York Citizen Falls Among Bad Men a Lancaster - Buildings Unroofed and Trees Blown Down at Greensburg-A Mine Foreman Alleged to Have Accepted a Bribe.

Pleas Court at Media to sustain the validity of an ordinance passed by the borough of Eddystone to compel the Philadelphia, Wilmington & Baltimore Railroad Company to erect safety gates at Saville Avenue crossing in Eddystone. His refusal was because of the unreasonable penalty, $100 for each offense, which the ordinance imposed for each violation by the railroad company for running its trains through the town at a greater speed than twelve miles an hour. The Court said that if the ordinance was sustained it would give the borough the opportunity to sit by for six years and then bring suit for each violation of the ordinance. It was shown that 115 trains a day passed Saville Avenue, most of them without stopping, and the Court figured out that in six years, with the penalty in force, the railroad company would be indebted to the borough in the sum of about $18,000,000. Judge Clayton said it was equal to inflicting capital punishment, when a spanking was all that was necessary.

Drugged and Robbed.

Henry N. Frederick, a produce dealer of York, visited Lancaster and fell in with several men, and in response to their suggestion took part in a poker game in a saloon. Frederick remembers drinking a glass of wine, but nothing more for several hours When he regained consciousness he rushed into the police station and stated that he had been drugged and robbed. He gave a disconnected account of his experience From the clue furnished the police arrested Edward Resh, Harris Libhart, Edward Hegner and Charles Selvert. They were all locked up for a hearing. Frederick claims he was robbed of about $30 in money, but a considerably larger sum was overlooked.

Tornado's Awful Blast.

A strip of country for about three miles, a short distance north of Greensburg, was visited by a tornado which did great damage to the large barn on the stock farm of Colonel F. Y. Clopper and on the farms of Samuel Ruff and Miss Cordelia Rugh. The roof of a stable on the Clopper place was unlifted and carried over a distance of fifty feet. A sleigh was standing in the barnyard and was blown into the orchard, a distance of at least 400 feet. Fences and valuable fruit trees were blown down and destroyed. The electric street car line was damaged, and cars are not running west of Jeanette. A young man named Salsgwer attempted to cross Tub Mill Creek, at Boliver. He was driving two horses in a light buggy. The rig was upset and he had a narrow escape from losing his life. The two animals were drowned.

Clearfield Flooded.

The heavy rains of the last four days produced the highest flood in the Susquebanna since the great flood of 1889. Tae water reached the twelve-foot mark, and a large portion of the town was flooded. All the houses in the upper part of the town and along the river, the brick works of the Clearfield Clay Working Company and the Clearfield Woodenware Works were surrounded by the flood. From some of the houses the inmates had to be taken out in boats, and the family of E. W. Reed had the greatest difficulty in escaping.

Temperance Crusader Arrested.

T. H. C. Maloney, who has for weeks been carrying on a crusade against the unlicensed liquor dealers of Scranton, was arrested and held in ball on a charge of perjury preferred by Simon Narusins. It is alleged by the latter that Maloney committed perjury when he charged him with violating the liquor

Men Blown to Pieces.

A terrible accident occurred at Pottsville, at Kaska William Colliery, in which two miners, Alfred Buff and George Miller, both with large families, were killed, the former being blown to atoms. The men had charged a hole with dynamite, and the connections were made to cause its discharge, but after awalting what they thought a sufficient time, the men came from their place of shelter, when the explosion occurred, and Buff received the full force and was blown into atoms. His partner, Miller, was fatally hurt, dying shortly
