

PERSONAL MENTION.

Coming and Going.—Visitors in and out of town.

—Miss Roxanna Brisbane visited friends at State College over Sunday.

—Oscar Stover, of Boalsburg, spent Tuesday with his sister, Mrs. Samuel Durst.

—Millheim's postmaster, Jerome Spigelmeier, was a prominent visitor in town Monday.

—Constable John Dunlap, of Bellefonte, was in town Monday on professional business.

—Howard Homan, of Williamsport, gave us a call; he looks well and says he has plenty of work over there.

—Henry Ziegler, of Lindenhall, gave us a business call and before leaving enrolled his name on the Reporter list.

—Mrs. Daniel Hess, of Linden Hall, spent several days of last week at the home of Mr. William Benner, near Old Fort.

—Miss Estie Durst, of near Farmers Mills, was the guest of her friends Misses Sadie and Cora Ott at Bellefonte last week.

—Henry Stoner, Tusseyville's good citizen who was quite ill several weeks ago, has fully recovered, and was out to town yesterday.

—J. B. Royer, of near Bellefonte, gave the Reporter a business call, and always a promptly paying subscriber, he put his label far out into '99.

—Mr. David L. Kerr, one of South Potter's well-to-do and substantial retired farmers, was in to see us a few days ago, while in town on business.

—S. P. Hennich, of Potters Mills, was a pleasant caller, and had his label advanced. He thinks of getting a water motor for power to churn butter and other turns.

—Farmer S. W. Smith will move into town this spring, and occupy the family home. He will have a public sale on March 31st, and dispose of his large stock.

—Mr. A. O. Deining, of Hughesville, Pa., well known to all residents of this valley, was here last week on a visit of several days to his brother, J. O. Deining.

—Rufus Strohm, a student at State College, was compelled to go to the home of his father, James B. Strohm, at Centre Hill, last week, owing to a severe attack of tonsillitis.

—James P. Grove, of Gregg, accompanied by his wife and daughter, gave this office a pleasant call and inspected the mode of printing office work, and had the Grove label set into '98.

—Mr. Wm. C. Farner, of near Potters Mills, was in to see us while in town Monday. Mr. Farner will dispose of his farm stock and implements by sale on March 18, and will retire from farming this spring.

—J. Hale Ross, Linden Hall's live merchant and grain dealer was in town Monday, on a business trip. Mr. Ross has purchased the Meyer flouring mill at that place and will take possession of the plant on March 1st.

—Walter Garrity, who is making his home with his cousin, Pat Garrity, at the famous hunting and fishing resort across in the Seven mountains, occasionally comes out to town, as he did this week to see his friends.

—Mrs. Mary Gregg Miller and sister Miss Annie Gregg, daughters of the late Col. Andrew Gregg, are visiting friends here, their old home. They have been making their home in Philadelphia for some months past.

—Ira C. Korman, the energetic and hustling implement dealer, of Oak Hall, was in town a few days ago. Mr. Korman has a very large stock of farm implements on hand, in fact too many for his available room, and he intends disposing of them by sale on the 22nd. His machines are all new and the sale is sure to attract many buyers.

Letter Boasts to Own All Wheat.

Joseph Leiter, the young man who engineered the corner on December wheat, claims to have all the surplus wheat in the country. He has resold ocean room that he had engaged at the seaboard, and says that this country is the place to sell wheat. He says we have exported 15,000,000 to 20,000,000 bushels more than we had to spare. Broker French, of the clique, figures it out that Leiter's holdings of 15,000,000 bushels here and at other points is just about the surplus, after allowing for bread and seed.

John A. Logan, the General's son, who has not been a speculator heretofore, has been in the market for several days, starting with 100,000 bushels, and has run it up to 500,000 bushels with a 3c profit.

All the old local bulls who were in market last summer are long, but, with few exceptions, none of them is carrying heavy lines.

Mr. F. C. Helbig, a prominent druggist of Lynchburg, Va., says: "One of our citizens was cured of rheumatism of two years standing, by one bottle of Chamberlain's Pain Balm. This liniment is famous for its cures of rheumatism; thousands have been delighted with the prompt relief which it affords. For sale by J. H. Ross, Linden Hall; S. M. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills, and J. J. ... Spring Mills.

COBURN.

Peter Shires, Drayman at Millheim, Met With an Accident.

John Hoffa and wife spent Sunday with their parents, near Lewisburg.

Mrs. J. F. Garthoff is spending a few days at the parental home, in Rebersburg.

Mrs. Sarah Shaffer, of Aaronsburg, is visiting at the home of Samuel Ard, at this place.

James A. Koonsey is in Bellefonte this week, serving in the capacity of a juror.

Mrs. James Burd, of near Lewisburg is circulating among her many friends at this place at present.

W. H. Kerstetter went to Bellefonte on Friday to undergo a medical examination for admittance to the Penn. R. R. Relief Department.

William Corman and wife, of Centre Mills, spent Sunday with the gentleman's parents, John Corman, who live near the iron bridge at Green Briar.

The protracted meeting at Paradise church was closed on Saturday evening. This marked the close of the most interesting meeting held there for many years.

Miss Blanche Bowersox, who had been staying with her sister, Mrs. Howard E. Stover, at Bellefonte came on Saturday, and spent Sunday with her parents, A. J. Bowersox.

The District Teachers' Institute, of District No. 1, will be held in Millheim, on Friday evening and Saturday, February 18 and 19. Dr. M. G. Benedict, of State College, will be the speaker on Friday evening; his subject will be "Habits." No doubt this lecture will be very good, as the Dr.'s talks are always interesting.

On Saturday afternoon Peter Shires, the Millheim drayman, met with a serious accident while helping to unload a heavy piano at the station. He was in the act of putting the small truck, or pony as it is more commonly called, under the box containing the piano, while K. H. Stover was holding the box up; the box somehow swung around for Mr. Stover, and fell upon Mr. Shires' arm, either breaking the bone between the elbow and shoulder, or shattering it, it was not fully known which, at the time. T. B. Witmyer the livery man, took him to Millheim and Dr. Frank was summoned to attend to the wounded member. Mr. Shires some years ago had the same arm broken, and in consequence thereof it remained stiffened. Mr. Shires has the sympathy of all his friends in his misfortune.

A certain lady of our town one day last week placed a lot of feathers in the oven of her cook stove to dry; she built a hot fire, and went about doing her ordinary work, that of visiting her neighbors, when she returned a few hours thereafter, she found the room full of smoke, and the feathers in ashes, a large hole burned in the oilcloth, and her pet canary dead, suffocated by the smoke. The only wonder is that the whole house was not consumed by the fire; but all the woman lamented about, was the loss of her poor, little, dead bird. Our South side poet has dedicated the following lines to console her in her sad affliction.

Four little canary,
Dead in the cage,
Take him up, Mary,
And your grief assuage.
Now in vestures fine,
Let him be wound,
His coffin on pine,
That a friend has found.
In some secluded spot,
Dig him a grave,
Let the rose, and forget-me-not,
Over him wave.
Rest in peace, little canary,
In your nice bed;
Weep not, gentle Mary,
If your pet bird is dead.
Life is real, life is earnest,
And a pet bird is not its goal,
Dust thou art to dust returnest,
Was not spoken of its soul.

Mr. Heckman, of Near this Village, Met With a Serious Accident.

George Huss, the well-known and reliable shoemaker of our village, will with his family, remove to Johnstown during this month. We are very sorry to lose the Major; he is an excellent citizen, a first-class shoemaker and a sound Democrat.

Mrs. W. H. Bartholomew and Mrs. Harry Kramer, of Centre Hall, were here last week visiting relatives and friends. Mrs. Smetzler also from Centre Hall, was visiting here and in Georges valley, for a day or two last week.

Mr. and Mrs. John Kenneley, and Mr. and Mrs. William Steely, from Lewisburg, arrived here in a two horse sleigh on Monday last, making the trip in less than four hours. They were the guests of Mrs. Steely's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Charles Miller.

Mr. Heckman, farmer, residing on the farm of George Krape, a short distance above our village, met with quite a serious accident on Saturday last. Just as he was about leaving the house with a sled, taking some friends to make a few visits, the horses suddenly became frightened, and ran up an embankment, throwing the occupants out, while Mr. Heckman boldly held on to the team and was dragged quite a considerable distance along the road, breaking his arm and several ribs.

The caucus nominees here, as a whole, of both political parties apparently gives general satisfaction, although some very sharp comments are expressed regarding the nomination of John Grove for auditor on the Republican ticket. Mr. Grove was always regarded as an unflinching Democrat, and this defection is puzzling his friends. Some think that the nomination was made without his knowledge, and that he will not accept it.

William Ream, of our village, informed me that instead of continuing the saddlery business on a larger scale than heretofore as he contemplated, he will now retire from the business, having accepted a first rate position in the Spring Mills Creamery Company, and will enter on his new duties at once. An excellent opportunity is now afforded a good workman to open a shop in our village; a good saddler could soon build up a fine paying business.

POTTERS MILLS.

Interesting Items as Gathered by Our Correspondent.

Mrs. Foust is on the sick list. Good sleighing again; everybody is glad.

Will Smiths made a raise; a pair of twins.

Stewart Long made a trip to Le-mont last week.

Frank McCoy was to Centre Hall on business last Friday.

Alex McCoy shipped a lot of hogs and cattle this week.

Lot McClenathan was on the sick list, but is out again.

Messrs. McCool and Brown, of Milroy, were the guests of friends here last Sabbath.

A great deal of wood is being taken out of the mountains here by different parties.

The Shires farm was not sold last Thursday; it will be offered again next Saturday.

One of Philip Leister's hired men tried to break his neck by falling from a prop car.

Irvin Runkle, of Lewisburg, expects to work for Philip Leister; hope he will stay.

Mrs. Davis Evans returned home last week, after a few weeks' visit with her daughters, in Williamsport.

Miss Kate Wilkinson, the accomplished daughter of John Wilkinson, made a visit to friends in Centre Hall last week.

Protracted meeting which had been in progress for several weeks, closed last Friday night. It was a success, quite a number of conversions.

Messrs. Hosterman and Miller, of Centre Hall, were in attendance at meeting at Sprucetown last Sunday night. Come again boys, and try it over.

The Centre Democrat's scribe of this place, said in last week's paper, that (Colyer) was smart enough to play on another young man's credit. That is a mistake, and a sad one too. The scribe himself is not smart enough to keep the public in the dark when he goes to Centre Hall to meet his half-way girl from Pleasant Gap.

LINDEN HALL.

A Breezy Letter from Our Correspondent Up the Valley.

Sleighting is again the latest, and every one seems to be taking advantage of the same.
