THE COUNTRY HAS PEACE.

In 1868 when General Grant, the great chieftain of the Union, was nominated for President, he struck the popular chord of the considerate and patriotic people of both sections when he said: "Let us have peace." the most impressive lesson of the absolute attainment of peace between the two sections of the Union which were once estranged by war. On the bloodiest battle-field of that conflict, at Chickamaugua, the surviving veterans of both armies met to inaugurate the Chickamaugua National Park. The soldiers who wore the blue and the gray were there mingling in their efforts to commemorate the heroism of the American people. Orators who spoke for the north, orators who spoke for the south, and grizzled warriors who had fought each other on that deadly field, met without a trace of the enmity of war, and all saluted the same flag and cheered the progress of the same country. The soldiers have thus taught the nation that there is absolute peace at last, and that all who are devoted to the unity and prosperity of the Republic can rejoice that the last dregs of fraternal strife have per-

PROSPERITY AND POLITICS.

Gov. McKinley might better save the powder with which it is said he proposes to fire a counterblast to Postmaster-General Wilson's letter to the World on the success of the tariff.

The people can be trusted to remember the operations of the McKinley tariff and to observe the effects of the present one. They know that there was no increase in wages to correspond with the increase in duties under "the shopping woman" told Mr. Reed, that there was an increase in prices. They remember that Gov. Campbell and other Democratic speakers vainly challenged the Republicans in the caman increase of wages in the industries that had received higher bounties in return for their campaign contributions. They remember—the Homestead workers in particuler-actual reductions in wages. Important Experiments.

At the Altoona shops the Pennsylvania railroad company is building the McKinley act. They know, as three mogul compound locomotives, which will be identical in every respect except the parts which control the compound feature. The cylinders will be of the same proportions. One will have the Lindner starting valve, paign of 1891 to name one instance of one will have the Richmond locomotive works intercepting valve and one will be built with the Pittsburg locomotive works arrangement for regulating the admission of steam in starting. It is the intention when the engines are finished to put them all into the same kind of service and subject them ly news, recently reprinted in the to a lengthened test under conditions as nearly uniform as possible. The decision to select these types of compounds was arrived at on account of the experience with engines compound-

A Tragedy at Huntingdon. At 2.30 o'clock Wednesday afternoon Rev. A. R. Lambert went to Juniata township, Huntingdon county, and united Jesse Morningstar and Mary A. Bowser in marriage. About an hour after the ceremony while the bride was sitting on the groom's lap, George B. Spoonybarger, Morningstar's brother-in-law handed him a gun and the weapon was accidentally discharged.

The shot took off the whole upper part of the groom's head and his brains were scattered all over the bride and the room in which they were sitting.

A Great University Projected.

Some of the prominent members of the Knights Templar are planning the establishment of a national university for both sexes, to be controlled by and in the interests of all Masons, with a permanent endowment of not less than $50,000,000. According to the plans children of all Master Masons can secure a complete education from the age of ten years and upwards, along any line of instruction they may desire. The buildings are to accommodate 10,-000 students.

Allowances to Be Made.

Every column of a newspaper contains from 5,000 to 25,000 distinct pieces of metal, according to the size of the paper and the type. Displacement of any one of these means an error. Is it any wonder that errors sometimes occur? Still, some people think it is awful to see mistakes in a newspaper and when they find one they make it a point to tell the editor about it.

A panther, measuring thirteen feet from tip to tip, and weighing 265 pounds, was killed on Saturday, near Snow Shoe, by Charles Watson, a teleanimals that escaped from the show at the time of the wreck near Tyrone.

Big and Good.

The corn is now being cut off in the valley and the farmers are well pleased with the harvest. Many fields however, were ruined early in the spring, but those replanted have turned out exceedingly well. The yield will be big, and the valley will have the largest crop for years. The ear is large, and the grain full.

Down Low.

Potatoes are still low in price, and about twenty cents per bushel seems to be all that can be had for them. Commission merchants are somewhat scary about buying them, owing to the big crop, and danger of soon rotting.

Approaching Wedding.

Next Thursday Miss Agnes, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Alex McCoy, of Potters Mills, will be married to Rev. Potts, of Pleasant Unity, Pa. The wedding will take place at the home of the bride's parents, and a large number of guests have been invited.
