DESTROY FISH.

Ducks Eat the Spawn and Catch Live Fish from our Streams.

With all the stocking done to our trout streams fish are becoming scarcer each year and we are attributing it all to illegal fishing by men. But we learn there is another, and far greater reason for it in the ducks along creeks which fish day and night all the year round.

This was brought to ourknowlege the other day by our friend, Fred. Decker, of near Lemont, who gave our office a call. Ducks continually scour the streams eating up the spawn and feeding upon live fish with an insatiable appetite. Mr. Decker tells us he has seen ducks bring suckers out of the water, 10 to 12 inches long, two or vouring the fish on shore.
