposits of valuable iron ore along its route.

From Bedford county to Cove Forge the road bed will follow the stream known as Clover Creek, which is well stocked with fish and a famous retreat for speckled trout. From Cove Forge to Petersburg the road will, for a portion of the distance, follow the windings of the blue Juniata.
