The People Fled From Their Homes in Terror and Camped in the Streets-TheDisturbance Caused by the Mount Ætna Volcano.

Details of the earthquake disaster in Sicily and Southern Italy have been slow in coming to hand, owing to the damage to railroad and telegraph lines, but the damage to life and property was much worse than at first supposed, and it is now known that nearly a hundred persons were killed in the disaster. The province of Reggio Del Calibria suffered the severest damage by the seismic disturbances. Little damage was done in Reggio, the capital of the province. Seventeen communes were involved in the disturbance, the centres of which were in the vicinity of Palmi twenty-one miles northwest of Reggia, and Bagnara, on the Gulf of Gloja, almost directly opposite Punta del Faro, Sicily. The village of San Procopio, near Palmi, was al most entirely destroyed. Here sixty persons were killed. Forty-seven of these met their death in a church to which they had fled for refuge. There bodies are still in the ruins. At Bagnara ten persons were killed. Eight lost their lives at Mamertine and San Eufernia, being crushed to death, while many others were injured. The inhabitants of these places are obliged to camp in the open air. Prime Minister Crispi has sent a large sum of money for the relief of the sufferers and has placed two vessels at the disposal of the prefect of Bagnara. In the Calabiar. towns of Triparni and Mileto many houses were destroyed and a number of persons injured.

Renewed shocks were felt at Milazzo, eighteen miles west of Messina. So severe vere the movements of the earth that great seams appeared in the walls of many houses,

At Messina the shock of the earthquake lasted 12 seconds. It was accompanied by loud rumblings. The terror on the part of the people was universal. The authorities soon perfected an organization and, assisted by the militia, succeeded in restoring quiet for the time being. The people remained on the streets during the entire night. The populace fled, panic stricken, rushing wildly in all directions. In the morning another shock occurred and the people fied to the ships in the harbor.

Signor Tacchini, chief of the observatory at Rome, says the earthquake was confined to the area of the Lipari Islands and the provinces of Messina and Reggio di Calabria. He is of the opinion that the entire phenomena is closely connected with the volcanit system of zina, A dispatch from Rome to the Standard emplo says that King Humbert has douated a large sum of money for the relief of the earthquake sufferers. The dispatch adds that sixty lives

KILLED BY A MANIAC. Mother, Daughter and Son Sisin With an Ax-

Murserer Commits Eu eids. The village of Wellsville, Mo., was the scene of a horrible murder and suicide which wiped out all but one member of a family.

Thomas Portercheck with a mother, two sisters and a brother occupied a small house half a mile from the business portion of the village. They were Bohemians in humble circumstances. Thomas was discovered acting strangely and gave indications that his mind was deranged. He labored under the hallucination that his neck was broken, and insisted that a physician be summoned. His relatives endeavored to convince him of his error and tried to get him to bed. He insisted on sitting up all night.

Late at night the family retired, leaving Thomas in a rocking chair. At 3 o'clock his sister Mary was awakened by an agonizing scream from her mother. When she emerged from her bedroom she found her mother lying on the floor, while Thomas stood above her brandishing an axe. The floor was covered with blood, and from an adjoining room her other brother, James, could be heard moaning in the agony of death. The girl ran through the house, and, finding all the doors locked, opened a window and jumped to the ground. She remained under the window and as her maniae brother made no attempt to follow her, she stood and watched him at his murderous work.

The murderer seized a can of coal oil, and after pouring it over the floor and furniture, set it on fire. He then drew a butcher knife across his throat and fell by the side of his dead mother. The girl attempted to extinguish the flames, but they spread so rapidly that in less than 10 minutes the house was a furnace. The screams of the girl awakened the neighbors, and they rushed to the scene, but the flames had finished the work which the maniac had commenced. When the blazing wood had cooled sufficiently to allow a search of the ruined home, four bodies were found blackened gand charred. They were those of Mrs. Portercheck, her youngest daughter and her sons, James and Thomas. Investigation showed that the mother, daughter and son James had been horribly mutilated by an axe. It is believed | sight. that Thomas first killed his brother then his sister and mother. It was probably his intention to kill his sister Mary also. The mother had been confined to her bed for 19

MINERS MANGLED. Horrible Mine Disaster in West

Virginia.

KILLED OUTRIGHT. SEVEN

Caused by an italian's Carelesoness -Many Were injured-An Overcharged Blast Ignited Coal Dust and Explosion Followed.

The most appalling mine disaster that ever occurred in West Virginia occurred shortly after noon at the Blauch coal mines, on the Panhaudle railroad, at Collier's Station.

A new miner, an Italian, put off an overcharge blast, which ignited the coal dust in the mine, and a fearful explosion followed, carrying death and destruction in its path. There were 48 men in the mine at the time, and seven are known to be killed and many injured.

After the explosion there was a terrific whirlwind in the mine, carrying everything before it. Donnelly and Rooney were in the mine some distance and were going toward the entrance. The force of the explosion drove them nearly 100 yards out of the mouth of the mine and landed Rooney on the railroad track, killing him instantly.

Donnelly landed in a gully, striking his head against a post. His brains were scattered for yards around. His wife was the first to find him and she swooned away.

and in a few moments hundreds of people were crowded about the mouth of the mine. Many heartrending scenes were enacted. The wives and children of the miners were frantic, and the strong men were even overcome.

In a short time a rescuing party was or. ganized, and went into the mines after the bodies. When the bodies were brought to the surface many woman swooned at the Prosecuting Attorney Cotton and Coroner Walkinshaw, of Wellsburg, were soon on the ground and took charge of the bodies and will conduct a rigid investigation. This is the second accident of the kind which occurred at this mine. Just two years ago, November 21, 1892, a similar explosion oc curred, in which three were killed and seven injured. The state mine inspector will take part in the investigation.

There were miraculous escapes when the explosion occurred. William Davis was in the entry, 150 feet from the entrance, and when he heard the explosion he lay down near the rib of the mine, and the whirlwind, carrying rocks, fire and death passed over him. An empty coal car standing at the en. trance of the mind was blown 25 yards.

The mine is owned by W. E. Smith, of Wellsville, and L. C. Smith, of New Cumberland. The miners charged that the accident

THE NAVY'S FINANCES.

Faymaster General Stewart Gives Interesting Figures in His Report.

The report of Paymaster General Edwin Stewart, of the navy for the fiscal year ending June 30th, is a document of unusual interest. The total amount expended on account of the naval establishment for the fiscal year ending June 30th, 1894, was #31,-370,144.91, the largest item being $8,251,072 for payment on new ships in process of construction, other than labor.

One of the most interesting tables in the report is that showing the cost of maintaining in commission the various ships. The charges against this account includes the pay of officers, crews and marines, pilotage, ccal and all expenditures of money and material excepting those made for repairs. During the period covered by the report of the Paymaster General the cost of the U.S. S. Chicage (second rate) was $310,613.60; the U. S. S. Yorktown (third rate) $169,907.58 and the U. S S. Petrel (fourth rate) $103,502.78. These figures afford an approximate idea of the cost of maintaining vessels of the different classes.

The cost of maintenance of the New York navy yard was $607,856 52, of the Pensacola navy yard $54,341.90. These amounts include the cost of officers and clerks and of labor and material applied to the erection, care and preservation of the wharfs, buildings and docks.

During the past year the bureau has prepared carlully-drawn specifications covering a large class of stores in general use in order that contractors may have precise and accurate information as to the quality of the material required. It is believed that such information will secure prompt and satisfactory delivery of material under contract and that delays complained of on this account will be obviated.

General Stewart refers to the benefits anticipated from the establishment of the naval supply fund. The amount appropriated for that account is so small that the bureau has moved cautiously in the matter of purchasing under it as it is desired not to have any part of it tied up in stores that are not in constant demand. By enabling the department to keep on hand a stock of such articles as are constantly required, and by purchasing such material in large quantities, the Government saves both time and money. Issues from this account are reimbursed from the proper appropriations.

PROGRESS IN ALASKA

were lost by the failing of the church at San Procópio.

Its Governor Reports a Trespercus Year and an Advance for Civilization.

James Sheakley, Governor of Alaska, has submitted his annual report to the Secretary of the Interior. He says-

"Notwithstanding the unfavorable climatic conditions of the Spring and early Summer months, many new enterprises were entered upon and old ones completed.

The fisheries have been successful, the mines have yielded profitable returns, the population has been largely augmented by mmigration, and the people have enjoyed a season of unusual progress and prosperity.

"The building of saw mills and the manufacturing of lumber in the Territory has revolutionized and improved the manner of constructing habitations in all of the villages. The leading trait in the character of the Alaska natives is imitativeness, and being possessed of considerable mechanical skill and willing to work, they purchase lumber and erect modern houses. They have much improved in the way of preparing food and clothing. The impression of the missionaries is visible in parts of southeastern Alaska, and they deserve the commendation of all for the good they have accomplished among these native people."

The Governor estimates the population at about 32,000. The Siterian reindeer experiment, he thinks, will prove successful. Good progress is made in education. Considerable trouble has been experienced in preventing the sale of intoxicating liquors. He says that Alaska has 4,000 miles of sea coast and 20,000 miles of shore line and the revenue officers have serious difficulty in preventing smugglin_z

TRAIN ROBBERS BALKED.

Esgineer Honer When Ordered to Stop, Went Abrad at Full Speed.

An attempt to hold up passenger train No. 5 on the Yazoo and Mississippi Valley Road, at Panther Run, Miss., was Laiked by the coolness of Engineer F. A. Honer. Panther Run is a small way station. Soon after nightfail a half dozen strange men entered the hamlet and hung around for an hour or two. Then they disappeared and were not seen again until the train had stopped out and was starting out when oue of them appeared on the track ahead, signaling the engineer to stop.

Engineer Honer pulled out the throttle and sent the train through. As it passed the signal light a baif dozen unmasked men stood there, revolvers in band, and all took shots at the engineer. Fireman Cole received a bullet through the arm and is seriously wounded. The men were evidently new at the business. The railway officials are exerting themselves to apprehend the would-be robbers.

The Japanese are reported to have been repuised at Malien-Lung. The defences of Port Arthur have been strengthened on the land side, and a bloody battle is expected when the place is attacked.

Mr. Douglas is satisfied that a scheme

he has originated is a good one, and he has now put it to practical test. A few days ago he handed to every person in his employ-and they form a small army-a card, which entitled the bearer "to tull and free medical attendance while employed by the Douglas Shoe Company. A competent and skillul physician will be at the private office A competent and of the company at 12 m., daily, except Sun-days and holidays. If said employe should be detained at home by sickness, the physician will give full and free medical attend-

Blank spaces are left in the card for the name and residence of the employe, and it is signed by Mr. Douglas, as President of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Company. The conditions printed on the card are as follows : "The physician will not make visits outside the city limits. This tictet is not transfer-able, and does not apply to the family of the employe, and must be returned as soon as the term of employment ceases. This privi-lege is a free gut of the company and is no part of the contract for wages, and may be made void by the company, at its own option, without notice."

A doctor has been engaged to attend sick employes, and everything that medical skill omplish will be done for them during ilineas

This is a practical illustration of the plan. It will doubtless be appreciated by the hun-dreds who receive the cards. Mr. Dougias beli-ves there are hundreds of workingmen and workingwomen who fin ! a doctor's bill a great burden alter a period of enforced eness, and that if this is litted from them they must feel that their employer is inter ested in them in some other way than simply to get all the work he can for just as little money as he can. Mr. Douglas says also that there are men and women who keep at work when it would be better for their health if they laid off a day or two and received medical attendance. Then again they will now feel free to consult the doctor for slight troubles, which heretolore they would not do because of the cost.

Speaking of the W. L. Douglas Shoe Co., it may be said further that in their factory the principle of arbitration is recognized. Mr. Douglas is a firm believer in the principle Mr. and his been since the establishme of ine State Board of Arbitration. The firm obliges every employe to sign an agreement to submit any disagreement that may arise, and which cannot be settled by the interested parties, to the State Board of Arbitration, the decision of that Board to be final.

ANARCHIST FRANCH EXECUTED.

The Excelons Baml-Thrower Dies Under the Garrole.

Jose Falvador Franch, the anarchist, who threw the dynamite bomb at the Liceo Theatre, Barcelona, Spain, on November 7, 1893, killing twenty persons and wounding fifty others, was executed by the garrote. He displayed the utmost bravado, shouted "Down with the religion," and died almost with the words of an anarchist song upon his lips, Franch spent the last twenty-four hours of his life in the black-draped chapel of the prison, and his wife and little daughter were admitted to see him in the chapel. But their te .derness and sympathy were utterly thrown away upon the hardened criminal, who also remained obdurate to the administrations of the priests who kept him company in the chapel. He scoffed at their supplications to prepare himself for death and laughed derisively at their reference to a future life. His wife made a last effort to soften his heart, but he roughly told her to go away, and she tearfully withdrew a'ter kissing him.

To the privats he said, with contempt: "I fooled you nicely. Hypocrisy is a new weapon which I have shown anarchists how to use."

As the anarchist mounted the steps leading to the platform upon which was the garrote he shouted: "Down with all religion! Vive Banarchie!"

The executioners them seized him and as he struggied and cried they forced him into the chair at the back of which was the garrote. Franch was then strapped down to the seat, and as this was being performed he renewed his anarchist cries and tried to sing an anarchist hymn, but his false courage was evidently fast giving away, for he stopped in the midst of his death song to implore his executioners to hurry their final preparations for death. The trembling prisoner's neck was then encircled by the fatal collar, the screw was swiftly applied and dea.h was almost instantaneous

A bill is being prepared to be presented at the coming session of the Legislature to bring about a greater 1 itisburg. Director E. M. Bigelow of Public Works is the prime mover in the plan. He said that the best lawyers in the city were busy drawing up the bill in order to make it flawless. The bill will be ready on the first Monday in January. It is proposed to take in almost the entire county in the greater Pittsburg. It will include the cities of Allegheny and McKeesport, the boroughs of Braddock, Homestead, Duquesne, Carnegie, larentum, Sharpsburg, Etna, Gratton, Manstield, Bridgeville, Charters, Beltzhoover, Wilkinsburg, Sewickley, Coraopolis, Bellevue and others. The population of the greater Pittsburg will be at least half a million. The bill will probably be presented in the Legislature by Senator William Flint.
