ANNOUNCEMENTS.

We are authorized to announce the name of William F. Smith, of Bellefonte, as a candidate for the nomination of Prothonotary, subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic county convention.

We are authorized to announce the name of William J. Singer, of Bellefonte, as a candidate for the nomination of District Attorney, subject to the rules and regulations of the Democratic county convention.

THE "JINGO" HUMBUNG.

The Republican party are evidently very hard put to it in finding an issue upon which they can go to the country in the next Presidential election against the Democrats and thus get the offices they so much covet. They cannot make a howl on the silver question, since honors are about equally divided, if honors there be in such a miserable squabble. The Republican silverite is about as plentiful as the Democratic, and he occupies an equally high and important place in his party's counsels.

In this dreadful situation, and when the country does not seem to be rallying around the banner of the G. O. P., the only thing left is to give the British lion's tail a twist every now and then from the safe position of three thousand miles distance. The best way to do this is to pass some resolutions in which you condemn the policy of the Democratic administration concerning Nicaragua, call the President, in a cheap sneer, "Grover," shout vociferously that the Old Party would never permit a red-coat to land anywhere on this western hemisphere, and generally show to beholders that a calamity howler with lungs like the furnace of an ocean steamer has climbed up into a place which ought to be reserved for men of calm judicial temper, able to dignify the position and be of help to the country. Now if you will give the people time, they will generally find out the trick in this whole contemptible business, and conclude that it is done merely to make a stir and call attention to your waning prospects.

For the moment they look into the case they will find that the Administration could not do otherwise than they have done and maintain our reputation as good neighbors. England has done only what we would and ought to have done in a similar case, what any self-respecting government would do, what it must do or be voted out of first-class nations. England had an official representative in Nicaragua. For some reason he was mistreated by the people of that country. England demanded reparation just as we would have done, in order to protect her citizens in their lawful rights all over the globe. Nicaragua refused—and then England proceeded to punish her and prevent such a thing in the future. She demanded a money consideration and when this was refused she sent her ships to collect the bill.

Then Nicaragua waked up to the fact that something must be done, and after the troops had landed, she paid the money and apologized. When this was done, England retired and the incident was over to the infinite disgust and disappointment of the blow-hards who hoped that we might somehow get into a war about it and give them a chance to make money by swindling the government in some way or other. Every government must maintain the safety and dignity of its official representatives, and any other government that would try to prevent it from so doing, would be in the wrong and soon find itself in very hot water.

We are not set for the defense of any other land but our own. Washington told us to keep clear of entangling alliances; and the "Monroe Doctrine," of which we hear so much, has not the slightest application to the case of Nicaragua. Those who assert that it has, proclaim their ignorance of the principles set forth by President Monroe, who was not such a fool as to commit us to the defense of all the wild, ungovernable peoples who in Central and South America change their government almost every Saturday night. For the true "Monroe Doctrine," the American people will ever stand, as they stood against the French years ago for putting the Austrian prince on a throne in Mexico; but as for this bastard "Monroe Doctrine" which the "jingoes" are now trying to foist on the country, the people will have none of it, and every lover of Peace and Good-will and Commercial Intercourse will be glad because the Administration was not made up of "high-fliers" whose statesmanship consists in their ability to cry "mad dog" every time a British ship heaves in sight. Having failed to create any considerable feeling among the people against the Democrats because they did not put on war paint and go down to scare the British away, the jingoes will be forced to look elsewhere for material about which to howl. A fellow introduced one of these fool resolutions into the Connecticut legislature—and the resolution was knocked into a cocked hat when another member moved that one regiment of cavalry and one of infantry be placed upon the Brooklyn bridge which should be loosed from its moorings and floated down there to frighten away the English. The legislature would have saved some of its credit had there been a wise man present to puncture the wind-bag in this very effective way.—Lewisburg Journal.

THAT is a good move in California, just adopted, where the court chooses to order it, alternate jurors—that is, two extra jurors to sit and hear as does the regular panel. Then if one of the latter falls sick an alternate may take his place, and a mistrial be thus avoided.

Why not, as we often thought, have a jury consist of 14 or 15, and require the agreement of 12 out of the number to render a verdict? This would go far to lessen the chances of no verdict because there is one, two or three stubborn fellows in the panel of twelve.

STILL the brightening of times for workingmen and the rise in wheat for the farmer keeps going on in spite of the calamity howl over the Wilson tariff. The 3000 employees of the Pen-coyd Iron Works near Philadelphia had their wages raised 10 per cent. Carnegie's hands, the number of 40,000, have been notified their wages are to be raised 10 per cent.

ON Monday night 70 truant members of our excellent legislature loafing at Harrisburg were called before the bar of the house for contempt in being absent without permission, thus breaking a quorum and stopping legislation. The speaker directed the sergeant-at-arms to hunt up the truants and put them under arrest. They had mostly gone to Philadelphia for a good time while the state was paying them a good salary. Some were attending to private business, some plead sickness, were carousing around the saloons and some were in disreputable houses.

It would have been a blessing if only every mother's son of 'em had skeddaddled from Harrisburg and put an end to the circus that is disgracing the Old Keystone at the state capital. We repeat what we said a few weeks ago, Call out the Harrisburg fire department and turn the hose on them.

FROM YE EARLY DAY.

Old Fort, Lock Haven, Milton, Huntingdon, Philipsburg.
 Potter's Old Fort, one mile from this place, has its history briefly thus related: Soon after the Indian treaty of 1763, James Potter, afterwards a Brigadier General under General George Washington, came up the West Branch and Bald Eagle creek to seek for choice lands. He crossed the Nittany mountain at Logan's Gap, and for the first time set his eyes upon the lovely Penn valley, afterwards his happy home. After reconnoitering the valley, he descended Penn's creek in a canoe—but soon returned again, took up a large body of land, made a settlement there, and erected a Stockade Fort. The place is still known as Potter's Fort. It was about 30 rods south of the Centre Hall station.

Philipsburg, on the western side of this county, is named after Henry and James Phillips, two enterprising and intelligent Englishmen, who laid out the town in 1797. The first house erected in the "wilderness town" was built by John Henry Simler. The following extract, from "notes of a traveler," in 1830, will show what it was then: "We proceeded over an excellent turnpike to Philipsburg, which may emphatically be called a town of stumps. Hairs never stood more plentifully on a dog's back than the stumps in Philipsburg, yet it is a stirring place." We suggest that Philipsburg, now the largest town in this county, have a big centennial celebration in 1897.

This is the centennial year for Milton. The town was laid out in 1795.

The site of Lock Haven in 1833 was a cornfield. The town was laid out by Jeremiah church in 1834.

Well Rendered.

The entertainment given by Prof. Wolf's school last Friday evening in the auditorium in Grange Park, was well rendered to a large and appreciative audience. The entertainment consisted of recitations, essays, dialogues, music, etc., and was carefully prepared. The scholars did well and were heartily applauded throughout.
