Experience has made the men of the fruit stands overcautious in handling coin above the size of a ten-cent piece. The larger pieces they will test upon the payment or sink their teeth into in a tentative fashion. It is noticed, however, that whenever a customer makes a penny purchase they pocket his change without scanning it-almost hastily indeed. There is deep reason for this precedure.

For one thing, nobody counterfeits the cent piece -it is too cheap. For another thing, the fruit dealer knows that no coin of smaller denomination is passing into his hands. For a third thing, and this is the most important, there is always a chance that a oustomer is deceived himself and is handling over a nickel, a dime or one of the minor gold pieces, under the im-fremendous Payment in Territory and Money Paid by France to Germany Other Indemnities - Settlement for the Fenian Raid in Canada.

Perhaps the most enormous terms ever imposed by a conqueror upon his defeated foe were those to which Germany subjected France in 1871 at the close of the historic conflict that culminated in the capitulation of Paris. They consisted of the cession of the major portion of Alsace and of Lorraine, including the great fortresses of Strasburg and of Metz, and the payment of war indemnity amounting to the colossal sum of $1,000,000,000. This indemnity is worthy of especial notice, for the reason that it greatly exceeds the actual expense to which Germany was put by the war, and was therefore a punitive or "moral and intellectual damage" indemnity, to some extent, such as "Oom" Paul Kruger wants to collect from England for the Jameson Raid-but won't. In the war of 1870-'71 the time was twentyeight weeks from the entrance of German troops into French territory to the surrender of Belfort. The German troops engaged may be taken, for all practical purposes, as an even million, the official figures of the active forces being 781,000 at the commencement of the war and 937,000 at its close. The total German losses are placed at 128,000, the killed alone numbering 29,000.

Germany therefore received in cash $35 a week for each man's services, or $8,000 for each man lost; on the whole pretty good pay. But Germany-or Prussia, has a habit that way. Only four years before the war with France she took $41,750,000 from Austria and her allies, besides $3,750,000 requi sitioned during the campaign. This war lasted only a month. Prussia had 437,900 men in the field and lost 11,000. The indemnity gave her $25 a week for each man's services, or $4.250 for each man.

It is thanks to the intervention of Russia that Japan was prevented from exacting an indemnity of analagous proportions at the close of her war with China. She was forced to content herself with a mere bagatelle of $185,000,000, receiving in addition the island of Formosa and the Pescadores, neither of which had ever been of any use, either financial or political. to China, and which will make necessary the expenditure of much treasure and life before Japan can receive any profit therefrom. The war lasted about nine months, and 80,000 troops were engaged on Japan's side. The indemnity paid, therefore, $60 a week of railroad schemes ever devised is now to be added to the strange things of modern times. A balloon is to be the propelling power used in carrying passengers to and from the top of the Hochstauffen mountain, at Bad Richenhall, a well-known watering place in the Austrian Alps. The plan is known as the aerostatic railroad, and is the invention of Engineer Valderauer. The power by which this entrancing mountain top is now to be reached by visitors is furnished by a captive balloon, which runs along a track built at the side of the roadbed -a trailer, furnished with many wheels, clasping this wooden rail, and to this trailer the passenger car being fastened. The operator has a seat in the car, and a cord swings between his place and the balloon, by which the gas supply is regulated; he has also several brakes and safety valves at hand in case of accident. At the foot of this unique railroad is a gas tank and a generator, gas being made here to illuminate the town, and also for the purpose of filling the balloon. A charge sufficient to carry the car to the top of the mountain is given it at the start, and when the grade has been mounted, and all is ready for the return down the mountain, a small quantity of gas is released, and the car starts down.

The Balloon Railroad. What is pronounced the most novel

Summer Care of Blankets.

Blankets after the winter use are never clean, and should not be put away without being washed. Many housekeepers in view of the shrinking and discoloring caused by washing, satisfy themselves with airing and shaking their blankets, but this is a great mistake, for if the work is propa great mistake, for if the work is prop-erly done the soft appearance and white-ness may be retained for years. The most important consideration in washing blankets is to have plenty of washing blankets is to an inferior cheap soft water and good soap. An inferior cheap soap is really the cause of the injury done woolen goods in washing, as it bardens and yellows the fibre. When ready to begin the work, shake the blankets free of dust, fill a tub nearly full of soft hot water, and dissolve a third of a cake of Ivory soap in it. Put one blanket in at a time and dip up and down, gently washing with the hands. Never rub soap on blankets, or wash on the washboard. After the blankets are clean, rinse them in warm water until free of suds. Add a little bluing to the last water. Shake and squeeze rather than wring, and hang on the line until dry. Then fold and pack away in a box securely to exclude the moth. Blankets washed in this way will keep their original freshness and wear very much longer than if put away soiled year after year. ### THE HEAT PLAGUE OF AUGUST, 1896.

Mrs. Pinkham's Explanation of the Unusual Number of Deaths and Prostrations Among Women.

The great neat plague of August, 1896, was not without its lesson. One could not fail to notice in the long lists of the dead throughout this country, that so many of the victims were women in their thirties, and women between forty-five and fifty.

The women who succumbed to the protracted heat were women whose energies were exhausted by sufferings peculiar to their sex; women who, taking no thought of themselves, or who, attaching no importance to first symptoms, allowed their female system to become run down.

Constipation, capricious appetite, restlessness, forebodings of evil, vertigo, languor, and weakness, especially in the morning, an itching sensation which suddenly attacks one at night, or whenever the blood becomes overheated, are all warnings. Don't wait too long to build up your strength, that is now a positive necessity! Lydia E. , Pinkham's Vegetable Compound has specific curative powers. for each man. The conflict which Italy has been waging with Abyssinia for more than a decade past has recently been brought to a conclusion by King Humbert's withdrawal of his claims to suzerainty over the Negus, by the surrender of the major part of Italy's possessions in Africa to Abyssinia, and by the payment of an indemnity amounting to about $800,000. The Turko-Russian war of 1877 came to a close with the treaty of San Ste fano, the terms of which were revised in 1878 by the Congress of Berlin. They comprised among other things the surrender of the Sultan's protectorate over Rumania and Servia, the practical abandonment to Austria of Herzegovina and Bosnia, the grant of independence to Bulgaria, and of autonomy to Rumelia, the Prince of Bulgaria remaining, however, subject to the suzeranity of the Sultan. The Sublime Porte was compelled to pay a war indemnity to Russia amounting to the sum of $160,000,000.

Great Britain has received two indemnities of considerable amount from China. The first was one of $20,000,000 altogether, but part of it went to compensate merchants for opium delivered up to the Chinese Government, and the portion specifically claimed on account of the expenses of the expedition just equalled the vote of credit. The second indemnity, of 1860, was about $10,000,000, or less than one-third of the vote of credit for the war. The settlement of Canada's claim for indemnity for the Fenian raids from this country is noteworthy. By the first raid Canada lost six men killed and thirty-one wounded; she had to call 20,000 volunteers to arms; she had to guard the frontier with 17,000 regulars and volunteers, as well as several gunboats on the river and lakes. Her farmers lost heavily, as the raid occurred at a busy time of year; and she had to pay sway a lot of money in pensions and gratuities. Yet the United States did not pay a farthing compensation! When Canada pressed the matter on the HomeGovernment she was assured that it was not worth while making a clain, 1.5 "the amount of compensation would be so smal'." And, finally, the matter was arranged by the English Government guaranteeing a Canadian loan of $18,000,000, "on the understanding," wrote Lord Kimberley, "that Canada abandons all claims on this country (Great Britain) on account of the Fenian raids."

When his widow died forty years after, the following lin. com-pleted her inscription: "Here I am.
