NAVY FOR THE Chief Constructor Hichborn Appeals for Improvements. NEED BETTER NAVY YARDS.

Continued Employment of Expert Workmen Urged.-When the New Vessels Will Be Finished .-Over $8,000,000 Needed.

In his annual report Chief Constructor Hichborn says that the work on our naval vessels in course of construction has made fairly good progress during the year. Aside from delays due to slow delivery of armor or other material, the time of completion of these vessels after July 1 is placed by the report as follows: Time necessary to complete after receipt of armor and ordnance material. Maine and Terror, four months; Amphitrite, two months; Katabdin, three months; Puritan and Texas, six months. The probable date of completion of the other vessels is placed on these dates: Minnepolis, Olympia and Ericsson, November next; Monodnock, February, 1895; Oregon, June, 1895; gunboats 7, 8 and 9, January, 1895.

The report states that beside the delay the slowness of armor deliveries has greatly increased the cost of the ships as certain portions of their hulls cannot be completed before the armor is in place. 'The Navy gained three vessels during the year in launches-the Oregon, Minneapolis and Ericsson, and lost two the Catalpa, by condemnation and the Kearsarge by wreck.

Commodore Hichborn strongly urges that the navy yards, which have greatly deteriorated, be put in condition and that comprehensive measures be taken to this end. He says that at New York, League Island, Norfolk and Mare Island, there is absolute need of new buildings to replace tumble-down sheds which are runining expensive tools, As modern steel ships require much more attention than wooden cratt the plants should be much enlarged and this would be true economy. While the bureau approves in general of the recommendations in this line. of the naval constructors at the different yards it deems it useless to ask for the total mount of their estimates and therefore submits estimates for only so much as seems atsolutely necessary to continue in a systematic way the improvements already begun.

NAVY YARD ESTIMATES.

These estimates are: For navy yard, Portsmouth, N. H., for necessary alteration of shops and purchase of new tools, $10,000;, for navy yard, Boston, Mass., for necessary alteration of shops and purchase of new tools, $20,000; for navy yard, New York, N. Y., new tools, portable hoisting engine, push cars, boliers in plumbing shop and minor alterations in arrangement of plant, $50,000; for navy yard, League Island, Philadelphia, tools for ship-fitting shop, furnaces, bending slabs, steam hammers, etc., $30,000; for navy

SEARCEY'S CONFESSION. The Acquia Creek Train-Robber Reveals the

Stolen Fouch. The relentless search which the officials of the Adams Express Company have prosecuted to apprehend the criminals who held up a train at Aquia Creek, Va., on the 12th instant, and to recover the stolen property, was rewarded by the finding of the pouch in which the robbers had placed most of their booty.

The pouch was secured through the aid of C. J. Searcey, one of the robbers who was arrested at Cumberland, Md. This fact proves conclusively what the express officials have claimed-that Searcey was one of those wanted, and the relationship which has been shown to exist between Searcey and Morganfield, now held in Cincinnati, establishes beyond a doubt that Morganfield was his pal, and it is now known that the latter was the man with the shrill voice who entered the express car and held up Messengers Crutchfield and Ma. ny.

The details of the recovery of the pouch or how much money it contained are not known, accepting that the sack was found hidden in the woods of Virginia, near Calverton, and that there were present Prosecutor W. Seymour White, C. W. Edrington, sergeant of police of Fredericksburg; Sheriff Hugh Adie and Robert A. Pinkerton when it was secured. It can also be stated that not more than four men and probably only three were concerned in the hold-up. Two are now arrested, and the third, it is expected, will be eaught within a short time. Searcey, who led the authorities to the cached booty, made a partial contession, all the statements of which have been corroborated, and this knowledge has very materially a.ded the express officials in their search.

Much of the credit for the arrests falls to eneral Manager Herring, of Philadelphia, and his assistant, Mr. H. M. Forbes, who have labored indefatigably day and night to run down the criminals. They are particularly pleased, because they are able to reiterate, what they have always claimed, that no one has ever robbed the Adams Express Company and escaped.

have to be considered in regard to when he will be taken from Cincinnati to Stafford Courthouse. Va., where the trial will occur. The maximum penalty for train robbery in Virginia is death and the minimum 20 years confinement at hard labor.

MORGANFIELD IDENTIFIED.

CINCINNATI, O.-Depot Watchman Wright positively identified C. A. Morganfield as the man whom he saw with Searcey in Cumberland, Md. Messenger Murray wanted first to hear the man's voice, as he said he would never forget that voice. While Murray remained out in the hall others got Morganfield to talking.

Murray insisted there was no doubt about it being the voice that held him up. He alterwards fully identified the prisoner. Morganfield's broken leg will compel the authorities to carry him to Virginia on a stretcher. The coat recovered from Shields, the one-legged men arrested at Middletown, was identified by Murray as the one worn by Morganfield at the time of the robbery.

ANOTHER HOLD-UP. Detectives Could Not Protect a Missouri Pacific Train.

BULLETS WERE PLENTIFUL.

Only $500 Were Secured-The Men Demanded Valuables from the Passengers--One Man Was Eadly Wounded.

The Kapsas City and Memphis express, which left Wagoner, on the Missouri Pacific Railroad at 9.30 o'clock P. M., was wrecked and robbed by the Cook's gang of desperadoes. at Correta, a blind siding, five miles south of Wagoner. The train was runnivg twenty miles an hour. When it was within one hundred feet of the switch a man came out from behind an embankment and threw the switch for the siding, running the train into a string of box cars. Engineer Jas. Harris applied the air-brakes and reversed the engine. The robbers commenced firing at the engine and coaches. As soon as the train stopped two of the robbers commanded the engineer and fireman to come down, and as soon as they dismounted marched them to the baggage and express cars. Here they forced Express Messenger Ford to open the doors, keeping up a fusilade until the side of the car was perforated with builets.

Meanwhile two more of the robbers had taken up a position at the reap end of the sleeper to prevent any one escaping. Two others mounted the platform between the smoker and baggage car and two more were on the platform bei ween the first and second coaches, all keeping up a continued firing. The two robbers in the express car were meanwhile ransacking that car, securing all the money in the local safe. They commanded Messenger Ford to open the through sale, but when he explained that the safe was locked at the main office and not opened until it reached the destination they left the car. The two men on the front platform then started through the coach, demanding money As soon as they reached the rear end of the coach the two men on that platform started through the second coach. When they were about half way through a freight train following close behind whistled, and Bill Cook, the leader who had all the time remained outside issuing commands, swearing at the passengers and shooting, called for all hands to come out.

Jack Mahara, advance agent for Mahara's Minstrels, was hit in the forehead by a bullet and dangerously, if not fatally, wounded. Walter Barnes, of Van Biren, Ark., was also slightly injured by a bullet, striking him in the check.

Special Officers Helmick and Dickson, of tha Missouri Pacific, were on the train, also United States Deputy Marshals Brunner and Casaver, but they were avvered by Winchesters in the hands of the bandits before they had time to make a move. People in brick bouses swarmed into the streets, startled by the grinding of bricks and mortar and grinding walls. A heavy sound was heard in all parts of the city immediately preceding the shock. The children in some of the public schools were hastily dismissed. Clocks were stopped and windows and doors were shaken sensibly.

The second shock was observed by few persons, being very light and coming when in an arson case disappeared. The police all were thinking of the first, but the third authorities looked high and low for the man, was so pronounced as to bring the people into the streets.

Telephone messages from Coronado, Upper Outay Dam, Campr, National City and other places show that the shocks felt were about equaliy at all surrounding places, Loose rocks were shaken from the hillsides and rattled down the canyons. Heavy, groaning and booming noises accompanied the tremors.

The weather observer reported another slight shock at 4.25 o'clock, but not so strong as the first ones, but quite as perceptible. It was not felt on the ground. The waves came from east to west in all instances. So far as known no damage was done.
