AN EDUCATED SMALL DOG.

Fond of Coffee and Chocolates and Takes Whisky When Ill.

Dandy is a very small, plump little canine, who resides uptown, and who will go down into history as an animal with very human tastes, says the New York Times. He is fond of chocolates, takes coffee every morning and has been known to take whisky. That, however, is not intended to imply that Dandy is given to tippling or looks with pleasure upon the wine when it is red upon ordinary occasions. Perish the thought! Dandy's excellent complexion, bright eyes and general activity and interest in the world at large would give the lie to such a thought.

Dandy is a tiny black-and- tan terrier of the variety usually known 33 the "toy dog." He resides with a member of an old New York family, Miss Griffin, on Twelfth street, when he is not traveling with his mistress and he has never been known to take whisky but once in the five years of his life. That was the only time in his existence that he was ever ill. He had taken dinner, with fresh pork as sun shone brightly. A few hours later dark the piece de resistance, and it did not agree with him. He gave evidence of having a very human pain in his small | 1y. At 3 o'clock the wind rose and heavy Interior and his mistress gave him the only thing she knew that might relieve him-a little whisky. "He semed to like it," said Miss Griffin, "and it really did him good. I had one dog die in the train when I was coming from San Francisco, He was twelve years old and the doctor said the motion of the train affected his heart. I think, though, I might have saved him if I had had a little whisky.'

Miss Griffin is noted for her pets. She is one of the last of her family, has always been fond of pets, and has come now to consider them better companions than human beings. She has a nice little terra-cotta colored German squirrel, chipmunks, gold fish, and turtles, as well as little Dandy, her favorite pet. For a Christmas present Dandy had a big basket, like a covered market basket, with red fiannel and he was buried in the rulns. When disfor a mattress, which serves him at present for a bed, and later will be his traveling carriage Dandy has been quite a traveler, but he has not covered as much territory as his mistress, who has traveled all over this part of the world and through a great part of Europe. In 1900 she expects to go abroad again to cover the part of the continent she has not seen yet, and Dandy, in his basket, will go along. He is a comfortable traveling companion, and no objections are ever made to his presence on train or boat, owing his mistress thinks, to his being such a little fellow. His greatest misfortune, and that of his mistress as well, is in being stolen and then brought back when a sufficient reward is offered. Dandy takes his meals very much as his mistress takes hers. In the morning she has oatmeal and milk Little John Vandermark, the 3-year-old son, has Dandy, and, as she has | was struck by flying timber and had three poured into his milk. For dinner at pierced, and it is feared that he will die. noon he has meat, and at night he takes milk again. Chocolates he takes at all times of the day, and they do not hurt him at all, his mistress says. He takes a chocolate wafer at one the stones being as large as hazel nuts. swallow, as he would a pill, and a big square chocolate he disposes of with a bite or two. Miss Griffin was born on Beach street, in New York. Her father was Charles Alexander Griffin, a lawyer, and her grandfather, George Griffin, was a prominent member of the New York bar.

STORM IN PIKE COUNTY.

Three Persons Fatally Wounded By the Wind That Raged Flercely-Houses and Barns Ruined-Family of Sheriff Vandermark Rushed to a Structure That gists, satisfaction guaranteed, 10c, 25c, 50c. Was Quickly Demolished.

A hall, rain and windstorm that visited Pike county did immense damage. Houses, barns, trees were blown down, cattle killed Dewey at Annapolis. and several persons so severaly injured that death will result. The cyclone, for such was the storm's fury, lasted but a few moments, but it carried as much destruction in its path as if a bombardment had taken place. The loss will amount to thousands of dollars. When Pike county residents rose for the day they found the air as baimy as a June day. The sky was blue and the clouds came up from the east and showers as light as April rains passed over the counany case of Catarrh that cannot be cured by Hall's Catarrh Cure. F. J. The volume of the wind increased, and at half-past three o'clock it was furious. A few minutes later a flerce pear-shaped cloud was noticed coming down he mountain side. It was a cyclone of awful fury. The house of Sheriff Elijah Vandermark, who resides three miles back of Dingman's, was right in the storm's path. The structure was struck with the full force of the storm, which was only a mile or so in area, and completely brown down. The family of the Sheriff together with his wife and a relative named Morris Young, were in the house at the time. All of them were more or less injured by the falling timber. The air was black with flying fragments of barns, houses and trees. Hold Up By Masked Men.

A hold-up in true Western bandit style, occurred at Sayre. Eleven masked and armed men entered the power house of the Waverly, Sayre & Athens Traction Company, and ordering the three employes to hold up their hands, bound them securely and placed them in an empty car, where the workmen were secured by ropes around their necks attached to the handle-bar above them. Then, leaving one man to guard them, the robbers blew open the three safes in the office and secured $175 in cash. Nothing but money was taken. About 4 o'clock one of the men succeeded in freeing his hands, and all were quickly cut loose. The noisce were summoned, but there is no clue.

All the military and civic organizations, with the fire companies of Pottsville and vicinity, were in line. The route of parade lay over the main thoroughfares of the town, and thousands of people from all parts of the county witnessed the demonstration.

Tin Plate Works to Resume.

A telegram from officials of the American Tin Plate Company was received at Johnstown, stating that the local tin plate plant, which has been closed down since the holidays, will be started up as soon as possible, In view of the fact that the consolidation of the trust plants is conceded to be a matter of but a short time, the determination to start the local plant is regarded as very encouraging for the future of the tin plate industry here.

The valuable reputation acquired by the California Fig Syrup Co. by reason of the excellence of the pleasant laxative remedy, Syrup of Figs, which it manufactures, confirms the state-ment, which the company freely makes, that the best of remedies only should be used when needed by the human system. The more one takes of salts and pills the more constipated the system becomes, while on the other hand one enjoys both the method and the presents while on the of salts and pills the more constipated the system becomes, while on the other hand one enjoys both the method and the results when Syrup of Figs is taken; it is pleasant and refreshing to the taste, and acts gently yet promptly on the kidneys, liver and bowels, cleanses the system effec-tually, dispels colds, headaches and fevers and overcomes habitual consti-pation permanently; also biliousness and the many ills resulting therefrom. The great trouble with all other purratives and aperients is not that they fail to act when a single dose is taken, but that they act too violently and invariably tend to produce a habit of body requiring constantly augmented doses. Children enjoy the pleasant taste and gentle action of Syrup of Figs, the ladies find it delightful and beneficial whenever a laxative remedy is needed, and business men pronounce it invaluable, as it may be taken without interfering with business and does not gripe nor nauseate.

Is due not only to the originality and simplicity of the combination, but also to the care and skill with which it is manufactured by scientific processes known to the California Fig Syrup Co. only, and therefore we wish to im-press on all the importance of purchasing the true and original remedy. When buying note the name, California Fig Syrup Co., printed on the front of overv machane. every package.
