THE TORNADO'S WORK.

It Cuts Its Swath Through the South and West.

A Family of Eleven Roasted to Death in Their Cabin.

Passengers arriving at Meridian, Miss., gave particulars of a frightful storm that crossed Jasper and Clarke counties. It began thirty-five miles south of Meridian and raveled in a northwesterly direction. A setdement of negro cabins was destroyed and many of the inmates perished. Colonel Berry's plantation was swept clean and several colored persons were badly hurt. From this point to Barnett, thirty miles south, the storm was especially severe. Dr. T. J. Krouse one of the largest plantation owners in the South, was a heavy loser. Every stick of dimber on his place was carried away and every house demolished. Dr. Krouse was oadly injured. His son had his skull crushed and his wife and daughter were slightly

On this plantation Henry German, colored his wife and nine children were imprisoned under the ruins of their cabin, and fire, beginning at the kitchen stove, slowly roasted the family to death.

Three miles east of Barnett the wind struck a number of farms. Thomas Lot's dwelling was swept away, his legs were broken and members of his family were bruised. John Smith's house was leveled and he received serious injuries, Frank McCormick's turpen-tine still was ruined. B. F. Legget's store was destroyed and his stock of merchandise is now hanging in shreds upon the branches of the forest trees. Legget's wife and children were buried in the ruins, which caught fire, but were rescued by neighbors. A little further on three cabins were struck. Two colored men were killed and several badly

Twenty miles east of Barnett the storm crossed the Memphis and Ohio Bailroad track tearing down three miles of telegraph wires and distructing the track. The poles and wires along five miles of the track of the New Orleans and Northeastern Railroad are North of Shuberta havoc was created among the cabins on the different plantations. All along the 30 miles of the cyclone's path are strewn the carcasses of horses, cattle and all descriptions of live stock, while crops are ruined. MURDER IN A PRISON.

A Convict Attacks Other Prisoners and Kills Two of Them.

John Johnson, who is known as the "Blue Nig ger" from Clyde, run amuck in the broomshop of Auburn Prison, Auburn, N. Y. He was armed with a sharp knife used in cutting broom corn, and first attacked Charles Peck, a fellow convict from Westchester county. Leaving him dead in his tracks, he next stabled Daniel Brinton, another prisoner. the blade entering Brinton's stomach and causing death in an hour. Johnson stabbed right and left while he was at liberty, and several other convicts suffered severe cuts. The blade of Johnson's knife was broken off during the melee and cannot be found. He directed a victous blow at Keeper Mitchell after the blade had been broken but it did not penetrate his clothing. The keeper drew his revolver, but just us he pulled the trigger somebody hit his arm and the ball went wide of its mark. It frightened Johnson into surrendering, however, and he made no further realstance. He was taken to the further resistance. He was taken to the prison jail.

The cause of the crouble is said to have been an old grudge held by Johnson against a number of convicts in the shop, and he made a threat that as soon as Capt. Baker had a day off he would do up the shop. Baker was not on duty and Johnson started in early to carry out his threat.

Johnson was first sentenced to Auburn in 1885 for ten years for assault in the first degree. He was released a year ago, but was arrested at the gate after a desperate struggle, and was taken back to Ciyde for trial on other indictments. He came back on a sentence of four years.

MANY APPOINTMENTS.

President Cleveland Made More Than Any of His Predecessors.

A comparison of the work and duration of the extra session which has just closed with corresponding extra sessions called at the beginning of the late administration and at the commencement of Mr. Cleveland's first presidential term shows that, contrary to the generally prevailing opinion, Mr. Cleveland in the session which has just closed has broken the record and made more appointments to office than any of his predecessors, exceeding the appointments of Mr. Harrison during the same time by more than 25. The extra sessions of 1885 and 1889 adjourned on the 2d of April, while the recent session continued until the 15th of April. In the matter of appointment of United States ministers to foreign ports. Mr. Harrison took the lead, appointing 22 out of total of 35, while Mr. Cleveland nominated at his first term 17. and withdrew 1, and at his second terra. 16. It is noticeable that two of the important places—Russia and Italy—have not been filled, nor did Mr. Cleveland fill the former during his first term, until after the recess

In 1885 Mr. Cleveland appointed the ministers to the following powers: Denmark, Netherlands, Peru, Turkey, Japan, Mexico, Brazil, Italy, Russia, Portugal, France, Hawaii, Sweden and Norway, Great Britain, Germany and Chili. His nominee to Russia was Mr. A. R. Lawton, but his name was withdrawn from the Senate and not returned. This left sixteen nominations for places of this rank, and it is an incident worthy of notice that exactly that same number have been n time, but not to the same powers. Durin the session just ended Mr. Cleveland nom nated and the Senate confirmed ministers to Austria-Hungary. the following countries: Beigium, Chili, Denmark, France, Germany, Great Britain, Guatemala and Honduras, Greece, Roumania and Servia, Japan, Mexico. Nicaragua, Costa Rica and Salvador, Peru.

Switzerland, Spain and Turkey.

Mr. Harrison nominated and the Senate confirmed the ministers to the following countries: Brazil, Colombia, Corea, Denmark, Chili, Austria-Hungary, Peru Portugal, Great Britain, Central American States, Spain, Italy, France, Russia, Mexico, Japan. zueia, Sweden, and Norway, Netherlands, Belgium and Switzerland. He also nomi-nated Mr. Murat Halstead. of Ohio, to be minister to Germany, but the Senate reje the nomination. This made a total of twenty-one nominations bonfirmed. During his first term Mr. Cleveland sent to the extraordinary session of the Senate the names of ten of his nominees for corsuls and consuls general; Mr. Harrison four, and at the last session Mr. Cleveland got rid of twenty-three such appointments. Although Mr. Cieveland leaped away ahead of his previous record in the appointment of postmas-ters, he did not come up with the record made by his predecessor, and that, too, not-withst adding there have been a large number of offices recently raised to the dignity of presidential offices. In 1885, Mr. Cleveland named sixty-five such postmasters, and this year 113; Mr. Harrison found time to install

In the other departments of the govern-ment the nominations acted upon by the Senate in extra session were as here indi-

Judicial—Mr. Cleveland, first term, 6, second term, 34; Mr. Harrison, 28. Mr. Harrison appointed 18 men to office in the Interior Department, in-cluding the governors and secretaries of the territories, some of which became states dur-ing his administration, and from the State Department sent in the names of 13 officials, the majority being delegates to the American Republics' Congress. From the Interior De-partment Mr. Cleveland this time sent in the names of 13 officials, and from the State Department but 3. In Mr. Cleveland's first term he had nine nominations unacted upon, withdrew one and had two rejected. This time he withdrew one and had seven left over without action by the Senate. Mr. Harrison withdrew three of his nominees, had two rejected, and the Senate adjourned without acting on him others.

TO CHANGE THE CAPITAL.

Louisville Working to be Made the

ZANTE'S ISLAND SHAKEN.

Earthquake Shocks Carry Death and Destruction Before Them.

The Principal City's Almost Total Demolition.

The Island of Zante, one of the principal Ionian Islands, was visited by a most destructive earthquake, resulting in great loss of life and property. In February and March last the island sustained a vast amount of disturbances and a large number of lives were lost. The shock appears to have been most violent in the city of Zante, the greater part of which was destroyed. The people are panic stricken and the authorities helpless. The streets are impassable, being filled with masses of stone and timber, the wreckage of the houses which were thrown down by the earthquake.

TWENTY BODIES RECOVERED.

Thus far the bodies of twenty persons killed by falling walls have been removed from the debris and it is feared many more dead are still in the ruins. The number of persons injured runs into the bundreds. Everything is in confusion and the work of searching for bodies and for the injured cannot be pursued systematically. The greater portion of the inhabitants have fled to the plains back of the city, where they wander about in a distracted manner bewalling the loss of their homes and prop-

A large number of tents that were taken to Zante to shelter the people who were ren-dered homeless by the former earthquakes have been again set up and under them s of the women and children have taken

A SCENE OF DESOLATION.

The city presents a scene of desolation and it is doubtful if it ever recovers from the series of misfortunes that have befallen it within the past three months. There is bound to be an enormous amount of suffering, and outside aid will be urgently required to prevent sickness and starvation. The shock occurred at 7:30 A. M. Most of the buildings that stood erect after the shocks of February and March were either thrown down or shattered so as to be unsafe for occupancy. The church of St. Dionysius and the Government offices were thrown down. Advices from the interior show that the whole island has been devastated.

Many villages have been destroyed, and it is the thought that the loss of life has been very great. News of the disaster comes in very slowly, as communications with the interior of the island has been greatly inter-rupted by the destruction of many of the telegraph lines. The full extent of the calamity cannot be estimated at present.

War ships will be dispatched from the Pireaus with clothing, provisions and medicine for the sufferers.

THE SCENE OF THE QUAKE. The Island of Zante is situated in the Ionian Sea and is one of the Ionian group. It is twenty-five miles long, about twelve broad, and has an area of 277 square miles. Its population is about 50,000. The capital, Zante, which has just suffered so severely, has over 16,000 inhabitants, and is the seat of a Greek Archbishop and of a Roman Catholic Bishop. It lies on the plain at the foot of a mountain, upon which is still seen the fort built by the Venetions centuries ago. The town has a safe harbor, with a lighthouse and quarantine station, and many churches. The houses occupy the gentle slopes rising from a semicircular bay. A hill called the Skopos, probably the Elatos of the ancients, to the south, rises to a height of 1300 feet, at the top of which is a monastery that commands an extensive panorama

In the late George I. Seney, of New York and Brooklyn, there died a philanthropist whom perhaps Western art collectors knew better than Western business men. A years he was thought to be worth $7,000,000 ago he was thought to have given away as much he is believed to have given away as much as $2,060,000. Wesleyan University, with $550,000, was the largest beneficiary. He was a student there, though not a graduate. In 1855 he sold 285 paintings at auction, realing $406,940. He made his wealth in banking. He was also interested in railroads.

G. WILFRED PEARCE, of New Brunswick, N. J., has issued an address to the electricians of the country, asking them to raise money to put the tombs of Benjamin Frank-lin and his wife in good order, erect a new fence and a bronze memorial tablet. At present the graves are sadly neglected, the tomb stones going to decay because of the lack of cement, and the fence about them an ugly and tawdry iron one. He says: "The estimated cost of repairing tomb and making fence and tablet is $1,000, and in order that all may contribute I would suggest that 10 cents be the sum from each subscriber. If there are others who care to give larger sums an endowment fund will be created and the income devoted to keeping the tomb in re-pair for many years to come."

General Lew Wallace has returned to his home in Indiana after a season spent in the South. He appears to be in excellent health, and a Cincinnati reporter who interviewed him when he passed through that city was impressed by his "unmistakable military air, florid complextion, and splendid physique." Advancing years have sprinkled the soldier-author's beard plentifully with gray. General Wallace has with him, for final revision, the proof-sheets of his new book, "The Prince of India 1 or, Why Constantinople Fell," on which he has spent nearly five years of careful work. He has taken far greater pains with it than he took with "Ben Hur," and has devoted especial attention to the historical accuracy of the story, which deals with the separation of the story, which deals with the separation of the Greek and Latin churches. The volume will be issued by the Harpers within two months and will be 120 pages longer than "Ben Hur."
