LINDEN HALL.

What Our Correspondent from Up the Valley Has to Say

We are sorry to say Harry Gross is on the sick list.

Mrs. J. W. Keller shipped a car load of apples on Tuesday.

Howard Miller and wife, of Rebersburg, were the guests of Mrs. Keller a few days of this week.

John Lee and wife and daughter Sadie, of Colyer, were the guests of P. H. Bradford and family Sunday.

Mrs. Cyrus Durst and Mrs. G. W. Kimport spent a few days of this week with their children at Kipple, Pa.

The attraction for some of our boys changes quite often; the last change has been from Farmers Mills to Centre Hill.

Harry Miller, who has been learning the milling trade with A. E. Meyer has finished his course and left for Woodward.

Some of our hustling farmers have their corn all husked and in bins, and the fodder sheltered, and are now ready for winter.

A. E. Zeigler, clerk in J. H. Ross's store, was confined to his home for several days with a very bad cold, but is again able to be about.

On Nov. 1 the postoffice was moved from Mrs. Keller's store to the J. H. Ross store, who will now handle the mail for the next four years.

Mrs. Philip Leister and children, of Pottery Mills, were visiting at her parents home, Mr. and Mrs. Burris, at this place Sunday.

Miss Nora Haffley who had been making her home with Jacob Meyer's family for the last year, left for her home in Aaronsburg Saturday.

James Searson is threshing out his summer crop and will realize about eleven hundred bushels of wheat which will bring a good sum at the dollar mark.

James Wagner and bride moved into half of D. H. Hess's house now occupied by Frank Tharp. James is learning telegraphy at present but will soon receive his diploma.

Hallow'een passed off quite smoothly with the exception of a few boys, who wished to have some fun at the expense of Lucian Spieher, but he was prepared for them and caused quite a scatterment by shooting the contents of a shot gun into their midst. Boys you should never boast of the fun you are going to have.
