CENTRE HALL, PA., THURS. June 16

Wetzel and Foster, and no more mileage grabs and boodle bills.

And the Spaniards will have occasion to "remember the Maine."

The enthusiasm for Quay's man Stone is not ankle deep in any county in the state.

Had Havana been peppered soon after Manila got its pills, the war would have ended with that. But—

Should Stone be elected—which God forbid—all the plunder schemes vetoed by Gov. Hastings, will be passed again and signed by Stone.

The Philadelphia Press makes the announcement that Harty has joined a combination with Quay. Nothing strange about that.

Save that there may be a few little brushes, the war may be considered over. The American flag has been planted on Cuban soil.

Wm. C. Heinle's unanimous endorsement for senator, was a deserved compliment by the county Democracy. A life-long worker.

John Dillon, of Altoona, was awarded $900 damages for the loss of his 6-year-old son, who was run over by a street car that had no protecting fender.

Whoever runs on the next Republican legislative ticket in this county must define his position as to whether he is Quay or anti-Quay for U. S. Senator.

The Democratic county convention got through with its work quickly, smoothly and satisfactorily and it will find easy ratification at the polls in November.

Col. Spangler for congress, says our county convention without dissenting voice. There should be no No in the conference. The nomination of right belongs to Jack.

Wanamaker and Chas. A. Stone, and their large Republican following, will oppose the election of Quay's man W. A. Stone, for governor. Gov. Hastings and his friends will likewise oppose Stone.

Col. E. A. Irwin, of Curwensville, has announced his candidacy for United States Senator. Col. Irwin is a banker, and a favorite among the old soldiers. He enters the race as an anti-Quay Republican.

The war is actually finished so far as using up Spain is concerned, and if the Dons don't sue for peace, besides having the stuff knocked out of 'em Uncle Sam will kick them full of holes in addition and make them pay for the sole leather too.

Rev. Dr. Swallow continues to tell of ugly steals at Harrisburg, and alleges that he saw a bill for lumber at $24 a thousand presented to the State after the Grace Church capitol repairs, and explains how State officials changed it to $55 a thousand. He says he proposes to prove, by a Harrisburg freeman's testimony on the stump, that the old capitol was fired in several places.

The Democracy of our county on Tuesday placed in nomination a good ticket, one which will command the respect and receive the support of all Democrats and of honest voters in the Republican party who are sick and disgusted with Quay and his methods. The ticket nominated on Tuesday will win and place old Centre in her ancient and honored place in the Democratic column.

Our nominees are men of blameless characters and eminently fitted for the positions for which they are in nomination. We enter this campaign with a strong ticket and a good enough platform for any honest voter.

Mr. John Wanamaker is no muggump or sorehead, but is a Republican in good standing. After the nomination of Col. Stone for governor, in a public address at Oxford, Chester county, he declared that Charles W. Stone could have been nominated "if he had bought back his then-missing votes." This is a pretty blunt intimation that the Quay gang were forced to buy Charles W. Stone delegates in order to nominate William A. Stone. C. W. Stone says substantially the same thing, and he is regarded as a truthful man. Mr. Manamaker says further that for two days preceding the convention "I held in my pocket a signed letter offering to deliver to me for cash a certain number of votes to give me a majority in the convention for any candidate I wanted."

These alleged Democratic papers in Philadelphia—the "Times" and the "Record"—devote about half their editorial brain work to killing off Bryan. They assail him because he doesn't go to the war and because he wants to go—because he keeps up silver agitation and because he has dropped silver. In fact, no matter what Bryan does or fails to do, he is sure to catch it. These esteemed journals are rather overdoing the business. It seems to take a power of printer's ink on their part to keep the dead man dead. It raises the suspicion in the shaming, and doing a great deal of it, remarks the Pittsburgh Post very fittingly.

There is an act on the statute books which makes it a misdemeanor to trespass on the enclosed land of a water company and authorizes any watchman or policeman to arrest such trespasser without a warrant. There is likewise an act prohibiting the burial of the dead on any land the drainage from which passes into any stream used as a source of water supply. The last is an excellent provision. The first is good enough as far as it goes, but it should go farther and permit the arrest of any person who trespasses upon the stream that supplies the water company's customers, or who in any way pollutes it.

ANGLO AMERICAN ALLIANCE

The Outlook: The report which comes from London through the "Daily Telegraph" of the details of negotiations between this country and Great Britain for a definite "good understanding" between them must be taken with a great deal of allowance. They are significant chiefly as indicating the trend of public opinion in both countries, rather than as outlining a definite framework of even a proposed treaty. According to this report, Sir Julian Pauncefote has been conducting negotiations with our Government at Washington on the basis of the following propositions: Great Britain to accept and recognize the Monroe Doctrine; the United States to build the Nicaragua Canal, but Great Britain to have right to use it in time of war; the United States to retain the territory taken from Spain in the present war, and to be protected in retaining it by Great Britain; the United States to support Great Britain in her Eastern policy, and all British ports in the East to be opened to the United States under the most favored nation clause; a permanent arbitration tribunal to be constituted; the United States to have the use of the Welland Canal in case of war. We repeat that we suspect these outlines of an agreement are due largely, if not entirely, to the imagination of a correspondent; yet the fact of Mr. Chamberlain's extraordinary speech gives some color for the belief that there may have been more definite negotiations between England and the United States than the public had supposed. The fact brought out in the recent international Postal Congress that two-thirds of the mail of the world is addressed in the English language has an important bearing on the suggested Anglo-American alliance. There are even suggestions that Germany would not be unwilling to enter into such a quasi international confederacy. It is suggested in Germany itself that community of race, of interest, and of ideals all point in this direction.

Senator Quay's Trip to Harrisburg. Senator Quay absent himself long enough from his duties at Washington to run up to Harrisburg, stay overnight, announce his preferences among the Republican candidates for State offices, and give his orders for their selection. He was able to go back to Washington to look after Federal affairs at 10 o'clock next morning. His plans were carried out without the slip of a cog. Senator Penrose as temporary chairman of the Convention made a tedious speech, in which he failed to mention one subject at issue. He talked of the schools, and the tariff, and the war, and the soldiers, and the flag, and Cuba, and Queen Elizabeth, but said never a word about the mismanagement of State affairs which has bankrupted a fat Treasury, rendered necessary increased taxes, and made the politics of Pennsylvania a byword and a stench from one end of the Union to the other. The platform was as stale and as stupid as the speech before it. Never before were the proceedings of a machine convention more cut and dried. One word covers and comprises it all—Quay. And all the Quay lieutenants sat about and played second fiddle.—Record.
