PLUNGE TO DEATH. Fifteen Persons Drowned at Cleveland, Ohio. WERE IN A TROLLEY CAR.

Details of the Accident as Told by the Motorman-Some Agonizing Scenes-Where the Accident Occurred.

A trolley car, loaded with men, women and children, plunged through an open draw straight down a hundred feet at the Central Viaduct into the Cayahoga river at Cleveland, Ohio, and fifteen persons were drowned. This is how the accident occurred as related by Bridge Captain Charles Brenner, who was an eye-witness to the aceident: "About 7.30 o'clock p. m., when a boat coming up the river whistled for the drawbridge, I gave the signals to Engineer Patterson and the gate guards. I shut both gates at the north approach myself, ran up the red light on the pole and hung the red lanterns on the gates. Then I gave the engineer the signal to draw the wedge and also gave the signal of one bell, which was the order to swing the bridge. The bridge had swung clear around and the boat had approached almost under it when I was dumfounded to see a large combination street car, with at least twenty passengers inside, slowly but surely approaching and only about forty feet away. I cried out with all my might, 'Stop, stop; for God sake stop that car!' The motorman was endeavoring to stop the car, but it seemed that his efforts were of no use, for the car came steadily and crashed into the iron gates, which gave way, and in a second the car had gone over the precipice. Just as the car struck the gate the frightened motorman jumped and fell on the bridge. No blame can be attached to those in charge of the bridge. The accident is entirely the fault of the crew of the motor car. On the rear platform of the car before it made the terrible plunge were C. A. Ferguson, of Parma, Ohio John Seriger, Hank Peters, of Dover; G. O. Hoss and Y. Radke and Jake Heller, All jumped and were saved."

The Central Viaduct, where the accident occured, is a hugh stilt bridge, 3,000 feet long made of iron. It connects the heights and the prosperous residence section on the South Side with the business centre of the city. Directly over the river is a drawbridge of the pivot-swinging pattern, and this is 101 feet. above the surface of the water. The South Side Street Railroad passes over the bridge, and on either side of the draw there is a safety switch, which, unless the conductor alights and holds up a handle, will send a car into the gutter instead of allowing it to go on the draw.

THE TRADE OUTLOOK.

Wheat Movement a Perplexing Problem-Decline in Iron Prices. NEW YORK, Nov. 15 .- R. G. Dun & Co.'s

"The scare about gold exports had no real Women Were Butchered by weekly review of trade says: significance, and although $2,500,000 more will go out, the stock market has been recovering. There was and is a substantial cause of difficulty in the fact that exports of products have been too small to meet the greatly increased imports of merchandise. The collapse of Kaffir speculations abroad has forced many to realize on American securities held. But there is no local disturbance of money markets.

"Wheat perplexes the oldest inhabitant. There is really little reason to expect a yield larger than last year's, but Western receipts, 8,202,864 bushels against 4,026,639 last year do not mean searcity of wheat. Probably it is true that the aftempt to induce farmers to keep back their wheat in July has ended in larger sales at lower prices in November, and prices have now declined so far that for the first time in many months Atlantic exports exceed those of a year ago. The decline, 1c., is not much, but does not mean confidence in renewed advance. Corn is scarcely lower, but without the aid of government report all know that the supply will largely exceed all home and foreign demands.

"The output of pig-iron on Nevember 1 was 217,306 tons weekly, about 10 per cent. larger than ever before, and continuance of the same production for six weeks more. would make the half-year's output 5,350,000 tons or more, about 450,000 tons greater than in any other half-year. The startling fact is that the demand for products of iron and steel falls off, notwithstanding the increase in output of pig, and though only a few concerns have closed or reduced work or wages on account of lack of orders, prices are sinking, having declined 2.7 per cent. for the week, and 6.4 per cent, for the highest point. Bessemer pig billets, gray forge, bar, tank steel plates, structural angles and wire nails have all sold lower within the past week, though quotations are kept up as far as possible by associations. Minor metals are on the whole lower, though tin has stiffened a little, but lake copper sold at 111/2 cents and is weak, and lead is decidedly weak on account of the consumption of foreign, and is quoted at 3.17% cents.

"The woolen manufacturer has to meet this year with two difficulties-the remarkable demand for elay worsteds, which has encouraged an advance of 10 percent. in price, and the heavy imports of woolen goods, which have amounted for nine months of the current year to 58,456,402 pounds against 12,907,068 last year and 20,398,465 in the same months of 1892. But sales of wool continue large, being for two weeks of November 12,-192,950 pounds against 12,298,600 in 1892, in spite of the fact that parts of the works are closed or working only part force."

ported From the South.

Reports to the Manufacturers' Record show that the question of emigration to the South is attracting increased attention, both in this country and abroad. Many Northern and Western farmers are seeking homes in the South, and arrangements are being made for bringing many settlers from Europe. Austin Corbin, of New York, reported last week as to build a 50-mlle railroad in Arkansas to open up large plantations, is bringing to this country nearly a thousand Italians, mainly farmers, who, it is reported, have purchased farms in the Arkansas section which he controls. In some portions of the South where Italian colonists have been settled for some years, the colonists have greatly prospered these Indians may receive aid from the sav- not only in general farming, but especially in fruit and truck growing and have added largely to the prosperity of the community in which they have settled.

Among industrial enterprises reported for the week was a depot to cost about $100,000, to be built at Atlanta by the Seaboard Air Line. A location is being sought in the South by a combination of Northern and Southern people for a million dollar cotton mill enterprise. Alabama reports pipe works, ice and cold storage plant, enlargement of engine works, water works and fertilizer* factory; Arkansas, ice and cold storage plant, a $25,000 improvement company, wire-fencing and woodworking factory; Georgia, freight car works and an enlargement of a cotton mill; Louisiana, a 300-barrel rice mill; Mississippi, 30ton ice plant, electric light plant and water works; North Carolina, 10,000 spindle and carnest in his desire to carry into effect the 500 loom cotton mill; Texas, $15,000 brick works, $50,000 packing company, $50,000 brick works and $15,000 sash and blind factory: Virginia, $10,000 chemical works, $15,-000 stone-crushing company, box factory, brewery, &c. In addition to these there were a large number of miscellaneous enterprises scattered throughout the South.

CHICAGO'S FIRE HORROR.

Five Lives Lost in the Flames-Brave Men " Buried.

The interior of the Exchange Building, a even-story structure at the corner of Van Buren and Franklin streets, was destroyed by fire, entailing a loss of $375,000 upon the owners and tenants of the building, and causing the loss of five lives, the fatal injury of two others and the injury of six other people, who may recover.

It was a few minutes before 9 o'clock A. M., when Rose Brace, employed by Stern & Biers, noticed that the corridors were filling with smoke. She ran into the workroom where 30 girls were working, and alarmed them. Instantly there was confusion.

Although every effort was made to control the frightened girls, several opened the windows and climbed out on the ledges. One of the first to do this was Nellie Turner. She screamed for help and someone on the ground shouted for her to jump. She, however, went to another window near the fire-escape and climbed out. Those below watched her movements carefully and anxiously. She grasped the escape and swung herself off from the stone ledge on which she had stood, and hundreds on the street cheered. She descended, and Officer Flaherty, who was on the fire escape, started up to assist her. He was too late, She suddenly lost her balance and fell.
