

PERSONAL MENTION.

Coming and Going.—Visitors in and out of town. —Miss Virna Geiss went to Bellefonte Tuesday on a short visit among friends. —W. W. Boob was in Williamsport last week on a still hunt for machinery. —Jerry I. Condo, Spring Mills' whole-souled old veteran, was in town yesterday. —Miss Sallie McClenahan left on Tuesday for a visit of several weeks in Williamsport. —S. P. Hennich, of Potters Mills, made the Reporter a business call and put his label forward. —Miss Anna McCoy, of Bellefonte, spent several days last week with her aunt, Mrs. J. F. Alexander. —Miss Romie Van Pelt, is home from Wilson College, Chambersburg, on a two weeks' holiday vacation. —A. E. Haugh and wife, of Millflinburg, are here on a week's visit at the home of Mrs. Haugh's sister, Mrs. Ed. Nerhood. —B. D. Brisbin left on Monday afternoon for a two weeks' visit with his daughter, Mrs. Harry Boone, at Schenectady, N. Y. —J. C. Brown, one of our esteemed patrons of Potters Mills, gave our sanctum a call and reports health good in that section. He had his label set to the close of '99. —Bessie and Marion, two bright and interesting little girls, daughters of Mr. Abner Murray, of Boalsburg, have been visiting with relatives in town since Monday. —Jeremiah Snavely, of Spring Mills, one of our former good citizens, was in town Tuesday, calling on his old friends. Although close to us, he does not make frequent trips up here. —Mrs. Lydia Foust, from near Potters Mills, gave the Reporter a business call, and informed us that a hog which dressed 503 pounds, was killed by them a few days ago. That's the way to make a show. —Our former friend James Durst, east of town will likely make sale of his farm stock and implements this spring, and may decide to become one of our good citizens. He has set upon March 10th for his sale. "The D— Case Over." From the Phila. Telegraph, Rep., Dec. 14th. The "Press" this morning prints on its first page the following report of an interview with Mr. Quay and two of his friends, the expurgatory dashes being the "Press'" own device to save its readers a shock: "Senator Quay, accompanied by his son, Andrew G. Curtin Quay, arrived in the city last night and spent the evening with Republican State Chairman Elkin. "A reporter visited Senator Quay in his rooms at the Stratford and asked him if he had anything to say. "Just say that the senator was here consulting with some of his friends," said Chairman Elkin. "Say that father was here consulting with his lawyers regarding his case," said his son. "Don't say that," said Senator Quay. "That would be a d— lie. The d— case is over." The brazen effrontery of its deliverance is barely equalled by its terseness and profanity. So "the d— case is over"—is it? The two justices of the supreme court, by granting the rule for an argument on the question of taking the case out of the hands of the local courts, put an end to it, once and for all—did they? The appeal to these two members of the higher tribunal, on the plea that the accused could not secure a fair and impartial trial before the regular criminal court was not made for the purpose of securing such fair and impartial trial, but for the purpose of preventing a trial, fair or unfair, under any and all circumstances—was it? Mr. Quay, in his pot-house fashion, boldly announces that the interference of Justices Green and Williams was a mere trick to put an end to "the d— case." It would be interesting to know what these two honorable and honored members of the highest judicial tribunal of the state think of it. Pains in the chest when a person has cold indicate a tendency toward pneumonia. A piece of flannel dampened with Chamberlain's Pain Balm and bound on to the chest over the seat of pain will promptly relieve the pain and prevent the threatened attack of pneumonia. This same treatment will cure a lame back in a few hours. Sold by J. H. Ross, Linden Hall; S. M. Swartz, Tusseyville; F. A. Carson, Potters Mills; H. F. Rossman, Spring Mills.

BOALSBURG.

Many People Taken in Buying Jewelry from Peddlers. Our teachers are all at institute this week; several of the directors expect to be in attendance on Thursday. Mrs. Black, who has been ill for several months has recovered sufficiently to be moved, and has gone to the city for medical treatment. Rev. Black visited our village schools last Friday. He reports the schools in a first-class condition, and was very much pleased with the work done. The primary and grammar schools will be closed for institute week only, but the High school will not be resumed until Jan. 2, giving two weeks vacation. The Boalsburg High School Literary Society has elected the following officers for a term of four weeks: Pres. Scott Wieland; vice pres., Dora Meyer; sec'y, Nannie Bailey. Prof. and Mrs. Chas. E. Hower are spending this week in Bellefonte, taking in the institute. They will spend the following week at their former home, Turbotville, Pa. Scott seems to be very much in a hurry on Friday evenings; last Friday evening he wore the Prof's hat to take his girl home. Must not get in such a bluster Scott for she will wait on you. Many ice houses about town were filled last week from the McFarlane dam, two crops having been taken off last week, one of six inches and the other four; both crops were nice and clear. Prof. Rothrock and family, of Millheim, came to Boalsburg Saturday afternoon. The Prof. is attending institute at the county seat this week, while the family are spending several days in town. Christmas services will be celebrated in the several churches next Sunday. In the Reformed church, "Sunday evening, and in the Lutheran Sunday morning. A treat will be given in the Presbyterian Sunday school in the afternoon. Some of our people invested very heavily in jewelry and other articles which were offered for sale by peddlers last week. The vendors sold enormous amounts of goods in this valley, some farmers invested as much as $90.00 in watches and jewelry, and we have learned that many of the watches sold don't run at all. It serves you right. Why did you not go to a good, reliable dealer and buy your goods, it may cost a little more, but you will get satisfaction; you will get what is recommended. Nearly two hundred people were present at the Literary exercises of the High school society Friday evening. A very large collection was taken up for the benefit of the school organ fund. Prof. Hower in the closing address stated: "It is my object to prepare young men and women for college, not a mathematical preparation for a classical education; we are well on the way with such a course at present. I have a number of classes in the higher branches and will by another year have still more branches in the school." He spoke with pride of his school, and we believe the students are equally proud of their teacher.

MILLHEIM.

Important News as Gleaned by Our Correspondent. The rain played out the sleighing in our section, to the discomfiture of the young. J. P. Condo, the enterprising merchant of Millheim, is busy as a nailer, waiting on his many holiday shoppers. Our old maid's sleighing party, hailing from this place, had (to them) an agreeable accident, being upset and rolled out in the snow with their chaplains. Millheim Boro, Miles and Haines townships each will place upon the altar of their country an available candidate for sheriff. It will take an awful amount of hustling for all to get there. R. B. Hartman one of the old citizens of this place, who had been in failing health for some time, was out to church on Sunday morning. His many friends are glad to see him about again. A number of persons took advantage of the fine ice and stored away their summer supply. Others waited for better ice and by waiting may have made a great mistake. The ice ranged in thickness from 6 to 12 inches. The Odd Fellows of Millheim manifested the true brotherly spirit of that order, during the prolonged illness of R. A. Bumiller, who was a member of the Millheim Lodge. Mr. Bumiller was confined to the house ever since the 4th of July, and from that time on they bestowed upon him the tenderest care. Whenever necessary they supplied nurses for the night, and thus relieved the family. No one in town, aside from Mr. Bumiller's family, deserves more credit than Mr. C. W. Hartman. He was there every day and took his turn at night more frequently than any other. Mr. Hartman is a veritable Prince in a sick room; kind, sympathetic and obliging. The community joins in giving due praise to the Odd Fellows for their help and kindness. Truth wears well. People have learned that De Witt's Little Early Risers are reliable little pills for regulating the bowels, curing constipation and sick head ache. They don't gripe; for sale by Smith & Crawford.

SPRING MILLS.

A New Year Letter from Our Neighboring Town. The K. G. E. of our village will have their grand annual supper during the holidays. The Sons of Veterans will also have a supper before the advent of 1899. I hear of quite a number of buildings to be erected the coming spring and summer. A dozen modest, convenient dwellings here at the present time would hardly be vacant an hour. Edward Confer of our village, intends moving west next month. Hand bills announce a sale of his household effects. We are sorry to lose Mr. Confer; he has been a good citizen, and is a sound, unflinching Democrat. D. H. Ruhl our genial landlord, and Republican candidate for the nomination for sheriff, will have a twenty-five pound turkey for dinner on Christmas day. Quite a number of commercial agents informed him that they would dine with him on that day and wanted a "big turkey," so Mr. Ruhl intends giving them plenty of it. We had some little sleighing this week, but of course not of a very superior character. Weather prophets predict plenty of snow this winter, so there is yet ample time for a carnival of sleighs and sleds. Some count the number of storms from the date of the month on which the first snow occurred, others from the antics of animals, some from the peculiar manner in which the first frost twisted the upper rails of a fence. Of course all these signs are simply bosh, and about on a par with the man who could always tell when Sunday came in the middle of the week, by the manner in which a pet yoster followed him up and down stairs. C. P. Long the most enterprising merchant not only of our village, but I can safely say of Penns Valley, has his large establishment fairly packed with holiday goods of every description. Here can be found everything suitable and sensible for Christmas presents for the little people, and in the general selections the big folks were not forgotten or overlooked. For the ladies he has elegant capes and stylish coats so strikingly handsome, that to try either on is equivalent to a purchase, also charming dress patterns, collars, cuffs and a bewildering array of notions, etc. The furnishing department for men and boys contains apparel of almost every grade. In fact during the holidays Mr. Long's establishment will be an arcade for the latest novelties, and just the place to purchase amusing and useful things. Our R. R. station presented quite a lively scene this week. Business called me there on Wednesday last, and it seemed that all our merchants and dealers were shipping poultry, hogs etc., and carting them to the station on that day, determined to be on time for the holidays. About the time confusion was settled, and the freight department well packed, along came O. T. Corman the produce dealer, with two or three wagons loaded ten feet high with crates of chickens, turkeys and geese, also several hogs; this looked again like making confusion worse confounded. If all the stations on that road were similarly crowded on that day, no doubt some of the agents were in despair, not knowing what disposition to make with the unusual amount of freight. But our active agent, V. S. Musser is not often in a quandary; never allows himself to be puzzled or annoyed with a "freight inundation" but attends to his duties understandingly, proceeds to work systematically and finally brings order out of chaos. You invite disappointment when you experiment. De Witt's Little Early Risers are pleasant, easy, thorough little pills. They cure constipation and sick head ache just as sure as you take them; for sale by Smith & Crawford.
