DEATH OF MRS. SAMUEL CROTZER.

Sudden Demise of the Lady on Monday Morning.

Mrs. Samuel Crotzer died at her home, about two miles east of Centre Hall, on Monday morning at nine o'clock, after a very short illness, the immediate cause of her death being congestion of the lungs, aged about 49 years.

Mrs. Crotzer's death was very unexpected and a great shock to her friends. She had been suffering from a chronic trouble for a number of years. About three weeks ago she went to Philadelphia where she consulted a specialist at the Medicochi hospital. She returned home greatly improved in health. Several days after being home she caught a bad cold, and was at once confined to her bed. She grew worse rapidly, having several hemorrhages, and death soon followed.

Mrs. Crotzer was a daughter of Isaac Strunk, of Spring Mills, and a sister of Mrs. George S. Clements, of this place. She was the mother of a large family, and her children with the husband survive her. The children are, Andrew, Centre Hall; John, Penn Cave; Mrs. Jennie Zeigler, Milroy, and Ella, also in Mifflin county; Samuel, Joseph, Bruce, Edna and another little daughter are at home.

The funeral was held yesterday morning, the services being held at the home and the remains taken to Mifflin county for interment.

Bull Attacks a Farmer—Narrow Escape.

On the Shugert farm beyond Pleasant Gap, lives John Samsell, who has a bull that has a ring in his nose as all good and bad bulls should have. The farmer on Friday led the bull by a rope through the ring to the watering trough in the barn yard to drink, and all went well until the animal had appeased his thirst when taurus unaccountably turned upon his master, knocked him down, and proceeded to gore; his cries brought his wife and daughter upon the scene, and seeing the dangerous predicament of the father, hurried for two pitch forks and attacked the infuriated beast. This attack diverted the attention of the bull from the man who still held on to the rope, to the women, who fled to the house; this gave Mr. Samsell an opportunity to creep into a pen close by. Dr. Fisher was called, and on examination found the man's arm fractured, his collar bone broken and having some severe cuts.

A Jubilee Number.

The Freeport, Ill., Bulletin, last week published its jubilee number in celebration of its fiftieth year. It began as a small weekly in 1847, called The Prairie Democrat, changing its name afterward to The Freeport Bulletin, and is published daily and weekly, and we are pleased to note, is prosperous, being a fine, ably edited and up-to-date journal. P. O. Stiver, a native of this vicinity, whose widowed mother is a resident of Centre Hall, is one of the editors and proprietors of the Bulletin.

X-Rayed Again.

William Huey, the attache of Musser's hotel, Millheim, who was shot by Dr. Mohn, week before last, was X-rayed again in Dr. Nutt's office, Williamsport, last Thursday night, in efforts to locate the bullet which lodged in the hip. The first X-ray picture did not show the location of the bullet. Thursday evening Dr. Nutt, by the aid of the fluoroscope thought he saw the bullet. An X-ray negative was made and when developed a spot appeared near the surface of the hip, which was thought to be the bullet. Huey is still in the hospital, and up to Tuesday the ball had not been removed.

ROBBERY IN THE NARROWS.

A Mifflinburg Merchant the Victim.—Old Penns Valley Narrows Days Recalled.

The Penns valley Narrows, beyond Woodward, in the early days became famous as the haunt of highway robbers, when merchants and horse and cattle dealers traveled that way with large sums of money in their saddle bags, but since money is used by bank checks, high-way robbers quit business in the Narrows until last, Saturday morning, 13.

Harry Ginsburg was nearly killed by highwaymen, early Saturday morning. Ginsburg has a small store in Mifflinburg, but peddles his wares in adjoining counties. While on his way home that morning he was attacked in the Penns valley Narrows, about 3 or 4 miles east of Woodward, by three masked men, each carrying a Winchester rifle.

While one of the men held his horse the other two dragged him from his wagon. They beat him so badly that he became unconscious. While they were in the act of going through his clothing they were scared away by travelers through the Narrows. Ginsburg had a large sum of money on his person, but it was not discovered. He thinks he can identify one of the parties.

Also Passed Away.

In an article in the Reporter two weeks ago, we referred to the fact that intemperance was on the decrease in our county, all saloons being blotted out and tavern licenses fallen off about one half.

We might also have added that 60 years ago there were some 18 distilleries in Penns valley alone, while of late years there has been only one, the distillery at Woodward.

On the other side of the county there were also quite a number of distilleries, now there is only the one at Pleasant Gap left.

Going back 30 to 50 years ago, every farm house had a barrel of whisky in the cellar and the bottle was taken to every hay and harvest field. Now you can scarce find enough of the ardent on any farm to wet your whistle. Yet the world moves, only there is not as much reeling on terra firma.

Stole Chickens and Lost His Pocket Book.

In Irish valley, Northumberland county, there lives a widow who a few days ago missed a lot of chickens. The other morning she went out to her stable and found that every chicken had been stolen. She decided to look for a trail and examine every imprint in the sand closely. Suddenly she spied an article lying on the ground and picking it up found it to be a pocket book and inside of it was $40. She told her neighbors about it and stated that if the thief would come back he could have it. Up to this time the owner has not appeared on the premises. His chickens cost him a good price.

Minus Their Cash.

A man representing himself as an agent for the Standard Oil company, paid the Belsena merchants a visit two weeks ago. He would sell one or more barrels of oil and five or ten gallons of castor oil, to be shipped to your nearest station. The castor oil had to be paid for in advance and the carbon oil when shipped. As no oil came inquiry was made of the Standard company, who say the man is a fraud. Merchants are minus cash to the amount of castor oil ordered by them, but which was never received.

Juniata's Peach Crop.

Juniata's peach crop was the largest this year in her history. There were shipped from the three stations of Mifflin, Port Royal and Thompson-town, in all 219,237 crates of peaches, and it is estimated that the entire crop amounted to 225,000. The average price received per crate was 50 cents. This would bring into that country $100,000.

Thanksgiving Service.

Union Thanksgiving services will be held in the Reformed church of Centre Hall. Rev. Christine, of the Presbyterian church, will preach the sermon. The members of all the denominations are cordially requested to be present; all others invited. A collection for the suffering in India will be lifted.

Rural Delivery Successful.

The postoffice department has tried free rural delivery over forty-four routes in twenty-nine states, with such satisfactory results that it is looked upon as a feature to be probably added permanently to the postal system.

Water Supply Diminished.

Dr. J. T. Rothrock, the forestry commissioner of the state, has given out the information that the removing of forests in this state has diminished the water supply in our mountain streams sixty per cent. since the year 1810 to the present time.

The new Fall styles of dress suits have been received at the Philad. Branch, Bellefonte, and a more complete stock you will not find. If you need a new dress suit, hat or any furnishing goods, see their stock. Many sales and small profits is the way the firm has built up their large patronage.

KILLED BY THE CARS.

Joseph Fox, sr., Run Over at Bellefonte.

A distressing and fatal accident was telephoned us on Saturday, resulting in the almost sudden death of Joseph Fox, sr., an estimable citizen of Bellefonte, who was struck and run over by two coal cars that were being pushed on the siding at the old Snowshoe station, while he was crossing the siding, and not observing the cars moving towards him, no doubt having his attention diverted by the noise of the engine on the track close by. An eye witness gives an account in the News: George Weight, superintendent of the coal yard, was the first to reach the injured man. Mr. Fox was still unconscious and managed to gasp out his name and then sank into unconsciousness. Soon others reached the scene attracted by the cries of Mr. Weight, and kind hands tenderly lifted and carried the suffering man into the livery stable of Jesse Cox, where he was made as comfortable as possible.

Mrs. Harris and Hays were soon summoned and promptly at his side. On examination it was found that his left foot was cut off above the ankle, and just hung on by the tendons. The limb was also crushed clear up to the waist and it was believed that he was injured internally. He only lived about 20 minutes, passing away shortly after half past eleven.

He was a kind gentleman, universally liked by all who knew him. He was born in Ireland, Feb. 15, 1844, and when quite young he emigrated to this country. He was a skilled carpenter. He leaves a wife and seven children to mourn his departure.

Mr. Fox was a veteran of the late war and has a record in defense of his country that any one might be proud of.

Eye Removed.

On Monday the left eye was removed for Miss Laura Shreffler, daughter of the late Jerry Shreffler, at her home down street. About one year ago she was ill with scarlet fever, which affected her sight. For years she has been devoid of sight with the left eye, and the right one became affected also. To save the sight of the remaining organ the removal of the left one was necessary, and Monday Dr. Jacobs, assisted by Dr. Hays, of Bellefonte, Dr. Musser, of Aaronsburg, and Dr. Van Valzah, of Spring Mills, performed the operation. Miss Laura stood the operation well.

No Need of Dehorning.

Farmers, says an exchange, if you follow these instructions, you need never go to the expense to dehorn your cattle, which are now commencing to grow up. Buy a five cent stick of caustic potash, and as the little horns make the first sign of starting on the little calf, wet them a little, rub them with the caustic stick, and the calf will never know that nature ever intended that it should have horns.

Debating Club.

The proposed debating club will meet Saturday evening, at seven o'clock, in Mr. W. O. Reaick's Hall, to effect an organization. This is a worthy cause, and with the proper interest will provide many entertaining and profitable sessions during the long winter evenings. This is a public movement and deserves your support. Come one, come all.

Another Barn Burned.

At an early hour on Friday morning the large barn of Andrew Oliver, of Graysville, with all its contents, including four head of horses, five cows, last season's crop and farming implements, was totally destroyed by fire, supposed to be the work of tramps or incendiaries. The loss will approximate $3,000, with an insurance of $1,300.
