

PERSONAL MENTION.

Coming and Going.—Visitors in and out of town.

—Ezra Tressler, of Linden Hall, was in town Tuesday. —Ira C. Corman, Oakhall's live implement dealer, gave us a call. —Mrs. B. D. Brisbin is visiting with friends at State College this week. —Andy Stiffler, of Centre Hill, is spending a few days visiting at the home of Wm. Colyer. —Miss Roxanna Brisbin was the guest of Miss Florence Rhone, west of town, over Sunday. —Green Irwin, one of Oak Hall's prominent citizens, was in town yesterday transacting business. —Miss Sara McClenahan went to Bloomsburg last Friday, where she expects to remain two or three weeks. —Mrs. Eliza Stump and daughter Miss Anna, east of town, were pleasant callers at the REPORTER office a few days ago. —Wm. Goodhart, an old and valued friend of the Reporter, gave our sanctum a call, and put his label well out into '99. —Our valued friend, George Durst, was a caller and had his label fixed to '99; he is as regular as clockwork in this regard. —Rev. N. J. Duts and bride, whose wedding is noted in another column, were entertained at the home of Mr. George Flory on Monday. —Mrs. Polly Meyer has again returned to the home of her daughter, Mrs. J. Goodling, of Bellefonte, former pastor of the United Evangelical church at Centre Hill, circulated among his friends and parishioners on Tuesday. —Miss Vera Beaver, of Centre Hill, was a pleasant caller; she will leave for Boston this week where she will remain with her sister Frances in the family of Dr. Holloway. —Charles Sweetwood, Guernsey Baer and Wm. Harshbarger, three of Penns Valley's young men, boarded the train at this place Tuesday morning to seek their fortunes in the west. —Miss Helen Bartholomew, teacher of the Millheim primary, was home all last week owing to the serious illness of her mother, who now shows some improvement in her condition. —Wm. Lukenbach, former owner of Bartges' photo gallery in Centre Hill, but located for several months in Philadelphia, arrived last week, and is a guest at the home of William Colyer. Mr. Lukenbach may again embark in the business in this locality. —W. W. Dellett, for several years a good citizen of our lively burg, intends removing with his family this spring to Homestead, Pa. There will be many regretting his removal and will wish him success in the new locality. —Our townsman, J. B. Kreamer is somewhat on the fence as to where he will be hanging up his hat after April 1st. As yet he has not secured a property in Centre Hill, and being the owner of a pretty home at Rebersburg he may remove there. Every one hopes he will stay with us. —Mr. and Mrs. Wm. H. Runkle, Jr., attended the 53rd annual banquet of the Odd Fellows lodge at Bellefonte last Thursday evening. Wm. is a member of the order at Bellefonte, and with his better half, made up the one hundred and fifty who assembled around the festival board.

The Tongue-Tied Youth.

One of the wealthy women on the South Side teaches a Sunday school class composed of street urchins. She lost an Angora kitten last week, and on Sunday told her class she would give a reward to any boy who could find it. The next day a small, red-headed boy rung the door bell and was ushered into the presence of the Sunday school teacher. The boy carried a dirty bundle done up in a piece of bur-lap. "Hereth thoo thitten," he said, holding out the parcel. The woman did not understand the tongue-tied remark, and drew back from the untidy bundle. "My child, I don't know what you are talking about," said she in a tone of offended dignity. "Herth thoo thitten; I thaw him thkippen" up the street, replied the boy. I don't understand you," declared the woman. "Don't try to give me that horrid-looking bundle, for I don't want it." The boy gave her one keen look, then he seemed to be carefully framing up a sentence. Hereth thoo tam old tat," he said; "the thratched me and I want the money."

A Young Girl's Experience.

My daughter's nerves were terribly out of order. She was thin and weak; the least noise startled her, and she was wakeful at night. Before she had taken one package of Celery King the change in her was so great that she could hardly be taken for the same girl. She is rapidly growing well and strong; her complexion is perfect, and she sleeps well every night.—Mrs. Lucy McNutt, Brush Valley, Pa. Celery King for the Nerves, Stomach, Liver, and Kidneys is sold in 25c. and 50c. packages by G. H. Long, Spring Mills. Try the Reporter for all job printing.

REBERSBURG.

Items of Interest from Our Neighbors Down the Valley.

Roads are in pretty good condition again. Mrs. Polly Royer, who was suffering from a bad cold is improving. Elery Krape and mother of our town are moving back to their old home at Clintondale. Our town is not quite rid of counter-felt money, as there was some passed again this week. Miss Lula Abard, who was here visiting her parents, left for her place of work again. Misses Alma Gramley and Grace Miller who attended the convention at Pleasant Gap last week are home. Annie Nearhood entertained Miss Rilla Morris, of Wolfs Store, and Miss Bessie Noll, of Millheim, several days last week. Rev. W. H. Stover left for the Conference of the United Evangelical church and expects to be sent to another circuit. We are sorry to see him go. John Ocker and family formerly of our valley, but now of Laurelton, are moving back on Mr. Gramley's farm west of town. We are glad to see them come. The Sunday schools of our town were small on Sunday on account of the bad weather. The Lutheran congregation had services in the evening, but did not have a great crowd.

SPRING MILLS.

A Letter of Interest as Gathered by Our Correspondent.

The new meat market at this place will be open by the 1st of March when they will be ready to supply the people of Spring Mills and vicinity with the best meat at the lowest price. The Spring Mills Planing Mill Company is now operating their plant to its utmost capacity, and of course on full time. During the recent thaw the engine room, which is three or four feet lower than the mill proper, was completely inundated. It is said that the engineer was obliged to discharge his duties by sailing around in a boat. O. T. Corman the produce dealer, reports eggs very scarce and good butter not very plentiful of late. He has been dealing quite extensively in pork and also seizes all the calf skins he hears tell of for miles around. He remarked that he should now be on the road both night and day to make up for lost time during the blizzard, when nothing was in order but a red hot stove. G. H. Long the active and energetic merchant of our village, has just received from New York a very elegant line of choice dress goods entirely new, for early spring wear, also a large invoice of British hosiery and underwear. All these desirable goods were purchased at a forced sale, and Mr. Long sells them at prices so absurdly low, that it astonishes even the natives. Since the blizzard he has restocked his coal yard; the demand on him was so great during the recent cold snap, that for a day or two he had hardly four pounds of coal left in the yard. The election is over, and all of our people have quietly acquiesced in the result; of course there were several very narrow escapes, but with one or two exceptions, the Democratic ticket was successful. The triangular contest for the township constableness was quite interesting. The defection however, in the Democratic ranks was hardly formidable as was supposed. R. G. Kenneley, Republican candidate evidently captured quite a number of the dissatisfied, as he polled an unusually large vote. Beatty, Independent, made some little headway, while Reuben Kline, regular Democratic nominee and present incumbent, walked into his old familiar office with quite a respectable majority. For two or three days last week, as usual during a thaw, all of our people had the pleasure of wading through our village ankle deep in mud and slush, of course had those alone walks been built—almost commenced a year ago, when suddenly all the volunteer workmen vanished and the improvement collapsed, much of this annoyance would be avoided. Along the creek road we have a very substantial and extended board walk down to a certain alley way, from there begins a beautiful mud walk to the iron bridge over Penns creek, a distance of possibly a hundred feet, making an exception in front of two quite imposing dwellings here, are strips of old broken boards and two or three decayed logs, the dilapidated remains of what was formerly a board walk, but in reality are now simply traps to catch the unwary and the possibility of a broken limb. This rubbish should be removed at once, and the walk made passable and safe, even if it is through mud and slush.

MILLHEIM.

A Report of What Has Happened in the Burg.

Miss Ada Breon is housed up with the gripple. H. F. Keen, of Roland, spent several days in town last week. Mrs. Anna M. Weaver who had been ill for several weeks, is able to be about again. Mrs. Wise, of Centre Hill, is staying with her daughter, Mrs. Lohr, while Rev. Lohr is at conference. Rev. J. J. Lohr delivered his farewell sermon last Sunday evening to a large and appreciative audience.

R. G. Smith, one of our leading young men, went to Jersey Shore last Friday, where he hopes to find employment.

Prof. W. T. Meyer, of Philadelphia, is spending a week in town tuning pianos for M. C. Gephart, our music dealer.

Mrs. J. W. Stover, Mrs. M. C. Spigelmyer and D. L. Zerby will go to Lewisburg on Wednesday afternoon for the purpose of attending the United Ev. Conference which convenes at that place this spring.

Prof. Will Blair, of Millinburg, was in town Tuesday giving musical instructions; the Prof. is a celebrated musician, and it is seldom that we have the opportunity of securing the instructions of so able a man.

AARONSBURG.

Death of Mary Stevens Last Week After a Lingering Illness.

Frank Holloway, who brought to this neighborhood a car load of eighteen horses and had sale on the 22nd ult., still has a few unsold. He starts for Brownstown, Wisconsin, on the 2nd inst., to bring in the second car load of horses.

Mary Stevens, who had a paralytic stroke on the morning of the 21st of last December, died on last Sunday morning and was buried on Tuesday morning. She partly recovered her speech, but her mind was very feeble, and she could not hold a conversation. She was 71 years old and is survived by her brother William, who is 75 years old.

Joe Gramley last week unfortunately cut his hand very badly with an ax, while cutting wood. He held the bill upright with the left hand, his foot slipped, the handle struck his leg causing the ax to glance, striking his hand besides severing muscles, nerves and blood vessels.

TUSSEYVILLE.

The Rival Telephone Companies Getting in Their Work.

A little snow, but not enough for sleighing. Mrs. John Lose, of Bellefonte, is visiting Mrs. Eva Strohm.

Miss Elizabeth Bible visited acquaintances at Potters Mills last week. Mrs. Eva Strohm has been quite ill for several days.

Miss Sallie Fesse came home from Bellefonte, arriving just a short time before the death of her mother.

The boys who serenaded at the Flory-Dubbs wedding were paid for their trouble; they were treated to ice cream and cake.

Two men representing the Bell Telephone Company were through here trying to secure subscribers, by offering a lower rate than the Commercial Company. The Bell Company evidently wishes to monopolize the lines in these parts, and crowd out their rivals in business.

BOALSBURG.

Personal Mention and Other Items of Interest.

John Weber spent part of last week and Sunday with his brother Peter, at Huntingdon.

Matthew Goheen left for Philadelphia Tuesday, where he has secured a position on a street car.

The High school society is preparing for an entertainment to be held in the near future, at which a small admission fee will be taken.

The Presbyterian Missionary society held a social Monday evening and the Missionary from China, Miss Cunningham, gave an interesting address.

Few towns can boast of such a generous citizen as Boalsburg, Wm. Hess with his snow plow may be seen clearing our pavements on snowy mornings before many of our citizens are out of bed.

CENTRE HILL.

Mr. Strohm and Mr. Bible, Two Aged men of this Place Seriously Ill.

The sleet which fell on Sunday, made sleighing for a day. Howard Slabig, who had quite a severe attack of rheumatism, is again at work.

Miss Stover, of Zion, is visiting at the home of her uncle, Benjamin Stover.

Three teachers are now on their home stretch. Three weeks will let them all out.

John Armstrong had the misfortune to sprain his ankle and foot last week, but is improving.

The fight for constable was decided by the election of the Democratic nominee last Tuesday. Quite a relief to a great many.

Father Strohm is still growing weaker, being confined to his bed most of the time; he seems to have an affection of the heart.

Father Bible is also growing weaker rapidly, from the effects of the stroke of paralysis of last summer, which affected his lungs; he has great trouble in breathing at times. In his case as well as Father Strohm, the machine is practically worn out.

LINDEN HALL.

A Breezy Letter from Our Correspondent Up the Valley.

The social on Saturday evening was quite a success; a snug little sum was realized.

Rev. Robert Kline, of Reading, Pa., was the guest of his niece, Mrs. John Frasier, east of town over Sunday; he will visit friends in this community during the week.

Shame on any man or boy who could stoop so low as to steal the hard earned food of a self-supporting widow; why was not the crock taken all the way? For fear of being detected, was it not?

Lonson Burris and James Goodhart, of Centre Hill, took a drive to our pleasant little village on Saturday evening to take in the sights. The bright and fascinating smiles of two of the young ladies proved too much for the young men and they saw them safely home.
