COMMONWEALERS Coxey, Browne and Jones Convicted by the Jury. MOTION FOR A NEW TRIAL.

According to the Verdict Jones Did not Walk on the Grass, But Like the Others, Violated the Law by Displaying a Banner.

their peers, and will have to submit to a sentence hereafter to be imposed by the court for their recent demonstration on the Capitol grounds.

Thus ingloriously ends what its leaders styled "the greatest march of the 19th century." All three of the necused were convicted on the first count of the indictment. which charged them with displaying a banner designed to bring into public notice the J. S. Coxey Good Roads Association. Jones, of Philadelphia, was acquitted of the second count, which accused them of treading on the grass, but Coxey and Browne were convicted. The jury retired at 12.55 o'clock after hearing a long charge from Judge Miller, which left them little alternative but to convict if they followed his leadings. About 3.30 the jurors sent for the instructions given for the defense, but the government objected, and they filed into the court-room while the judge read the instructions. Young Attorney Hyman endeavored excitedly to have the fact that the objection came from the prosecution laid before the jury, but he was suppressed. Judge Miller stated that he would not have handed over the written instructions under any circumstances, as that would have been irregular. Only five minutes after this episode the jury returned with the verdict. "General" Coxey had been visiting with his wife and his daughter, the Goddess of Peace of the May-Day demonstration, but took his seat within the bar, and all of the party received the result smilingly, except Mr. Hyman, who was on his feet with some objection to the form in which the verdict was presented, but who was sat upon by his colleagues. Attorney Lipscomb immediately entered a motion for a new trial and another in arrest made inquiries about bail, and Frank Hume, a well-known wholesale grocer, who several times has run for the Democratic nomination to Congress from the Virginia district across the Potomae River, signed a bond in $500 for each of the three convicted commonwealers.

His body was found in a carriage in a Capitol city and Antwerp those officials had not been invited. Count Depret, president of the executive council of the exposition, delivered a long address welcoming the King and Queen to the largest exhibition ever held in Antwerp. King Leopold replied briefly thanking Count Depret for his address, and complimenting the authorities of the exposition upon the completeness of their work. Minister de Bruyn also spoke on behalf of the government. Afterward a cantata, composed by Benoit, was sung by a choir of 1,500 voices. King Leopold visited only a small part of the exposition, most of the exhibits not yet being in their places, and, in fact, the greater part of the exhibition not being ready for visitors The teature of the exhibition are a reproduction of Old Antwerp in the sixteenth century, and the Congo, International and Marine sections, all of which possess great interest. The Belgian section is the largest. France, Germany, Great Britain, India, the United States, and Italy coming next, in the order named. An extensive space is set apart for side attractions from Eastern countries, such as streets in Cairo, Constantinople, dancing and howling dervishes, priests, caravans, &c.

SENATE.

120TH DAY. - The open session of the Senate lasted but half an hour. Senator Allen, of Nebraska, who is defending Coxey and his lieutenants in the Police Court, introduced a resolution for the appointment of a special committee of five senators to investigate the alleged clubbing by the Washington police of the leaders of the Commonweal when the "army" tried to break into the Capitol grounds. The resolution went over until tomorrow, and will probably be called up as soon as the Senate meets.

121st DAY .- The bill for the erection of a public printing office in Washington occupied the attention of the House during the greater part of the day and came to a rather ignominous ending.

122D DAY .- An amendment to the Tariff bill was considered in the Senate and agreed to. It was that to levy duty on goods in bond on the date when the bill goes into effect. Mr. Lodge's amendment to levy commercial war on Great Britain until that country should acquiesce in an international agreement for the coinage of silver was de-feated. Work on the Tariff bill was preceded by a two hour's debate upon the Allen resolution for the appointment of a special committee to investigate the alleged poli clubbing outrages on the steps of the Capitol.

123nd DAY.-For two hours the Senate dis-ussed the resolution to investigate the alleged police clubbing outrages on the occa-sion of the Coxey demonstration in front of the Capitol, but no conclusion was reached, Mr. Hoar, Mr. Gorden, Mr. Teller and Mr. articipated. The remainder of the spent on the Tariff bill. Harris participated. The 124TH DAY .- In the Senate Senator Quay introduced a bill of 125 pages, and asked for its reading in full. Hours could have been consumed in this way. An objection carried the bill over. In the course of the colloquy on the subject, Mr. Quay boldly avowed his filibustering motive, declaring defiantly that he thought time would be better employed in that way than in considering the tariff bill, The Senate is now on the fifth paragraph. There are about seven hundred paragraphs in the bill.

HOUSE.

120TH DAY .-- In the House the New York and New Jersey Bridge bill was passed under a suspension of rules on motion of Mr. Dunphy. A special order was adopted making the bills for the erection of a new government printing office and a new hall of records in the city of Washington the business of the House until they are disposed of.

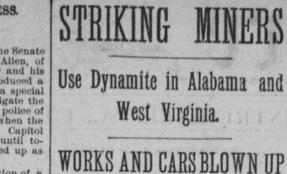

121st Day.-The Senate again proceeded with the Tariff bill, Senator Hoar delivered a strong speech, plodding the Democrats. A very spirited clash between Messrs. Hoar and Gray followed. Senators Palmer, Hale and Morrill became involved. The remainder of the day until the Senate went into executive session, a few minutes before five o'clock. was occupied by Mr. Quay in continuation of his speech.

1220 DAY .- The Naval Appropriation bill was under consideration in the House, but as a rule, that bill received very little attention at the hands of the speakers. The debate soon switched off to the tariff question. The eature of the debate was an arraignment o the President for his action on the Carnegie armor plate frauds by Mr. Haugen, of Wis-consin, and the defense of Mr. Pendleton, of West Virginia.

123D DAY .- The House held a short session adjourning on account of the death of Rep resentative Brattan, of Maryland. adjourning some routine business was trans acted and two bills were passed.

124TH DAY .- The Naval Appropriation bill again occupied the attention of the House without being finally disposed of. General without being finally disposed of. General debate was closed, however, after a heated controversy between Messrs. Reed, Boutelle and Cummings. At five o'clock a recess was taken until eight, the evening session being devoted to private bills on the calendar.

WASHINGTON NOTES.

Other Attacks Seem Imminent Near Birmingham--Riotous Demonstrations at the Parson's Plant--Militia Held in Readiness.

The striking miners, reduced almost to starvation, have at length had recourse to violence. A crowd of from 300 to 500 of them marched into Horse Creek, in Walker sounty, Ala., shortly after mid-night, fired a hundred or more shots to intimidate the citizens, and then blew up the engines, boilers and other machinery of the Thomas Price mines with dynamite. The ten armed watchmen fled without resistance, and the rioters then destroyed the mainways of the mines along with the supplies and other property. The purpose was to en" force to idleness the miners who had refused to join the strike.

From Price's the mob tudged to the Victor mines, a few miles distant, and after firing numerous volleys into the buildings of the operators they saturated the scale-houses with oil and set them afire, olew up several coal-laden cars with dynamite, and wrecked others by turning them loose down the mountain. Then they rushed through the town, firing indiscriminately as they went, and disappeared, going east.

Sheriff Gutton, on hearing the news, hurried to Horse Creek from Jasper with a strong force of deputies, but of course the lawbreakers had been gone for hours.

A hundred armed men were seen at noon lurking in the woods around the Little Warrior mines, where the miners have refused to strike, and in consequence have been threatened with death and even fired. upon from ambush. Sheriff Morrow hurried there with a posse, but the mob had discppeared. They are believed to be part of the Horse Creek crowd, and it is feared that they will return and destroy the operator's prop erty. The Governor has placed troops at the disposal of Sheriff Morrow.

It is feared that an attack will be made on the convict stockades at the Pratt mines and a strong force of guards is on duty. Sheriff Morrow has secured all the available rifles and has called upon Governor Jones for more, but the State's supply is exhausted except for those in the hands of the military. The striking miners in this immediate vicinity are in a sorry plight and have issued an urgent appeal for help to the trade unions of the State. Many of their families are on the verge of starvation, and hundreds are fed on the streets every day. The employers will FLOUR-Balto, Best Pat.$ make a united effort this week to replace the strikers with negroes brought back from the Kansas mines. Over a hundred have arrived at Blue Creek and will be put to work under a strong guard.

If this does not break the coal famine several industries will this week be closed down.

NINE DAYS IN A CAVERN.

Tourists Finally Rescued from Their Stalactite Prison.

A cable despatch from Gratz, Austria, says: A diver succeeded in reaching the party of tourists who have been imprisoned in the stalactite cavern at Souroch for nine days past, owing to a sudden rise in the water, and the fact that the passage into the cave became blocked with timber and boulders. The diver found all seven of the tourists alive. It was at first believed that eight people were imprisoned. Six of the tourists emerged from the cavern without any assistance, but the seventh was too weak to help himself. The news that the tourists were still alive caused satisfaction among the crowds of people who gathered about the cavern to watch the work of the engineers, who had a difficult task in making an opening into the cavern. The entrance was blocked by timber and huge boulders, buried beneath a mass of smaller flood debris.

After the matter had been fully investigated by the engineer officers, it was found that it was absolutely necessary to use dynamite to clear away the obstructions which prevented the entrance of a diver into the cavern. The engineers succeeded in exploding several charges, which disturbed but did not entirely remove the obstruction. They were compelled to work slowly and with caution, as it was feared that a too severe explosion might bur; the imprisoned people beneath tons of rock. Happily some additional charges were ex-. ploded, and the trees and rocks about the entrance to the cave were removed without harm to the imprisoned ones. Diver Fischer made another and this time a successful descent to the mouth of the cave, He was absent a long time. When he reappeared and informed tho crowds that he had found all of the seven tourists alive, hearty cheers rang through the air. Fischer said that the tourists appeared like people half bereft of reason on account of the terrible nervous strain to which they had been subjected. They still had a little bread and cheese left and had some candles burning.

The region in which the cave is situated is a very mountainous one, being traversed by the Noric and Styrian Alps, between which flows the River Mur, on which stands the city of Gratz. The loftiest peaks in this region attain a height of 7,60) feet above the sea level. A pecular feature af Styria, as well as of the section to the south through which the Julian Alps extend, is the frequency with which the mountain streams disappear under ground, to emerge again miles away from the places where they are lost to view. Numerous stalactite caverns are found through which these streams made their subterranean way, and some of them have been explored for long distances.

BOLD BANK ROBBERS.

Seven Men Securs Between $3,000 and $4,000 and Ride Off.

Seven men armed with Winchesters and revolvers road into Southwark City, Mo., and robbed the bank, getting all the mony it contained, between $3,000 and $4,000. They did the job in a very business like manner. Two of them were stationed on the sidewalk, three entered the bank with a sack and two others guarded the horses. About 100 shots were fired by the robbers.

J. C. Seabourn and O. L. Seabourn were both shot through the groin. Mart Hembree had a leg broken by a bullet, S. F. Meiton, United States Marshal received a flesh wound in the leg. As they were leaving the outskirts some one fired several shots at them killing a horse and wounding a robber. He immediately secured another horse from a farmer who was passing and followed his pals.

No resistance was offered by the citizens. The wounded men were shot while standing on the sidewalk. A posse was made up and started in pursuit, but the robbers have a good start and will proabbly get away.

Among the many distinguished persons present at the opening were the princesses of the royal family, the Countess of Flannders, Prince Von Hohenzollern and the members of the ministry. Upwards of 40,000 people were present.

MORE WARSHIPS SENT.

Additional Protection to American Citizens in Nicaragua and Neighboring Nations.

Acting Secretary McAdoo has ordered some important changes in the stations of naval vessels. The New York now at Kingston, Jamaica, has been ordered to Colon. The Bennington now at Mare Island, Cal., has been detached from the Bering Sea fleet and will proceed at once to Salvador. The Charleston, which has been stopping at Montevideo, is under orders to proceed to Callao on the West Coast of South America. All of the moves have been made at the instance of the State Department.

The state of affairs in Central America is far from reassuring and the department is desirious of having an available ship near the scene of expected trouble to guard American interests. In Salvador, where a revolution is Federation of Labor; M. H. Madden, presiin progress that threatens to involve Honduras and perhaps Guatemala, or Nicaragua, John Nice, president of the Hotel and Restaurwith the Bennington on the west coast and the New York on the Gulf side, there will be naval protection for our citizens. The New York will be convenient to Bluefields if needed to reinforce the San Francisco, which now lies off that port.

Secretary Gresham has received the followng cablegram from Mr. Bartiemann, the United States Charge at Caracas, Venezuela: "An earthquake on the 23th of April destroyed the cities of Egido and Merida and several villages. The loss of life is said to be heavy and assistance would be appreciated."

A review of information received by the Bureau' of the American Republics of the railway interests in the various South American Sates shows their general condition to be exceptionally favorable. With hardly an exception the companies announce large dividends for the stockholders, besides plans and purposes for extending the various lines

Some attention will soon be given by the House Committee on Pensions to the Cummings bill granting pensions to certain pers as in the life saving service. Various e forts have been made to get favorable action by the House or legislation similar to those proposed by the bill now pending, but without avail. The meritorious nature of the measures are acknowledged and in 1881 Secretary John Sherman recommended that Congress take early steps for the extension of the pension laws to the crews of the life saving establishments.

An evidence of the valuable work now being done by the naval hydrographic office is afforded by the May pilot chart, which exhibits in a graphic manner the inception, growth and movements of the cyclone of March 23 last, which resulted so disastrously to shipping. Hydrographer Sigsbee collectel data from no less than eighty-two vessels in order to enable him to plot out the cyclone. He says that it was the most terrific large area storm experienced in the North Atlantic in several years. Its close proximity to the trans-Atlantic steamer routes caused the full force of the storm to be felt by a very large number of vessels, many of which had a very rough passage.

FOR A LABOR COLONY. Eastern Industrial Leaders to Establish a Fruit

Colony in Southern California. Several leading officers of the great labor organizations resident in New York and Chicago have arrived in San Francisco, Cal., on their way to Mercede, in the San Josquin Valley, to examine land there on which they are about to establish a colony.

The colony is to be composed of Eastern people entirely. It is the intention to purchase 2,500 acres of fruit land, and establish 18 families on it. Each family is to have 20 acres for farming purposes, besides a house and garden place in the village, which it is proposed to build in the centre of the 2,500

The following are the officers: William C. Pomeroy, general organizer of the American dent of the Illinois State Federation of Labor; ant Employes' National Allianes; John Jaffercy, secretary of the Belvidere Federated Labor Union. The latter organization is at Belvidere, Ill., and represents 700 skilled workmen of the sewing machine factory there, now closed down.

Two of the Sloss blast furnaces have already blown out, and several towns in South Alabama are without light through inability to run the electric plants. PARSONS, W. VA .- The H. G. Davis Coal and Coke Company works are guarded by forty special officers armed with Winchester rifles. Thirty non-union men are at work and the strikers are laying tracks of dynamite about, with threatening notes attached to them, to the effect that they will blow the works to atoms.

SMALLER MINERAL PRODUCT.

The Smallest Output for Any Year Since 1889 Report" ed by the Geological Survey.

The report on mineral resources for 1893 complied at the United States Geological Survey under the supervision of Dr. David T. Day, has been completed. It shows an aggregate valuation for the product and $609,-586,033, of which $358,604,217 represents the non-metallic product and $249,981,866 the metallic product with an unspecified product of $1,000,000. The product is the smallest of any year since 1899 and is an aggregate decline of over $75,000,000 from the previous year.

The principal feature is the failing off in pig iron, which shows a reduction of more than $40,000,000 in valuation and 2,090,000 long tons in production. Both gold and silver increased in production. The increase in gold was $2,950,000 in valuation and $142,700 troy ounces in production. Silver increased 5,000,000 troy ounces with an increase in valuation of $2,-585,857 taken at its coinage value on $1.2929 per troy ounce. Copper decreased in production about 16,000,000 pounds and nearly $6,000,000 in value. Lead decreased almost 50,000 tons or $5,000,000. Zinc decreased about 9,090 short tons and almost $3,099,509 in valutation. Aluminum increased about 30,009 or $94,000. Nickel has fallen off nearly 50 per cent, in quantity and over that percentage in the value of its droduct. Bituminous coal increased 1,262,403 long tons, but decreased $2,500,000 in value. Pennsylvania anthracite increased 1,315,- 550 long tons and $3,000,000 in value. The largest gain in production was in petroleum, which increased $3,000,000 in valuation of the product. Natural gas decreased $500,000 FLOUR-Southern $ 310 @ $ 4 20 and mineral waters $650,000.

DYNAMITE IN A PRISON.

Cold Attempts of Michigan Convicts to Get Free by Exploding a Bomb.

An attempt was make to blow up the prison at Jackson, with dynamite as the convicts were being marched to their cells from an evening meeting. Three of the convicts, Edward Huntley, serving a term of twenty y sars for burglary; John Deeman, serving fifteen years for murder in the second degree, and Arthur Lawrence, serving ten years for burgiary, made a break from the ranks. One of them seized the guard and another sprang up into a window and attempted to light a fuse connected with a dynamite bomb,

An alarm was given and deputies arrived In time to prevent any damage and to quell the disturbance. The warden says there have been rumors of dynamite being concealed about the prison for over a year, but none of the guards were able to find any trace of it.
