THE HAWAIIAN BUSINESS TO BE BROUGHT BEFORE THE HOUSE.

The Democrats of the House Come Out of the Week's Debate on the Wilson Bill With Flying Colors.

had referred the whole matter to Con- man. gress and would be glad to co-operate with it in the execution of any plan that was consistent with the honor. integrity and morality of the United States and for the best interests of Hawaii." That was the comment made by chairman McCreary of the House committee on Foreign Affairs on the Hawaiian correspondence laid before the House Saturday and the Senate today. Mr. McCreary said the committee on Rules had promised him the right of way and that just as soon as the tariff bill was disposed of he proposed to call up this Hawaiian business. That will make it likely to get before the House before it is taken up by the Senate as it is not expected that the investigation of the Senate committee on Foreign Relations will be completed by the 29, when the House will pass the tariff bill.

Much has been said concerning the abandonment by President Cleveland of his Hawaiian policy. I can state upon unquestioned authority that the President has not changed his opinion on the subject. On the contrary, he is ever that it would be both wise and pacted comprehensibleness, coalescent ministration, and he is independent Klapp, 66, married. just to restore the government which was wrongfully overthrown by a misuse of the power of the United States in the hands of an intriguing Minister, and he believes that if Congress will divest the subject of sentiment and prejudice and place it on the high ground of plain right and wrong it rhodomontade or thrasonical bombast; factory to all, rather than a high prowill eventually arrive at the same conclusion. That is just the point. Congress seems to be utterly unable to divest it of sentiment and prejudice, and for that reason, if for no other, is not likely to decide in favor of a restoration of the former government of Hawaii.

Secretary Carlisle has directed that the clerical force of the sixth Auditor's office be at once reorganized. The reorganization includes the abolishment of the examining division and the division of review and numerous changes in the other divisions, all in accordance with the recommendations of the report of the Dockery committee to Congress. Some employees will have to be dropped and the Republicans in the office have an idea, probably a correct one, that they will all be Republicans. Other things being equal Secretary Carlisle will give the Democrats the preference every time.

The decision of the Democrats on the Ways and Means committee to report the income tax as a separate bill was obtained, like the decision in favor of the income tax itself, by a majority of only one vote. There is considerable talk among the Democrats about calling a Democratic caucus for the special purpose of deciding whether the bill shall be made a party measure, as the tariff bill is. There is no doubt about the income tax being favored by a large majority of the Democrats of the House, but there are still enough Democrats opposed to defeat it if the votes of all the Republicans could be counted upon, but if the Republicans follow Tom Reed, they will refuse to vote when an attempt is made to take up the bill, just as they did when the House was four days in getting a quorum of Democrats together to take up the tariff bill. If they do that and the at J. D. Murray's Drugstore. Democrats opposed to the bill also refuse to vote there will be no quorum and the bill cannot be taken up. The approval of the Democratic caucus would certainly make the measure more likely to pass.

The Democrats of the House came out of the week's general debate on the Wilson tariff bill with flying colors; licans at every point, and the votes of a genial sun. the House upon the amendments which will be submitted by Democratic members who are opposed to this or that schedule will meet the objections within the party. These amendments will be voted upon during the five minute debate which will go on until the time for taking the votes is reached. The final result is a foregone con-

BUSINESS IMPROVING

That Is What Dun & Co's Review of Trade Says.

R. G. Dun & Co's weekly review of trade says: Business has distinctly improved since the new year came and the gain is no longer visible only in speculative markets. It is the only kind of improvements that has in it possibilities of lasting, because it is based upon actual increase in the production by industries.

As all rejoice to see it, there is perhaps a little disposition to reckon the gain greater than it is as yet, but several large establishments have started with part force, hoping to increase, Ex-Governor James A.
