PENNSYLVANIA ITEMS.

Visitors at the Mahanoy City Park was startled when Clarence Anstock, aged 18 years, died from heart failure while training on his wheel at the park. He had ridden 21 consecutive laps, occasionally sprinting, and had then retired to the grandstand. Upon the advice of a friend he returned to the track to ride slowly in order to cool off. After riding thus 100 yards he fell from his wheel and was picked up dead. Anstock was one of the most enthusiastic athleter in the city and was very popniar in athletic circles.

Patrick Doran, of 2331 Clayton street, Philadelphia, a gardener employed by the Pennsylvania Railroad, was fataily injured directly in front of the railroad station at Ardmore. Doran attempted to cross the track and was struck by an engine. He was taken to the Presbyterian Hospital at Philadelphia, where he died from a fractured skull. He was a bachelor.

Miss Ella MacMurtrie, aged 17 years, of Coal Castle, died from the effect of eating toadstools, which she mistook for mushrooms. An eight-year-old child named Kinney, who also ate of them is in a precarious condition, but hopes are entertained for her recovery. Tuesday afternoon the latter went down to spend a few hours with Miss MacMurtrie. On her return home she became very fil and her parents were at a loss to understand what was wrong. The child finally told them that she had been eating mushrooms, as she thought, with Miss Mac Murtrie. Later the usual symptoms in cases of this kind developed. Medical aid was summoned and she has a chance of recovery. Miss MacMurtrie was taken ill about the same time and died in agony.

Dr. Carl Seller, of Philadelphia, had a room in the Place building and much of his property was destroyed.

Assassinated by an Anarchist at a Resort Near San Sebastian.

THREE BULLETS FIRED.

The Wounded Statesman Falls Dying at the Feet of Elis Wife-He Expires in an Hour-The Assassin a Neapolitan Named Golli-Senor Cos-Gayon, Minister of Interior, to Act as Premier.

Senor Canovas del Castillo, prime minister of Spain, was assassinated Sunday at Santa Agueda by an anarchist.

The murderer fired three shots, one of which struck the Premier in the forehead and another in the breast. The wounded man fell, dying, at the feet of his wife, who was with him, lingering an hour in agony, and then passing away crying "Long Live Spain," which were the last words upon his lips. Santa Agueda is noted for its baths. It is between San Sabastian, the summer residence of the Spanish court, and Vittoria, the capital of the province of Alava. The Premier went there last Thursday to take a three weeks' course of the baths, after which he expected to return to San Sebastian to meet United States Minister Woodford.

Murderer Said it Was Vengeance. The assassin was arrested soon after the shooting. He is a Neapolitan, and gives the name of Rinaldi, but it is believed by the police that this is an assumed name and that his real name is Michele Angino Golli. The murderer says he killed Senor Canovas "in accomplishment of a just vengeance," and that the deed is the outcome of a vast anarchist conspiracy. He is believed to have arrived at Santa Agueda the same day as the premier, and was frequently seen lurking in the passages of the bathing establishment in a suspicious manner. The assassin narrowly escaped lynching at the hands of the crowd that rushed forward. Detectives and civil guards secured him. He was pale, trembling violently and evidently feared that he would be killed on the spot. He will be arraigned before the local magistrates at Vergara.

Shot While Waiting for His Wife.

At the moment of assassination Senor Canovas was waiting in the gallery of a bathing establishment for his wife, who was to join him for luncheon. Suddenly the assassin, who had the appearance of an ordinary visitor, approached and fired at him point blank. He fell instantly and never recovered consciousness.

Several medical men and his wife were unremitting in their attentions. The Queen Regent, on hearing the news, dispatched her own physician, Dr. Bustos, by a special train from San Sebastian. Later, on learning that Senor Canovas was dead, she wired her condolences to the widow.

Queen Regent Will Return.

The Queen Regent and all the members of the cabinet will return to Madrid. Her Majesty has entrusted the presidency of the council to General Azcarraga, minister of War.

WHEAT CROP'S GREAT VALUE.

Expert Places This Year's Yield Ahead of All Save That of 1891.

"With the possible exception of 1891, this year's wheat crop will be worth more than any other in the history of the country," said an expert crop statistician of the Agricultural Department, Washington. "It now appears," he continued, "as if this year's crop would fall slightly below that of 1891 in quantity, but how its selling price will ultimately compare cannot be fully foreseen.

"In 1891, according to the Department returns, the amount of wheat harvested in this country reached 611,000,000 bushels. Our crop last year was 427,000,000 and 467 .-000,000 bushels in 1895. The Department has as yet made no exact statement concerning this year's crop, but from trustworthy commercial estimates daily coming in, it seems safe ito say that the figures will run from 550,000,000 to 600,000 bushels, or, if anything. but little short of the extraordinary record of 1891.

"How this year's ultimate prices will compare with those of 1891 it is impossible to tell. The shortage abroad is the result of a succession of bad crops quite as much as of this year's failures. The reserve stocks of the world were very low when this season began. Argenting, one of the great wheat countries of the world, has been very unfortunate, particularly on account of droughts. Russia and Austria will, this year, keep their own production at home, and there was a report a few days ago that Russia would put an export duty on wheat. But this seems hardly likely.

"France, which is usually a very light importer, will need 80,000,000 bushels this year, while Australia, usually an exporter, may become an importer. The supply of India is also bad."

TYLER THE MAN.

Nominated for Governor of Virginia by the Democratic Convention at Roanoke.

At the evening session of the democratic State convention Hon. J. Hoge Tyler, of Pulaski, was nominated by acclamation for Governor of Virginia.

The convention was called to order at noon by Gen. George J. Hundley, of Amelia county, acting chairman of the State central committee. The Academy of Music was packed from pit to the highest gallery with delegates and visitors, and on the stage were Senators Daniel and Martin. Every Congressman in the State, State Senators, members of the House of Delegates, and nearly every democratic politician of prominence in Virginia. In calling the convention to order, General Hundley made a short and happy speech, in which he announced the temporary officers of the convention.

The convention at 5 o'clock took a recess until 8 o'clock.

When the convention reassembled at 8 clock Mr. Carter Glass, editor of the Lynchburg News, placed in nomination for Governor Hon. J. Hoge Tyler, of Pulaski, the mention of whose name was the signal for loud and continued applause. Mr. Glass said, among other things, that Major Tyler would go into the gubernatorial office a democrat and remain a democrat, which remark seemed to be understood as a hit at Governor O'Ferrall, and was received with loud and long-continued applause. George W. Miles, of Radford, seconded the nomination of Major Tyler for Governor in a short speech after which Hon. J. Taylor Ellyson, a candidate for the gubernatorial nomination, moved that Major Tyler be nominated by acclamation, which was done.

MARCHED INTO WHEELING.

Miners Crossed From Ohio and Shut Down the Boggs' Run Mines.

Tuesday morning 280 miners from the Wheeling Creek mines in Belmont county, O., marched to Wheeling, arriving within the city limits at 3 o'clock. They marched for four miles through the city in a decorous manner, and at 4 o'clock arrived at the Boggs' Run mines at Forty-eighth street. There they met 200 other miners from Moundsville, Glendale, Elm Grove and Bellaire, Ohlo, and surrounded the mine entrance. Most of the men had their dinner buckets with them and were prepared for a siege.

When the Boggs' Run miners appeared to go to work, about 5 o'clock, they were stopped and reasoned with, and in twenty minutes all had agreed to join the strike. An agreement was at once drawn up and signed. A strong detachment then marched to the Riverside and Belmont mines at Twenty-fifth street, and at once received assurances that the men would join the strike. A like attack will be made at Elm Grove, where about 40 men are at work out of 120. and these men will be brought out, thus closing down the last working mine in the Pan Handle,

TAXING THE MINER'S GOODS.

Exorbitant Duty Said to Have Been Fixed

by Canada. Representative Lewis, of the State of Washington, had a conference with Treasury officials in Washington in regard to customs matters on the Alaskan-Canadian frontier. He said that he had received word that the Canadian Commissioner of Customs had issued an order fixing the exorbitant rate of 5 cents per pound duty on goods of every description taken by miners into the Klondike country by way of Alaska.

The Treasury officials are inclined to doubt these figures, but will ascertain the facts. If it should be found true the action of the department in establishing a branch Custom House at Dyea may be reconsidered, and steps taken to protect the rights of American miners.
