BRECKINRIDGE'S SIN.

THE sin of Breckinridge meets with no apologists neither from the press, the pulpit nor from the public in general. This is a commendable fact and should be noted by the libertines who step before the world with impudent mien proud of their licentiousness and their success in having ruined one of the weaker sex. There are other Breckinridges upon whom the shame of lasciviousness rests and the finger of scorn is pointed by the virtuous and pure in society. The libertine is the enemy of the purity of society, his foul deeds are shielded only by such as are as much lost to shame as the lustful subject who has brought ruin upon his victim and shame upon her family.

No decent man or woman will seek to apologize for those who have been discovered in a life of lewdness while they were posing as decent members of society and the church, thereby endeavoring to hide a life full of rottenness. Breckinridge having been a man of prominence, the public does right in showing so loudly that it detests his sin, and those in the lower walks can measure from it how they are sized up by the decent class in their respective communities. The outspoken contempt for Breckinridge, on account of his prominence, exits all INVESTIGATION. the same for the libertines in the lower walks and only finds expression in a more quiet way.

WE

A dispatch from Lexington, Ky., says the women of that city intend to get up a demonstration against the renomination of congressman W. P. C. Breckinridge by giving a grand reception to his principal opponent, W. C. Owens. It is said that the feminine opponents of Col. Breckinridge are boycotting the merchants who support his candidacy, and others are dismissing their family physicians for the same reason.

By dealing out just execration in this manner against such wretches, it is simply what their sin deserves.

THE Coxey army is kept on the go. At Washington they were ordered to leave their first camp and seek another ; the health board then declared the second camp would breed disease and they had to move. Then they pitched their camp at Hyattsville, Md. But the Hyattsvillains didn't take kindly to the rag-muffins, and took measures to compel them to get out. The next move was to Bladensburg where their camp now is. We used to offer them the nobby Centre Hall pic-nic ground, but have changed our mind, we don't want the pic-nic quarters to get lousy, and so Coxey can't have it-that's all.

The western Coxey contingents are still marching eastward, and getting themselves into trouble stealing freight trains and by proving a nuisance generally.

OUR county did not furnish any recruits for Coxey's army, but it beats the dickens for furnishing governors.

TABERNACLE BURNED.

Talmage's Church in Ruins .-- Loss Over a Million Dollars.

For the third time fire has razed the tabernacle of Dr. Talmage's Brooklyn congregation. On Sunday last flames burst out at noon just after the morning service and before they were subdued they had destroyed an adjoining hotel and damaged a number of residences.

The fire started in the great organ and was caused by an electric light wire. Fortunately it started shortly after noon when all the 6000 worshippers at the morning service had left, excepting some less than a hundred, as the fire spread so rapidly that amid the panic many would not have gotten out and would have been burnt.

The total loss by the fire is upwards of 2 million dollars, the loss to the congregation is over 1 million and the insurance only $150,000. The Trustees have resolved to rebuild at once and complete the new edifice within a year.

The two previous churches were also destroyed by fire on Sundays.
