—Rev. W. J. Wagner and wife arrived last Saturday, and are now domiciled at the cozy home of Mr. Arthur Kerlin. For the present they will make their home in Centre Hall.

—Ex-Commissioner John Wolf, of near Rebersburg, was in town on Monday, and gave our sanctum a call, and reports much sickness in Brush Valley. He was accompanied by his daughter, Miss Winnie Wolf.

—We are sorry to learn that James M. Goodhart, who was injured in the back in the railroad run-in which occurred near Vandylke some weeks ago, is in a bad way. After the wreck he was confined to the house for some time, but latterly has been able to move about slowly and last week went to Philadelphia for treatment, when the physician told him his spine was affected and he could do nothing for him. All his friends will be sorry to learn this as he is a first-rate fellow and it was hoped the injury was only temporary and that he would soon recover.—Lewistown Gazette.

Pushing The Town.

The Bellefonte Board of Trade has been very active of late in pushing business interests of the capital. Several new and important industries are on the string among them being the Watsonson car works, which desire a new location. Every one hopes they will get all they want and more too.

STRUCK BY THE ENGINE.

A Young Lady While Walking on the Railroad is Badly Hurt.

The danger of walking on the bed of a railroad was again proven on last Saturday afternoon after the 2.15 train east had left Bellefonte. A little distance this side the furnace there is a sharp curve and just as the train had reached the centre of it the fireman suddenly noticed a lady on the track walking towards the train, and only a short distance ahead; he instantly hollered "whoa" and the whistle and breaks were applied, but too late, the engine struck her, knocking her off the track onto the edge of the bank among stones. The train was stopped and the lady was picked up unconscious; fortunately Dr. Hayes, of Bellefonte, was on the train, and upon examination he found one leg broken between the knee and ankle, the bones protruding; on the one side of the face beginning from the eye upwards there was broad wound while on the forehead the entire scalp was laid bare. She was lifted into the baggage car, a few spoonfuls of whisky were administered which revived her at once. It was learned then that the lady's name was Maggie Miller, a daughter of William Miller, who lives just over the hill on the west side of the railroad near where the accident happened. The young lady is about 24 years old and almost deaf which accounts for her not hearing the approaching train, and being just around on the other side of the curve it was impossible for the engineer to see her in time to stop the train. The train was moved about 30 rods further to opposite the toll-gate whither some of the passengers went and hurriedly returned with a lounge and pillows and removed her the toll house. We learn since that the lady's other leg, one arm and a hand were also broken. Prospects for her recovery are doubtful. N. B.—The young lady died on Tuesday night from her injuries.

A Boss on the Ranch.

Our neighbor Huyett has a Texas steer among the bovines on his Linden Hall ranch, which can boss the premises like a veritable tycoon, and occasionally gives free exhibitions of his qualities, but a looker-on needs be up a tree when the performance begins. The Texan can run, jump, rip, tear and snort equal to anything that ever wore horns, not excepting Old Nick. Fences, stables, and such, offer no obstruction to his will, and when he goes it is on a perfect B line, regardless of what's in the way, and no stable will hold him when his mind is made up to have fine outdoor exercise. A Texan rowdy like this one ought to make pretty fair boulogna without mixing any dog in.

A Grave Error.

It is surprising how many parents there are in Centre Hall who seemingly allow their children to remain away from school, and along with this number a lot who play truant about three days out of the week. With the latter class the school board should take a hand and secure a good attendance or expel them from the school. Any day in the week will show a number of school boys loitering about the shops and business places trying to keep from under the eyes of their parents, and from school.

The Sick.

Jared Kramer, of Rebersburg, who has been down several weeks of typhoid fever, is slowly recovering. Martin Brungart, aged 80 years, one of Miles township's oldest citizens, is quite ill with little hope for his recovery. George Charles, of Aaronsburg, who has been an invalid for nearly a year, is in a precarious condition.

Dissolutions.

The well-known lawfirm of Beaver, Gephart & Dale, has been dissolved by the retirement of J. W. Gephart, who will give his entire attention to the management of the new railroad. The firm of G. H. & P. P. Long, in the store business at Spring Mills and Potters Mills, has been dissolved, as will be seen by their card in another column.

The Value of Advertising.

An exchange tells of a woman who bought a new-fangled coffee pot from a peddler. In the evening she showed to her husband, a hardware dealer, who told her he kept the same thing in his store for half the price she paid. "Well," said she, "why don't you advertise? Nobody ever knows what you have for sale."

Awards Received.

The Pennsylvania mining exhibit at the World's Fair, arranged by Prof. Reber, of Bellefonte, received more awards by nearly half than any other state exhibit there.

Don't Forget the New Store.

—Don't forget the new store on the hill, for bargains, originator of low prices.—C. P. Long & Co.

—Ladies coats a specialty. This day received a larger invoice from the factory. Come and see them and find how cheap and you will buy.—C. P. Long & Co.

SHOOTS A HORSE.

An Amusing Incident Down in Brush Valley.

A serio-comic affair took place down in Miles township, a few mornings ago, which has hardly yet been paralleled in its line as to the ludicrous and serious, the actor being a scarce 6 year old tottler of Ira Brungart one of the best farmers in that section. Mr. Brungart has living with him a young hired man, named Bierly, who had permission to keep a horse of his own on the farm, the animal having its regular stall in the stables. Young Bierly, a few days ago, hitched his horse in a buggy and drove on a visit to his parents, a few miles distant, returning late at night, with a horse exchanged for another belonging to his father, and thinking he might sell it to Mr. Brungart. The horse was that night put into the stall in which Bierly had kept his own horse.

The next morning the lad happened to wander into one of the fodder gangs and in Bierly's stall he spies a strange horse, in the place of the one he was used to seeing there, and naturally the lad concluded the strange horse must be a tramp, an intruder, and that he would attend to him. Some farmers are in the habit of keeping a loaded gun in their barns for an emergency and such was the case here. The lad knew where the gun was and he got it; with some effort he got it up to rest on the manger, and set the hammer; the horse instinctively brot his nose close to the muzzle to take the smell, and the little fellow pulled the trigger. The result was a pretty bad hurt along the one side of the horse's snout, while the recoil kicked the juvenile Nimrod sprawling into the fodder gang.

The veterinary feels confident he can heal the wound received by the horse. Observe The Rules. Anna M. Victor, of Uniontown, sued the Pennsylvania Railroad Company for $50,000 damages. When the testimony was all in Judge Ewing refused to allow the case to go to the jury and recorded a verdict for the company, the rule being that a person cannot claim damages for injuries received in getting off a moving train. There is a notice on the door of every car to the effect that passengers must not attempt to leave the car until it comes to a stop. If any one neglects the notice and attempts to leave the car before it stops, and is injured in the operation, he cannot receive damages for injuries sustained.

Short Items for All. The last squeeze for cider was had at Luce's mill on Tuesday. Eggs are very scarce this fall, and altho the roosters crow over election majorities still the hens won't lay. The weather continues fine, with cool nights and frosty mornings. The roads are fine all around in spite of the supervisors. Thanks to good weather for it. The leaves have pretty nearly all dropped and next will be the snow-flakes. Some are predicting a mild winter. It dont cost anything to predict unless you bet on't. It is wise to advertise in the REPORTER, because everybody reads it. Painter D. F. Luce is putting the finishing stripes on Barges' hotel. John Krumbine is penciling the finishing touches on Harper & Kramer's new store porch.

A Large Tree.

While in town last week Ellis McCracken told us of a pine tree cut by his men in Jordan township that contained 6,965 feet. The tree measured 150 feet and was cut in ten logs, 7 sixteens, 1 fourteen and 2 twelves. It required two men four hours to cut it down and saw it up, and two men four hours to peel it. This is quite a tree for Clearfield county, considering the best timber has long since been cut, and we doubt if there are any more like it in the county.—Clearfield Republican.

Harness Stolen.

Thieves have even come down to molesting Henry Potter, up 3 miles above here, when, a few days ago, a good harness was stolen from his premises. Whether the thief needed the harness, or whether he thought Henry didn't need them, is hard to opine. A search warrant may clear up the trouble.

Remodeling The Interior.

W. W. Boob, the hustling carriage builder, is making some marked improvements in his shop opposite the REPORTER office. Both floors have been cut up into rooms, which will be used instead of his shop on Church st., which has become too small.

Thanksgiving Services.

Thanksgiving services will be held in the Evangelical church, of this town, on Thursday, Nov. 30, at 10 a. m. Rev. Boal will preach the sermon, and all the resident ministers will participate in the services.

SPECIAL TERM

Of Court, Commencing Monday, December 11th, 1893.

A special term of court will be held commencing on Monday, December 11th, 1893. The Hon. John R. McPherson, president judge of Lebanon county, will preside at this term. Following is the list of cases to be tried at this term:

Geo. W. Jackson vs. Nittany Valley R. R. Co.

Bird Coal & Iron Co. vs. E. C. Humes.

*Mary Fravel vs. Sarah Crissman ex'rs.

Adam Grenoble vs. Bellefonte Central R. R. Co.

Lyman Korman vs. A. G. Morris.

*Mary V. Hale, et al. vs. Bellefonte Central R. R. Co.

*B. E. & N. V. Pike Co. vs. Centre county.

*Bellefonte & Philipsburg Pike Co. vs. Centre county.

Cases marked (*) were set down on the trial list for second week, but since were transferred to the trial list for the special term.

Important Business Change.

The law firm of Beaver, Gephart & Dale, which has existed for eight years or more, has, we learn, been dissolved, in consequence of the retirement of Mr. Gephart who is compelled to give his entire time to the business of the Valentine Iron Company, of which he is president, and of the Central Railroad company of Pennsylvania, of which he is the General Superintendent.

A new firm, consisting of Gen. Beaver and John M. Dale, has been constituted, to be known as "Beaver & Dale." We understand that Gen. Beaver will give his personal attention to practice in the future, attending all the Courts and being found at the offices of the firm in the early and latter parts of each week. It will probably be necessary for him to give two or three days in the middle of the week to other business engagements.

ACCIDENT AT PARDEE.

Charles Hawk Killed On A. Lichtenwalter's Tram Road. Monday night an accident occurred on one of A. Lichtenwalter's tram roads by which Charles Hawk lost his life. The train had started from Treasner Valley with four trucks, and at Bear Gap the trucks jumped the track and Hawk was caught between the front truck and the engine and instantly killed.

Mr. Lichtenwalter had given strict orders that not more than two trucks should be taken on a trip, but they disobeyed orders and Hawk's life was the forfeit. He was buried at Hironimus cemetery on Wednesday.

State College Won.

The State College and Bucknell football cleven played on Saturday at Lewisburg, and State College won by a score of 36 to 18. The game was exciting throughout, and almost ended in a riot, and the State College boys were nearly mobbed by a gang of Lewisburg toughs, who threatened to kill one or two of the team. This action reflects little credit upon the public officials of Lewisburg. A special train carried the State College team and the admirers home after the game.

Killed Three Bears.

This week a hunting party composed of seven young men of Potters Mills and community have been camping in the Seven Mountains, after deer. Up to Wednesday they had not succeeded in bringing down any venison, but were fortunate enough to kill three bears, two cubs and a female. They were in fair condition and already the boys consider themselves lucky even if they find nothing else.

The Bridge Completed.

The Lock Haven Express of Saturday says: The construction of the Nittany Valley railroad bridge at Lanar will be completed today, and next week the bridge at Clintondale will be finished. All the bridges on the line will then be completed and in a few days the last rail will be laid. The rails are now down to Clintondale from Mill Hall, and to Lanar from the Bellefonte end.

Used Dynamite.

An unsuccessful attempt was made on Saturday night to blow open the safe in the office of the Moshannon tannery, says the Philipsburg Journal. Several blasts of dynamite were used, but the safe refused to open, and fearing they would be discovered, the robbers departed disgusted, no doubt, with their failure.

Doing Some Plowing.

Some farmers are taking advantage of the fine weather we have had this fall, and were plowing their fields which they expect to plant in the spring.

Would Be But Fair.

A Lyecoming county editor announces sarcastically that he wants to buy a bag of flour, a pair of shoes and a winter hat, and is ready to receive bids for the same. He says that is the way the merchants do by him when they want $2 worth of printing.

Highest of all in Leavening Power.—Latest U. S. Gov't Report.

An Egg for a Stamp. A little child walked into the post-office at Mazeppa with an egg in its hand. It lisped to the mail dispenser that it wanted a stamp and would give the egg in payment. This led to an investigation, and the child's mother, Mrs. C. E. Edwards, was found to be in a destitute condition. She had no money and had sent the child with the egg to the postoffice for a stamp, intending to notify Mount Carmel friends of her want. The husband is missing from home. This reminds us of an eggcident in this county, some years ago; a woman from the mountain section of Haines township, brought quite a small letter to the Aaronsburg postoffice and offered an egg as pay for the postage, because the letter was such a small one. Seasonable Hints for Reporter Readers. Now is the time to secure your hydrants against freezing, and give attention to your cellars to keep out Jack Frost as well as Pety Thieft. Apples, potatoes and garden truck are no longer safe outdoors, as one freeze will do much harm. Don't forget your stables; see that your animals are kept comfortable, for they need warm places to stay in as well as you, and can not be thrifty and healthy unless you are humane; there is nothing saved by parsimony and neglect in the above particulars.

Specimen Cases.

S. H. Clifford, New Cassel, Wis., was troubled with Neuralgia and Rheumatism, his stomach was disordered, his Liver was affected to an alarming degree, appetite fell away, and he was terribly reduced in flesh and strength. Three bottles of Electric Bitters cured him. Edward Shepherd, Harrisburg, Ill., had a running sore on his leg of eight years' standing. Used three bottles of Electric Bitters and seven boxes of Bucklen's Arnica Salve, and his leg is sound and well. John Speaker, Catawba, O., had five large Fever sores on his leg, doctors said he was incurable. One bottle Electric Bitters and one box Bucklen's Arnica Salve cured him entirely. Sold by J. D. Murray, Druggist.

Locals for Quick Reading.

Rededication of the recently remodelled Lutheran church at Aaronsburg will take place Sunday, Dec. 3. Some few farmers are not quite thro yet husking corn. Cold fingers. Rev. Eisenburg, of our town, delighited the Ref. brethren of Aaronsburg with a sermon last Sabbath. Hunters in our county do not have the best of luck killing deer, so far. Wild turkeys are unusually plenty in our mountains, this season. The fine weather last spring was favorable for the young ones. Please don't forget to send us money due our Reporter; we need it.

Shipments Still Continue.

The shipment of apples from Centre Hall station still continues and several car loads have been shipped recently. The apples are barreled instead of being shipped in bulk. They bring about two dollars and upwards per barrel now, according to kind and condition. Raising apples pays better than wheat at sixty cents.

Go And See.

The I. O. O. F. table, constructed by D. F. Luce, from pieces of wood from all the states and territories, and from over twenty foreign countries and islands, will be exhibited in the Odd Fellow's room in the bank building on Thursday and Friday evenings and during the day of Saturday. Go and see this remarkable piece of handiwork. Only small admission will be charged for the benefit of the order.

Snow No. 2.

Snow No. 2 put in an appearance on Tuesday night, and spread a mantle of one inch in thickness. This leaves our citizens to look for the usual impudent notice to keep their walks clean while waks of some councilmen will be shoveled and charged to the borohere's where the impudence comes in, and the question, will our citizens submit longer to such robbery.

Foot Ball Wild.

The foot ball fever has infected the boys of Centre Hall. They have procured a ball and if sufficient timber can be found in town a team will be organized. For the present they will be content with learning the rudimentary points of the game, and gaining insight. Arnica, court plaster, bandages, etc., will be in great demand for the time being.
