FINANCIAL REFORM A NECESSITY.

If the present Congress shall adjourn without passing some measure of financial reform, an extra session of Congress in the early spring will be an inexorable necessity. It is not a party question-it is purely a question of patriotism and statesmanship. Our present financial system is today endangering public and private credit and it must be modified.

We are not prepared to say what reform. There are several ways by which it may be obtained, but all must look to the one great end of gradually retiring the circulation of the government that is redeemable in gold. If it can be best done by the pending bill in the House providing for currency reform, let that be adopted. If it can be better done by funding the entire obligations of the government at a low interest and making the bonds a basis for banking, let that be done. Or, if neither can be successful, let Congress give the nation the best financial reform bill it can obtain.

A funding bill would cut up the present evils by the roots at once and establish credit beyond doubt, but there may be elements in Congress sufficiently powerful to defeat the measure that will steadily oppose any increase of interest-bearing debt. As a rule, those people do not want hones money, and would prefer "wild cat" currency to any increase of the obligations of the government. This element is not confined to either party, and no sound financial bill can be adopted by the present Congress unless the patriotic men of both parties shall unite in its support.

Financial reform is an imperative necessity, and any of the measures proposed, however imperfect they may be, will be better than none. Let the statesmen of both parties confer manfully on the subject and unite on the best measure that can attain success. Even if imperfect, it will proclaim to the world our intention to maintain public credit at every hazard by houest money of equal value at home and abroad.-Philadelphia Times.

In Schuylkill county the poor-house investigation has exposed scandalous immorality in that institution and some of the managers will be prosecuted in consequence.

Poor-house scandals are not rare occurrences, and when not of the immoral sort they are of the wholesale plundering stripe which entail onerous taxation upon the county affected.

In February Centre county will vote for or against a poor-house; some districts would have their poor-tax lessened by having a poor-house; the Pennsyalley districts would have their poor-taxes increased by it. But this is not the most serious objection, the mismanagement and plundering that has been carried on in many counties by the managers of the alms-houses, is where great wrong and taxation have fallen upon the taxpayers. If our county in February votes in favor of a poor-house, it is to be hoped such safeguards will be thrown around it that thieves can not break in and steal.

Down in Savannah street car fares have been reduced to 1 cent by having competition. That's cheap, sure, and hadn't we better all go down and take a ride?

The thumb is an unfailing index of character. The Square Type indicates a strong will, great energy and firmness. Closely allied is the Spatulated Type, the thumb of those of advanced ideas and business ability. Both of these types belong to the busy man or woman; and Demorest's Family Marazine prepares especially for such persons a whole volume of new ideas, condensed in a small space, so that the record of the whole world's work for a month may be read in half an hour. The Conical Type indicates refinement, culture, and a love of music poetry, and fiction. A person with this type of thumb will thoroughly enjoy the literary attractions of Demorest's Magazine. The Artistic Type indicates a love of beauty and art, which will find rare pleasure in the magnificent oil-picture of roses, 16½ x24 inches, reproduced from the original painting by De Longpré, the most celebrated of living flower-painters, which will be given to every subscriber to Demorest's Magazine for 1855. The cost of this superb work of art was $250,000: and the reproduction cannot be distingnished from the original. Besides this, an exquisite oil or water-color picture is published in each number of the Magazine, and the articles are so profusely and superbly illustrated that the Magazine is, in reality, a portfolio of art works of the highest order. The Philosophic Type is the thumb of the thinker and inventor of ideas, who will be deeply interested in those developed monthly in Demorest's Magazine, in every one of its numerous departments, which over the entire artistic and eclentific field, chroniching every fact, fancy, and fad of the day.
