We're 2'11 in it.

An exchange puts it in this way: We live in a land of high mountains and high taxes, low valleys and low wages, big crooked rivers and big crooked statesmen, big lakes, big pumpkins, big men with pumpkin heads, silver streams that gambol in the mountains, and pious politicians that gambol in the night, roaring catarracts and roaring orators, fast trains, fast horses, fast young men, sharp toed shoes, noisy children, fertile plains that lie like a sheet of water, and a thousand newspapers that lie like everything.

Harry Swab Saves a Little Boy's Life.

A little 6-year old son of landlord Mullinger, of Pleasant Gap, came near strangling to death on Friday afternoon, last. The little fellow was eating a piece of bread, when accidentally a chunk slipped into his throat and stuck there, and the boy was already black in the face, when Harry Swab, of this place, luckily arrived, and seeing the trouble, he took up the little one, face turned down, he hit the boy a severe blow between the shoulders which dislodged the chunk and it dropped from the child's mouth, saving the boy from death by strangulation. This simple remedy is worth remembering.

There was no incriminating evidence and the prisoners discharged, saving the county an expense of a murder trial.

Favor the Oblivion Act.

The attorneys and many officials in courts are now agitating what they call an "oblivion act" or statute, to be passed by the next legislature validating all records prior to 1850, or at least 1840, thus doing away with the cumbersome title examinations now being conducted in every transfer of property, and giving more room in nearly all the county offices, especially the recorder's, and prothonotary's offices.

The Origin of the Phrase.

A correspondent wants to know the origin of the phrase, "he isn't in it." It was first used by an editor who died and went to heaven and looked for the man who took his paper for five years and then refused to pay for it.

A Lively "Celebration."

A lively row took place below the east side of the diamond, late last Saturday afternoon, in which some fellows from up the valley were conspicuous, heated by tangle-foot and involved others from this place, until a great crowd had gathered, including the city officials, with only a feeble attempt to enforce peace. The mob surged to and fro, some with coats off, fists dancing in the air, and heavy swear words falling from their lips. The row lasted about an hour and should have been quelled right in the outset for the disgraceful character of it. This is the second "celebration" we have had within a few weeks.

We were glad to hear that one of our officers announced after the row was over that he had fellows to arrest these men if ever they came back to do it again. This was heroic.

Centre Hall Gets Him.

At a meeting of the school board held on Monday night for the election of teachers for the ensuing school year, Prof. B. Meade Wagen-seller tendered his resignation as a member of the corps of teachers in the Milton High School. Prof. Wagen-seller has accepted a position as principal of schools elsewhere. He leaves Milton having in the three years connected with our schools, established a reputation as an instructor of real worth. He was a conscientious, hardworking and painstaking teacher and who merits the advantage his new position opens to him and while we are sorry to lose him from among us, yet his many friends in Milton congratulate him upon his good fortune and wish him a successful school year.—Miltonian.

Captain Croizer Dead.

The deceased was a genial, whole-souled gentleman. While the Buckails were encamped at Washington, during the rebellion, the editor of the Reporter shared in the hospitalities of Captain Croizer's tent.

How It Worked in Bloomsburg.

It is said that when the Bloomsburg assessors were at work enumerating the school children, the parents of many of them made false returns as to their age, etc., to keep their children at work in the factories. The return made was 200 short of the actual number. Now the school board discovers that the state appropriation which is apportioned upon the number of children of school age, has been cut $800. An extra half mill has been added to the levy in order to keep the school open.

ANOTHER INDUSTRY.

A Creamery Project for Centre Hall—Building Goes Up at Once.

A party from Howard was here on Monday looking for a site for a creamery, if sufficient encouragement is given to the project by our citizens and we have many who are constant in their profession of public spiritedness, and who will not refuse backing when called upon. Besides this desired aid from town the farmers must lend the creamery their patronage to secure its success.

The party at the head of this enterprise, is D. R. Wilson, of the Howard Creamery. After a partial canvass among our farmers, Mr. Wilson met with such encouragement as warranted him to select a site for the necessary buildings on Bartholomew's ground 100 yards east of the station. Work on the creamery building is to begin next week, and by 1 September it is to begin operations.

A Hitch in the Work.

There was a slight hitch in the work on the reservoir of the new boro water plant, owing to the differences between the council and contractors. There is no written contract, only a verbal one between the parties. The contractors were through with the excavating and were about to begin lining the sides and bottom. The council insisted on having a depth of four or five feet more. This necessitated taking out part of the front wall of the reservoir and taking up many lengths of pipe, an additional expense to the contractors. For a couple days work was suspended, but the differences were arranged and work will be resumed. The council is pushing work on their lower reservoir and instead of a clay affair will erect a wooden building of plank.

A Tough One.

The Elizabethtown Echo relates that Dr. E. L. Bertram was called to treat a cow that had swallowed an alarm clock. Several children had been playing on the hay mow, and had a small alarm clock with them, which they left there, and it got among the hay that was fed to the cow, and she managed to swallow the time piece. When Mrs. Brown milked the cow that evening she heard the familiar alarm inside the cow. The doctor was puzzled, and finally decided to give the cow a dose of snuff as an experiment. He got her to sneeze, and up came the clock, which was wound up tightly. The doctor's theory was that the key was against the wall of the stomach, the motion of which kept it wound up.

The New Bankruptcy Law.

The new bankruptcy law is causing a stir among the attorneys in various parts of the state. Copies of the law are greatly in demand, and it is estimated that there are 500,000 people in this country who have failed since the old law was repealed in 1878 that now purpose seeking the privileges of the recent enactment.

An insolvent man may file his petition in bankruptcy in the United States District court after August 2, and one month later he can apply for his discharge. The judge will then have a hearing in court and the bankrupt will be released unless exception shall be filed to his discharge, either on the ground that he has committed offense punishable by imprisonment under the act, or has destroyed or failed to keep his book accounts.

Two Dogs Attacked a Child.

On Wednesday the six-year-old daughter of Sylvester Hill, of near Hughesville, was walking past the residence of Cal Kahler, when two large dogs, owned by that gentleman, ran into the road and attacked the child. Her screams summoned a man to her assistance, who drove the infuriated animals away. The child's body was terribly bitten and her clothes were almost torn from her body. Her condition is serious. The two dogs were afterwards killed.

To Kill Moths.

Closets can be closed and fumigated to kill moths with sulphur in this way: Remove everything. Put a tablespoonful of sulphur in an old cup, set the cup in a basin of water and place on the floor of the closet. Take a hot coal from the fire and drop into the cup. Close the door and await fumes of sulphur, and the close will see them no more this year.
