St. Johns, the Capital of Newfoundland Wiped Out by Fire.

This city has been almost entirely destroyed by fire. The loss is placed at $20,000,000. The following streets were wiped out: Military road, Duckworth street, Prescott street, Queen's road, Cochrane street, Gower street, King's road, Cathedral Hill and Long's Hill.

The Masonic Temple, Orange Hall, St. Patrick's Hall, the English Cathedral, the Athenaeum, the Kirk, the Commercial Bank, the Atlantic Hotel and Linberg's Brewery all fell prey to the flames. The English Cathedral was a magnificent structure, and was considered to be the finest piece of Gothic architecture on this continent.

It Should Be in Every House.

J. B. Wilson, 371 Clay St., Sharpshurg, Pa., says he will not be without Dr. King's New Discovery for Consumption, Coughs and Colds, that it cured his wife who was threatened with Pncemonia after an attack of "La Grippe," when various other remedies and physicians had done her no good. Robert Barber, of Cooksport, Pa., claims Dr. King's New Discovery has done him more good than anything he ever used for Lung Trouble. Nothing like it. Try it. Free Trial Bottle at J. D. Murray's Drug Store. Large bottles, 50c. and $1.00.

Colonel Case's Threat.

Before Company C. of Columbia, left that place for Harrisburg yesterday morning Colonel Case, commander of the Fourth regiment, made a brief speech to the men, during which he said that he had heard that several members of the company had said that they would hand their muskets to the strikers if they got into a conflict. The colonel declared with great emphasis that the first man he saw doing such an act he would shoot dead on the spot. His remarks were loudly cheered by the company.

At some of the stations between Scranton and Northumberland the soldiers were hooted.

Events finally reached such a stage that Governor Pattison, on Sunday last called out the state troops and they at once were transported to Homestead to preserve order and put the owners of the mills in the possession of their property, and if the rioters resist the troops they will fare badly. It was not believed that the troops would be resisted, but possibly, if they returned to their homes, the late workers would again rise and attempt to drive the non-union men out of the mills. Thus matters stood up to Monday.

If Carnegie made twenty-five millions under protection, it is evident he was protected too much; and as protection is cried out to be for the benefit of labor, it is just as evident that labor, has been cheated out of its share of protection. The laboring man is beginning to realize that protection is a sham so far as it affects him.

A carpenter by the name of M. S. Powers fell from the roof of a house in East Des Moines, Iowa, and sustained a painful and serious sprain of the wrist, which he cured, with one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. He says it is worth $5 a bottle. It cost him 50 cents. For sale by J. D. Murray, Drugist.

THE TROOPS OUT.

PENNSYLVANIA'S ENTIRE NATIONAL GUARD ORDERED TO HOMESTEAD.

Governor Pattison received Monday a message from Sheriff McCleary of Alleghany county, stating that he could not maintain peace at Homestead, and making a formal demand upon the governor for troops.

Adjutant General Greenland, Major General Snowden and Quartermaster General O. E. McClellan were hastily summoned, and after a short council of war Governor Pattison, as commander in chief of the National Guard, ordered General Snowden to place the entire division, consisting of about 8,000 men, under arms and go to Homestead to restore order.

Sheriff McCleary was also notified that the National Guard had been ordered to his support.

The Homestead Mills.

The Homestead Steel and Iron Works, which have been since Wednesday in undisputed possession of the striking iron workers are the largest mills of their class in the world.

Their product is more valuable than that of the world famous Krupp works at Essen, Germany, which have the patronage and support of the German Empire. Homestead is on the south bank of the Monongahela River, opposite the eastern boundary of the city eight miles from Pittsburgh City Hall by railroad.

The plant is the greatest structural plate and armor mills in the world. It could not be duplicated for less than $6,000,000. Nearly $2,000,000 has been spent in improvements in the past year. Here are employed 3,800 men.

ALL IRON WORKERS IN THE TOWN.

The city of Homestead of nearly 10,000 people, is almost entirely populated by workers in the mill and their families.

The buildings are all constructed of soft firebrick, roofed and trussed with steel. The hoisting apparatus of the plant consist of numerous hydraulic cranes, some of which will raise and deposit anywhere within the arc of the circle which it describes a weight of 200 tons—equal to eight car loads.

The people of Homestead as a class—and most of the people of Homestead were employees in Andrew Carnegie's mill—welcome the advent of the National Guard. They realized early in struggle that sooner or later the military forces of the Commonwealth would be called upon. They are not rioters, they are not Anarchists. No one has ever suggested that the mill property be blown up or that damage to any property be done. Their sole determination has been that armed Pinkerton detectives and non-union workmen should never be permitted to occupy the great mill plant.

"No one shall run that mill except the workmen of Homestead" has been the alpha and omega of their platform. They have stuck so close to this one idea that even the shooting and killing of last Wednesday, the twelve-hour bombardment of the two barges and the subsequent capture of the Pinkerton detectives and their delivery into the hands of the sheriff, were unaccompanied by any destruction of private property or the rioting which generally accompanies such a stirring day. The detectives were kicked and cuffed and clubbed and struck with stones, on their way from the mill to the lock-up, it is true. But no one was killed and outsider was injured except those citizens of the town who interfered to protect the detectives from the rabble of women and cowardly men which could not resist the impulse to show its hatred of the Pinkerton system.

HATRED OF THE PINKERTONS.

The greatest fear of the Homestead citizens was that the hated Pinkerton forces should appear. No power on earth could have prevented a battle. Even with the entire military force of the State hovering over them, with the soldiers' guns aimed low and the batteries ready to open fire, the millworkers were ready to meet an attack from the hired thugs, whom they hate with a hatred so deadly that only the Indian's feeling towards his foe can compare with it.

And even while the leaders were making their pacific speeches in the rink and the mill workers and laborers were cheering the name of Gov. Robert E. Pattison to the echo, there came a report that large parties of the Pinkertons had been seen on the hills to the south of here some three miles away. Their hearts sank within them as they thought of the effect upon the men of Homestead should the news prove true or even should the report be generally spread. The greatest pains were taken to keep the matter quiet and scouting parties were sent out with great secrecy.

Fortunately the alarm proved false, as so many similar ones have before, and no evil effects followed.

DRUNKENNESS PREVAILS.

A story has been put in circulation at Homestead that Sheriff McCleary proposes to arrest Hugh O'Donnell and about half a dozen other leaders of the locked out men. No authority for the rumor has been given and friends of the sheriff say that it is not true, but some of the men who have been named are uneasy and anxious about the sheriff's intentions. It is also said that early Wednesday morning a movement will be made toward manning the mill. Mr. Chitt and Manager Potter had a long conference with the sheriff Tuesday afternoon but neither of the three will say anything about the reason or the result of their deliberations. It is intimated, however, that a vigorous line of action has been determined upon. Despite the proclamation of the burges calling upon the saloons to close they have done a thriving business all day long, and are at this writing crammed to repletion. There are not so many soldiers in them, but a great many of the workmen for the first time since the battle of Wednesday are drinking heavily. There have been two or three fights, some of them serious, and a great deal of wild talk. The leaders seem, to some extent at least, to have lost control, and were it not for the strong hand of the militia everywhere in evidence, Wednesday night would witness some curious scenes.

A report is in circulation that an attempt to install non-union workmen in the Homestead mill will be immediately followed by a general strike of union men in all the other Carnegie mills. When it is known that the Homestead mills are less than one-eighth of the vast Carnegie interests the importance of a general strike may be appreciated. They employ about 13,000 men.

A Pinkerton's Story.

One of them told a reporter a thrilling story of their experience on the barges.

"It was a place of torment," said he. "Men were lying around wounded and bleeding and piteously begging for some one to give them a drink of water but no one dared to get a drop although water all around us. We dared not move for fear of sharpshooters on shore. We were hungry, too, although there was plenty to eat on the barges, but the fear of being shot in going for it overcame the gnawings of hunger. And then the booming of the cannon, the bursting of dynamite bombs, the burning oil on the river and the yells and shouts on the shore made our position and tortures appalling. It is a wonder we did not all go crazy or commit suicide. Some of the men were greatly affected, and on the way here one man became crazy and kept shouting: 'Oh, don't kill me, for God's sake, don't kill me,' and when near Cleveland he jumped from the train, and it is said was killed."

"Did any of the men tell you how they happened to go to Homestead?" "I talked to a number of them and they nearly all said they had been misled and many of them seemed to bitterly repent having gone into the service at all, but you could not get one of them back there if you give him the whole steel works."

Estimating the Cost.

Calculation on the Expense of the National Guard in its Present Trip to the Scene of Trouble at Homestead, Pa.

The cost of sending the state militia to Homestead will be about $21,000 a day in round numbers. This amount must be raised by state taxes; but the bulk of it will come from manufacturers, who are the heaviest taxpayers, and the increase to individuals, if any, will be but trifling. Taking as a standard a recent encampment for one day, the cost was as follows:

Table with 2 columns: Item and Cost. Major general $15,000; Brigadier general $5,000; Colonel $2,500; Lieutenant colonel $1,000; Captain $500; First lieutenant $250; Second lieutenant $125; Sergeant $62.50; Corporal $31.25; Private $15.625.

In addition to this can be added $25,000 for transportation, which will be about the correct amount, as it cost that much to transport the troops to and from the annual encampment.

There are 8,470 enlisted men and fully 8,000 have responded to the governor's call. Of this number, 600 are commissioned officers. The pay of the members of the National guard of the state per day is given below.

Table with 2 columns: Rank and Pay per day. Major general $25; Brigadier general $15; Colonel $12; Lieutenant colonel $10.33; Major $7.50; Captain $5; First lieutenant $4.17; Second lieutenant $2.75; Sergeant $2.25; Corporal $1.75; Private $1.25.

Wherein He Violates.

An exchange says: "All who deal in cigars would do well to study the law enacted by the last Congress in regard to their sale. Section 5,692 of revised statutes says that cigars must be sold to the customer directly from the properly stamped box. A dealer who takes a handful of cigars and lays them before the buyer, to choose from, or saloon keeper who brings a customer a cigar on a plate or in a glass, makes himself liable to a fine of $100."

Cholera infantum has lost its terrors since the introduction of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. When that remedy is used and the treatment as directed with each bottle is followed, a cure is certain. Mr. A. W. Walters, a prominent merchant at Waltersburg, Ill., says: "It cured my baby boy of cholera infantum after several other remedies had failed. The child was so low that he seemed almost beyond the aid of human hands or reach of any medicine." 25 and 50 cent bottles for sale by J. D. Murray Drugist.

Mr. Van Pelt, Editor of the Craig, Mo., Meteor, went to a drug store at Hillsdale, Iowa, and asked the physician in attendance to give him a dose of something for cholera morbus and looseness of the bowels. He says: "I felt so much better the next morning that I concluded to call on the physician and get him to fix me up a supply of the medicine. I was surprised when he handed me a bottle of Chamberlain's Colic, Cholera and Diarrhoea Remedy. He said he prescribed it regularly in his practice and found it the best he could get or prepare. I can testify to its efficiency in my case at all events." For sale by J. D. Murray, Drugist.
