ATLANTA'S FAIR.

The Danger of Deforestation Emphasized.

Writes About the Atlanta Exhibit and the Good It Does.

The rustic building in which the forestry and mining exhibits are contained is one of the most interesting on the Exposition grounds. The forestry exhibits have all been installed under the direction of Dr. B. E. Fernow the well known head of the Forestry Division of the Agricultural Department at Washington, On the top of the building is one of the largest roof gardens in the world. The entire building is lighted with over five hundre ! lights and make an impressive effec:

Still another interesting exhibit is that prepared by Dr. Fernow showing the destructive effect of deauding hills of their forest growth, the manner in which to restore the forests and the effect after restoration.

THE FORESTRY EXHIBITS. Dr. Fernow, has furnished the following article on his department:-The idea which prevades the display in the Forestry Department is to bring before the visitor all information obtainable regarding the extent, dis'ribution, character and usefu ness of the forest resources of the Southern States. The exhibits therefore are primarily not of a commercial and competitive character, but the instructive features are made most prominent. Therefore variety is the striking feature.

Where the different types of forest growth are to be found is shown by a series of maps-A botanical display of arborescent flora

The remarkable size to which some of the species attain is illustrated by exhibits from North Carolina. The beauty of color and of grain are shown in an exhibit from Arkansas and in a series of highly polished columns which line the center able. A remarkable exhibit from Michigan of veneers of the finest early woods in sizes, such as have never before been polished, shows the remarkable beauty of these curious grains, other country can vie with the woods of the South. This statement is not vitiated even by the most attractive display of the Argentine Republic which occupies the entire east wall of the building. Its woods are the richest in color, but have little variety of grain. and are hard to work. This variety in application is brought out by a series of panels, which indicate the use of wood in the kitchen, in the laundry, in the grocery, the workshop, the field and the garden, in fishing and boating and in every other occupation of man. All are represented in such manner as to show the gradual development from the rough block hewn in the forest to the finished article.

GEN. SCHOFIELD'S RETIREMENT

It Will Occur on Saturday, but There Will Be No Special Ceremonies.

The legal retirement, on account of age, of Lieutenan:-General Schoffeld, the head of the army wil be marked by no special ceremony. The actual termination of Generai Schofield's connection with the active list ends on the 29th inst. He has completed all important plans and tasks which he hall in view and has finished his final report to the Secretary of War, in which document he has embodied an account of his recent lengthy frans-continen al tour and Alaskan visit. On this trip be-inspected all the important posts, and included in his olservation the military stations in the East before he returned to Washington.

The Secretary, following a custom of long army announcing General Schoffeld's retirement an i add the tribute which it is the rule to ; ay prominent officers on their retirement. It is probable that at the same time or shor.ly af erward the Secretary will direct General Miles to report at army headquarters. It is understood that there is already a well developed plan to approach the next Co gress and secure for General Miles the rank and perquisites of the grade of lieutenant-

General Miles's friends will use the elevation of General Schoffeld as a rea-on for extending to his successor, a man of ac ive and conspicuous gallactry during the war, the h ghest title and pay which can be held by an army officer and which can only be conferred by special act of Congress. GUATEMALA SETTLES.

Pays Indemnity for Arresting and Beating Americans.

The State Department has succeeded in settling an indemnity claim against the Guatemalan Government in behalf of three American laborers, W. H. Argall, Henry Thomas and Robert Pardee. The matter has been pending for about a year. The three Americans concerned were employed by a Mr. Van de Putte near the city of Guatemala to demolish a small shed and carry the material to a designated spot. While in the act of carrying out these directions, the American lab r rs were arrested by the Guatema. lan police and taken to the penitentiary. They were not served with warrants, nor were they told of the charge against them. They were furnished with neither warrant nor charge, but were placed, according to the description from our legation in Guatemals, in a vile, dirty prison with thieves, robbers and murderers, without having even violated a law or having the intention to do

Inquiry of Guatemalan officials developed the lact that the shed which the Americans were demolishing for their Belgian employer had been erected by an officer of the Gov. ernment on land which Van de Putte claimed to be his. The offense of the Guatemalan Government was somewhat aggravated by the fact that the Minister's messenger sent to confer with the prisoners in the penitentiary was denied admission, and our request to the Guatemaian Minister of Foreign Affairs for permission to send our Vice Counsel General on a similar errand was not reilied to The State Department pressed the Guatemaian Government for an explanation, and it has been forced to acknowledge the culpability of the Guatemalan officals. Argall has been paid an indemnity of $600 and Thomas and Pardee have received $300

Herr Friedrich Nietzeche, who was assailed by Simon Max Nordau as one of the worst examples of modern degenerates, has neatly turned the tables on his critic by having an article, written by himself in 1888, published this month. It takes Nordau's view of Wagner exactly. Nietzeche's test of a good music as it does not make him "perspire." He is gool when listening to "Carmen," but perspires horribly in "Parsifal." Wagner is a decadent, a disease, a rattlesnake that fascinates the very young. His music is "gymnastics of the loathsome on the roje of enharmonics." All that is in Nordau's own view, and as it anticipates him byseven years he retort is perfect.

SUNK BY A TORPEDO.

Different Explanation of the Wrecking of the Spanish Cruiser.

An entirely different explanation of the sinking of the Spanish cruser Barcastegul, and the loss of 46 lives in the harbor of Havana is made in letters received in Philadelphia by a distinguished member of the Cuban revolutionary party.

According to the news telegraphed from Havana the day after the catas:rophe was due to a collision between the cruiser and the merchant s.eamer Mortera, It is now stated as an absolute fact that the Borcastegul was sunk by a floating torpedo launched by an adventurous party of Cubans. The Cuban leader who received the letter said: "The Spanish Government knows Inil well what sunk their bes. cruiser in the Cuban waters, and sent to their deaths Admira; Delgode Parejo, in command of the Spanish navy in Cuban waters, 7 officers and 34 men. We know that before the dispatch relating to the accident was sent it was carefully edit. d by the press censor."
