Paris was a famous and cultivated city ages before Venice. If we search for them, we may find in it historical associations that may vie with those of any city in the world, except Rome and Constantinople; and even its antiquarian and artistic remains are seldom equaled or surpassed. At Rome, Florence, or Venice, the tourist talks of old churches, palaces, and remains; at Paris he gives himself up to the boulevards, the theaters, shops, and races. The profoundly instructive history, the profuse antiquarian remains of the great city, are forgotten-carent quia vate sacro.—The Spectator.

The Eminent Brooklyn Divine's Sunday Sermon.

Subject: "Points of Compass."

TEXT: "They shall come from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and shall sit down."—Luke

The man who wrote this was at one time a practicing physician, at another time a tallented painter, at another time a powerful preacher, at another time a reporter—an inspired reporter. God bless and help and inspire all reporters! From their pens drops the health or poison of Nations. The name of this reporter was Lucanus. For short he was called Luke, and in my text, although stenography had not yet been born, he reports verbatim a sermon of Christ which in one paragraph bowls the round world into the light of the millennium. "They shall come from the East, and from the West, and from the North, and from the South, and The man who wrote this was at one time a ship captain about noon, whether on the Pacific or the Indian or Bengal or Mediterranean or Red Sez, looking through a nautical instrument to find just where we were sailing, and it is well to know that, though the captain tells you that there are thirty-two points of division of the compass card in the mariner's compass, there are only four cardinal points, and my text hails them—the North, the South, the East, the West. So I spread out before us the map of west. So I spread out before us the map of the world to see the extent of the gospel eampaign. The hardest part of the field to be taken is the North, because our gospel is an emotional gospel, and the Nations of the far North are a cold-blooded race. They dwell amid icebergs and eternal snows and everlasting winter. Greenlanders, Laplanders, Icelanders, Siberians—their vehicle is the siedge drawn by reindeer, their apparel the thic est furs at all seasons, their xistence a lifetime battle with the cold. The winter charges upon them with swords of icicle and strikes them with builets of hail and pounds them with battling rams of gla-

But already the buts of the arctic hear But already the huts of the arctic hear the songs of divine worship. Already the snows fall on open New Testaments, Al-ready the warmth of the sun of righteous-ness begins to be felt through the bodies and minds and souls of the Hyperboreans. Down from Nova Zembla, down from Spitzbergen seas, down from the land of the mid-night sun, down from the palaces of crystal, down over realms of ice and over dominions of snow and through hurricanes of sleet Christ's disciples are coming from the North. The inhabitants of Hudson Bay are gathering to the cross. The Church Missionary Society in those polar climes has been grandly successful in establishing tw-nty-four gospel stations, and over 12,000 natives have believed and been baptized. The Moravians have kindled the light of the gospei all up and down Labrador. The Da-nish mission has gathered disciples from among the shivering inhabitants of Greenland. William Duncau preaches the gospel up in the chill latitudes of Columbia, delivering one sermon nine times in the same day to as many different tribes who listen, and then go forth to build school houses and

The Jeannette went down in latitude seven-ty-seven, while DeLong and his freezing and dying men stood watching it from the crumbling and crackling polar pack, but the old ship of the gospel sails as unburt in lati-tude seventy-seven as in our own forty degrees, and the one starred flag floats above the topgallants in Baffin's Bay and Hudson's Strait and Melville Sound. The heroism of polar expedition, which has made the names of Sebastian Cabot and Scoresby and Schwatka and Henry Hudson immortal, is to be eclipsed by the prowess of the men and women who amid the frosts of highest latitudes are this moment taking the upper shores of Europe, Asia and America for God. Scientists have never been able to agree as to what is the aurora borealis, or northern lights. I can tell them. It is the banner of victory for Christ spread out in the nothern night heavens. Partially fulfilled already the prophecy of my text, to be completely fulfilled in the near future, "They shall come from the North" from the North. But my text takes in the opposite point of the compass. The far South has, through high temperature, temptations to lethargy and indolence and hot blood which tend toward multiform evil. We have through my text got the North in, notwithstanding its frosts, and the same text brings in the South notwithstanding its towards. South, notwithstanding its torridity. fields of cactus, the orange groves and the thickets of magnolia are to be surrendered to the Lord Almighty. The South! That means Mexico and all the regions that William H. The South That means Java for God, Sumatra for God, Borneo for God, Siam for God.

A ship was wrecked near one of these islands, and two lifeboats put out for shore, but those who arrived in the first boat were clubbed to death by the cannibals, and the other boat put back and was somehow saved. Years passed on, and one of that very crew was wrecked again with others on the same rocks. Crawling up on the shore, they proone of the churches in this city, a man one of the cannibals in one of the churches in this city, a man one of the churches in this city, a man one of the church in the caverns, but mounting the rocks they staggered up on the pulpit stairs, maudling the saved! "They shall come from the "They shall come from the South."

But I must not forget that my text takes in another cardinal point of the compass. It takes in the East. I have to report that in a journey around the world there is nothing so much impresses one as the fact that the missionaries divinely blessed are taking the world for God. The horrible war between the property of the company of the compan the world for God. The horrible war between Japan and China will leave the last wall of opposition flat in the dust. War is barbarism always and everywhere. We hold ap our hands in amazement at the massacre at Port Arthur, as though Christian Nations could never go into such diabolism. We forget Fort Pillow! We forget the fact that during our war both North and South rejoiced when there were 10,000 more wounded and slain on the opposite side.
War, whether in China or the United States, is hell let loose. But one good result vill come from the Japanese-Chinese conflict. These regions will be more open to c wilization and Christianity than ever betore. When Missionary Carey put before an sembly of ministers at Northamption his project for the evangelization of India, they laughed him out of the house. From Calcutta on the east of India to Bombay on the west there is not a neighborhood but directly. Then there are among these toreigners so

In all those regions are men and women with the consecration of Melville B. Cox, who, embarking for the missionary work in Africa, said to a fellow student, "If I die in Africa, come and write my epitaph." "What shall I write for your epitaph?" said the student. "Write," said he, "these words: "Let a thousand fall before Africa be given

There is another point of the compass that my text includes. "They shall come from the West." That means America redeemed. Everything between Atlantic and Pacific Oceans to be brought within the circle of holiness and rapture. Will it be done by wordly reform or evangelism? Will it be law or gospel? I am glad that a wave of reform has swept across this land, and all the cities are feeling the advantage of the mighty movement. Let the good work go on until the last municipal evil is ex-tirpated. About fifteen years ago the dis-tinguished editor of a New York daily newspaper said to me in his editorial H. Seward's folly, turns out to be William voice of God through the American missionaries, men and women as defiant of arctic hardships as the old Scottish chief who, when camping out in a winter's night hardships as the old Scottish chief who, when camping out in a winter's night knocked from under his son's head a pillow of snow, saying that such indulgence in luxury would weaken and disgrace the clan.

The Jeannette went down in latitude clan. preached a series of sermons warning young men and setting forth the work that must be done lest the judgments of God whelm this city with more awiul submergement than the volcanic deluge that buried Herculaneum and Pompell. I received as nearly as I can remember, several hundred columns of newspaper abuse for undertaking that explorapaper abuse for undertaking that explora-tion. Editorials of denunciation, double leaded, and with captions in great primer type, entitled "The Fall of Talmage," or "Talmage Makes the Mistake of His Life," or "Down With Talmage," but I still live and am in full sympathy with all movements for municipal purification.

But a movement which ends with crime exposed and law executed stops half way. Nay, it stops long before it gets half way. The law never yet saved anybody, never yet changed anybody. Break up all the houses of iniquity in this city, and you only send the occupants to other cities. Break down all the policemen in New York, and while it changes their worldly fortunes it does not change their heart or life. The greatest want in New York to-day is the transform-ing power of the gospel of Jesus Christ to change the heart and the life and uplift the tone of moral sentiment and make men do right not because they are afraid of Ludlow Street Jail or Sing Sing, but because they love God and bate unrighteousness. never heard, nor have you heard, of anything except the gospelthat proposes to regenerate the heart, and by the influence of that regenerated heart rectify the life. Execute the law most certainly, but preach the gospel by all means in churches, in theatres, in homes, in prisons on the land and on the in homes, in prisons, on the land and on the sea. The gospel is the only power that can revolutionize society and save the world. All ise is half and half work and will not last. on his knees in his tent of exploration Already about 750,000 converts to Christianity in Africa. The South! That means all the lislands strewn by omnipotent hand through phia when I was living there. A poor woman had been arrested and tried and imprisoned for selling molasses candy on Sunday. Other lawbreakers had been allowed to go undisturbed, and the grogshops were open on the Lord's Dar, and the law, with its hands behind its back, walked up and down the streets declining to molest many of the offenders, but we all rose up in our righteous indignation, and calling upon all righteous indignation, and calling upon all powers, visible and invisible, to help us, we declared that though the heavens fell no woman should be allowed to sell molasses candy on Sunday.

A few weeks ago, after I had preached in cure the abominations of New York about as soon as smallpox would cure typhoid fever or a buzzsaw render Haydn's "Creation." Politics in all our cities has become so corrupt that the only difference between the Republican and Democratic parties is that each is worse than the other. But what nothing else in the universe can do the gospel can and will accomplish. "They snall come from the West," and for that purpose the evangelistic batteries are planted all along the Pacific coast, as they are planted all along the Pacific coast, as they are planted all along the mountains, all the valleys, all the cities are under more or less gospel influence, and when we get enough faith and consecretion for the work this whole American continent will cry out for God. "They shall come from the West."

The work is not so difficulty as many suppose. You say, "There are the foreign pop-

Of course far away from the place of their childhood there are high obstacles to be overcome, and and the graves of their ancestors, and our great ordeals must be passed through before glorious religion presented to them aright the consummation, as witness the Armenians will meet their needs and fill their souls and under the butchery of the Turks. May that kindle their enthusiasm. They shall come throne on the banks of the Bosphorus soon from amid the wheat sheaves of Dakota, and

And they will come at the cail of the love-light formula of the come in the care of the come of the care of And they will come at the cail of the love-liest and grandest and best men and women of all time. I mean the missionaries. Dis-solute Americans and Englishmen who have gone to Calcutta and Bombay and Canton to make their fortunes defame the missionaries because the holy lives and the pure house-holds of those missionaries are a constantre-time have been on the run. "They shall sit bolds of those missionaries are a constant rebuke to the American and English libertines stopping there, but the men and women of God there stationed go on gloriously with their work. People just as good and self denying as was Missionary Moffat, who, when asked to write in an album, wrote these words:

"They shall sit down!" Why run any longer! When a man gets heaven, what more can he get? "They shall sit down." Not alone, but picked companionship of the universe; not embarrassed, though a seraph should sit down on one side of you and an archangel on the other.

There is that mother who, through all the years of infancy and childhood, was kept running amid sick trundle beds, now to shake up the pillow for that flaxen head, and now to give a drink to those parched lips, and now to hush the frightened dream of a little one, and when there was one less of the children, because the great lover of children had litted one out of the croup into the easy breathing of celestial atmosphere, the mother putting all the more anxious care on those who were left, so weary of care on those who were left, so weary of arm and foot and back and head, so often crying out: "I am so tired! I am so tired!" Her work done, she shall sit down, and that business man for thirty, forty, fifty years has kept on the run, not urged by selfish-ness, but for the purpose of achieving a livelihood for the household. On the run from store to store, or from factory to factory, meeting this loss and discovering that inaccuracy and suffering betrayal or disappointment, nevermore to be cheated or per-plexed or exasperated, he shall sit down, not in a great armchair of heaven, for the rockers of such a chair would imply one's need of soothing, of changing to easy pos-ture or semi-invalidism, but a turone, solid as eternity and radiant as the morning after a night of storm. "They shall sit down" I notice that the most of the styles of toil require an erect attitude. There are the thousands of girls behind counters, many such persons through the inhumanity of employers compelled to stand, even when because a lack of customers there is no need that they stand. Then there are all the car-penfers, and the stonemasons, and the blacksmiths, and the farmers, and the engitions, they must stand. But ahead of all those who love and serve the Lord is a resting place, a complete relaxation of fatigued muscle, something cushioned and upnols tered and embroidered, with the very ease of heaven. "They shall sit down." Rest of heaven. from toil, rest from pain, rest from persecu-tion, rest from uncertainty. Beautiful, joyous, transporting, everlasting rest!

Oh, men and women of the frozen North, and the blooming South, and from the realms of the rising or setting sun, through Christ get your sins forgiven and start for the place where you may at last sit down in blissful recovery from the fatigues of earth, while there roll over you the raptures of heaven. Many of you have had such a rough tussie in this world that if your faculties were not perfect in heaven you would some time forget yourself and say, "It is time for me to start on that journey," or "It must be time for me to count out the drops of that medicine," or "I wonder what new attack there is on me through the newspapers?" or "Do you think I will save anything of those crops from the grasshoppers, or the locusts, or the droughts?" or "I wonder now much I have lost in that last bargain?" or "I must hurry lest I miss the train." No, no! The last volume of direful, earthly experiences last paragraph, the last sentence, the last word. Finis!

How Time Tables Are Distributed.

Many people must have noticed a oig wagon, built after the fashion of a United States mail wagon, only the front and rear being wide open, the ontside covered with time tables and the inside full of pigeonholes containing the same character of literature.

This outfit is seen going from one hotel and railroad station and ferryhouse to another daily. One of the agile young men jumped out and disappeared within the place. He darts to the rack containing time tables, and makes a hasty investigation. Having ascertained just what cases are exhausted, he returns and gets a fresh supply from the wagon and distributes them in the rack. The wagon

This work used to be done by special men of the companies interested, and kept upward of sixty men constantly busy. Now the thing is so systematized that three men cover over one hundred railway and steamship lines. There are a good many places where these time tables are to be found, though possibly few people know of this scheme of distribution. It is the enterprise of a Pittsburg man. He also has foreign railways on his list .-- New York Herald.

I was down in the mining regions of Mexico for some time and had a good chance to observe their habits. They still persist in carrying the ore from the mines in bags on their backs. I knew a case where a contractor secured a number of wheelbarrows, thinking to help their labors. They accepted barrows all right, but would not use them as they were intended to be used. Instead of wheeling them they would fill them up and carry the barrows with their contents on their backs, as they had done with their bags. Another amusing case of their stupidity was shown when an American living down there, purchased a stove for his servants, who were peons, to cook on. They would not touch the stove, but persisted in adhering to their old custom of sitting in front of a charcoal fire, fan in hand and waving it to make the pot boil. MEDICAL DISCOVERY

Many years ago Dr. R. V. Pierce, chief consulting physician to the Invalids' Hotel and Surgical Institute, Buffalo, N. Y., com-pounded this medicine of vegetable ingredients which had an especial effect upon the stomach and liver, rousing the organs to healthful activity as well as purifying and enriching the blood. By such means the stomach and the nerves are supplied with pure blood; they will not do duty without it any more than a locomotive can run with out coal. You can not get a lasting cure of Dyspepsia, or Indigestion, by taking artificially digested foods or pepsin—the stomach must do its own work in its own way. Do not put your nerves to sleep with so-called celery mixtures, it is better to go to the seat of the difficulty and feed the nerve cells on the food they require. Dyspepsia, Indigestion, Biliousness and Nervous Affections, such as sleeplessness and weak, nervous feelings are completely cured by the "Discovery."
