CENTRE HALL, PA., THURS. Aug. 4

The boasting Dons have not yet taught any yankee to walk Spanish.

The pest of oats flies has disappeared and if next the Quay flies drop out, all will be happy.

Swallow and Wanamaker recently held a confabulation and of the determination we know not.

All, save the speculators, will rejoice over the prospect of peace, and that the war seems to have reached its end. General Miles reports our rule in Porto Rico has already begun, with the backing of four-fifths of the people of the island. The Philadelphia Ledger, independent Rep., in Tuesday's issue, shows up a long list of big blunders made by the war department at Washington in its war plans. Little Peru, away down in a slough, wants to buy ships and fight the United States! As Uncle Sam has about wound up Spain he may want Peru as charm to his watch fob.

The state department of agriculture reports that there are over 1000 brands of fertilizers licensed in Pennsylvania. This is the largest number ever known. If all these fertilizers have the powers claimed for them, there is no reason why every farm in the state should not soon be made as profitable as a gold mine.

Bismark, the great German statesman, known as the iron chancellor, has passed to his reward. He expired at his home at Friedrichsruhe, before 11 o'clock, on night of 30. He will be buried on the hill near his palace. The last words Prince Bismarck uttered were addressed to his daughter, Countess von Rautzau, who wiped the perspiration from his forehead. They were: "Thanks, my child."

There was much misery and sickness in some of the camps, bordering upon the horrible, owing to the lust of gain, favoritism and incompetency, to benefit patriots that have a political pull. Many a brave boy succumbed without any blame to Spanish bullets. Human buzzards have been afforded opportunities to fatten upon the calamities of war and the brave ones carrying the muskets were minus comforts and exposed to want and privation in many instances in consequence.

Why does Spain protest against Uncle Sam's conquest of Puerto Rico? By what means did Spain herself secure the island? Sixteen years after Columbus first discovered the fertile island, with its peaceful inhabitants. the ruthless Spaniards invaded its soil with mere thirst for plunder, and, incredible as it may seem, killed 700,000 natives within a few years! Such a record of murder is unique in the annals of Spanish invasion, says the Philadelphia Record. So complete was the extermination of the original Puertoriquenos that not a relic of them was for a long time found. German archæologists have at last unearthed certain reminders of these pre-Columbian people, which curiosities now repose in the Berlin Museum.

Again and again in these last three months the prisoners we have taken from the Spaniards have been amazed to find that they were not to be tortured and murdered, but were to be treated with kindness and generosity. We cannot wonder at it. They knew no better. They believed what their superior officers had told them. Weyler, ordering his troops to bayonet the sick in hospitals, persuaded them that Americans were savages who murdered and perhaps cannibals who devoured their captives. The Archbishop of Manila, sending innumerable victims to the rack and stake, in a pastoral letter warned his people that the Americans were coming thither to desecrate, ravish and destroy. Thus the soldiers and the people of Spain have literally believed an American conquest was like a conquest by Tilly or by Alva. Those of them who come into direct contact with our arms are now learning better.

Perhaps if the Spanish government would permit knowledge of the truth to become generally diffused, all its own difficulties, as well as the problems of the war, would be brought measurably nearer a solution.

Porto Rico is turning American as fast as the United States troops advance. The Americans do not have to hunt the Spaniards; the citizens are doing that for them. Imagine a city of 50,000 inhabitants, eight-tenths of whom are hunting the other twotenths and bringing them in by the nape of the neck, and wherever they can get hold of them, one, two or three at a time, to the city. Spread over miles of country here and there at frequent intervals may be seen a body of from twenty to fifty excited persons dancing around a house, shouting and yelling at the top of their lungs.

After a while some of them dash off and presently come back to the American soldiers. Then the whole crowd yell: "He is there, he is there; catch him."

The soldiers then go in and pull out a miserable person, and make off with him to the military headquarters. The crowd yells, and some draw their fingers across their throats threateningly, which does not have a very reassuring effect upon the trembling prisoner.
