SPRING MILLS.

Some of Our Unruly Boys Will be Punished for their Lawless Conduct.

The Republicans down this way, and in about every other locality are thoroughly disgusted with their ticket. Its overwhelming defeat is a foregone conclusion.

Mrs. Sarah Zeigler, a widow lady of our village, after a lingering illness of several months, died on Tuesday evening last, and was interred in the cemetery at Aaronsburg on the following Tuesday. The funeral was very largely attended.

C. A. Krape has filled up with gravel the entire front of his shoe emporium, possibly at an elevation of several inches above the road level—a marked improvement. He has also added another bench on the north side of the store porch for the accommodation of customers and visitors. The croquet grounds in the rear of the building seems to grow in attraction; some very exciting, if not scientific games are played daily, and of course are witnessed by quite a concourse of ladies and gentlemen.

N. J. Straub our new tonsorial artist has fitted up his boudoir in a very pleasing and inviting manner. It is as clean as the proverbial new pin. Here customers find everything to their liking, tidiness, an expert with the razor, a fresh clean towel, plenty of water, and a thorough artist with the scissors. He has also added another chair and an assistant. A very neatly painted barber pole surmounted with a large enclosed lamp has been placed in front a few steps below the entrance. This is a decided improvement, giving plenty of light to the surroundings, and he can be proud of his tonsorial parlors.

A day or two since several unruly boys congregated in the postoffice and conducted themselves in a very rude and boisterous manner. Upon being reproved by the postmaster for their reckless behavior, they suddenly left in a very sullen mood and directed their steps to the grain house and coal office of Mr. Long, and then gave vent to their spleen by destroying the window lights in the buildings, a piece of vandalism deserving the severest punishment. Why boys will act in this senseless manner it is difficult to conceive, for a continuation of acts of this character only leads to graver folly and finally to the penitentiary. The boys committing this outrage are known and will be arrested.

Jan. N. Leitzell one of our old veterans, has just completed a very handsome piece of walnut furniture, an idea of his own; a combination of book case and wardrobe, and finished it in an elegant manner. Of course he was engaged at the work only occasionally. In ante bellum days he was an artist and a highly skilled workman in fine wood work, and his services were always in demand, but exposure and army life has incapacitated and totally unfitted him to follow his occupation. A week or two since he essayed a bicycle ride just for a little exercise, and for a short distance did remarkably well for a novice, but on returning along the creek road, the machine as it frequently does, played a trick, and without any ceremony tossed Mr. Leitzell headlong on the road. For the time being no doubt he thought of Confederates, Bull Run, and war, however no special damage resulted from the mishap, but the next time he desires a little exercise he'll walk.

FARMERS MILLS.

A Letter of Interest as Gathered by Our Correspondent.

J. H. Rishel our genial merchant, reports trade increasing daily; he carries a fine assortment of goods at rock bottom prices.

The festival held by the Union Sunday school on Saturday evening proved a grand success, and the school netted about thirty dollars.

The valuable farm of George Krape, deceased, which had been offered for sale on Monday was not sold, and the sale has been continued until Aug. 7.

Wm. Hagan was suffering with a sore eye last week; while working there was a small piece of steel entered his eye and proved very painful until he had it removed.

Calvin and John Neese both left for their respective homes last week. Calvin is located at Little Rock, Arkansas, and is engineer on one of the principal railroads, from Little Rock to St. Louis Mo. John is located in Akron, Ohio, and is a barber, at which trade he has been employed for some years.

COLVER.

Our Alert Scribe Finds Matters of Interest.

Mrs. Cora Burchfield left for her home in Johnstown Monday of this week.

C. S. Detwiler and sister Mazie spent a few days in and around Millheim this week.

Remember the festival on Church hill Saturday evening, as it will be one long to be remembered.

Farmers are through with their harvest and are now threshing and storing their grain in the bins.

The serenading last week was no tame affair; it was done up in a systematic order and to the comfort of all.

James Wert and family started for Millheim Saturday evening, at which place he visited his father, who has been ill.

Our champion huckleberryer John Wingard, still holds the belt; John picked 39 quarts one day last week; who can beat that boys?

Miss Nora Fleisher, who has been in Pittsburg for some time, returned home Saturday, and will take a short stay in our section again.

James Wagner and family, of Coburn, paid us a pleasant visit this week; we are glad to know that James is getting along so nicely in the operating business.

Jacob read the other day of the unwise man who built his house upon the sand and it greatly impressed him, but he thought a sandy foundation would be an advantage sometimes; he thought it would be well if a part of Church Hill would have such a foundation, that these many rains might take it to the sea, thereby shortening his route these dark nights.

BOALSBURG.

The News from Up the Valley as Seen by Our Scribe.

Miss Belle Rankin, one of the Bellefonte teachers, is visiting friends in town.

Miss Nora Miller, who for some time has been confined to her bed by sickness is slowly recovering.

Miss Katie Meyer has been very ill with tonsillitis but is much improved, so that she is able to be about again.

Mrs. Hall, wife of Rev. Hall, of Washington, D. C., is visiting her sisters, Mrs. Sallie and Clara Keller, of Boalsburg.

Rev. and Mrs. Buck Grove to Rebersburg Monday morning to attend the funeral of the late Rev. W. M. Landis.

Politics ran high in our town during the latter part of last week, and wound up with the declaration "Down with the Machine," by a popular verdict of two to one. "Sic Semper Tyrannis."

The young men who were camping at Stone Creek returned home. They report that they were held up by a constable, and searched for evidence of broken game laws, which evidence he was utterly unable to find. In the first place Mr. Constable, please don't judge our citizens by the kind of people you have in your vicinity. Again, Mr. Constable the man who notified you will bear watching—the boys believe that individual is guilty of some misdemeanor of the same kind of which he accused them. Again, the boys found a salt lick in the mountains, near where they were camping. What does that mean? No use of a salt lick in the summer season. On their way out of the mountains—a man—and the boys believe him the prospector, informed them of another lick which he himself watched three evenings of that week, in the same vicinity. Here is an open declaration which can be proved. We believe you had better watch up the game laws carefully and enforce on those guilty of crime.

A Klondike Cliche Cure.

A returned Klondiker says that Dawson City has adopted a novel and effective cure for crims. It is a monster wood pile, and it is enough to awe the most hardened offender. A man convicted of any offense is compelled to saw wood. He saws ten hours a day steadily, day after day, until his sentence expires. He must, regardless of the weather. In the most intense cold, the hardest rain, the fiercest snow storm, he is compelled to continue his sawing, and if the day has not ten hours of light, lanterns are provided to enable him to put in a full day.

Is not Compelled to Change Her Name.

A woman notary public in Colorado, who was recently married, asked the attorney general what name she should use officially in the future. He has replied that she must sign all documents as before the marriage, for he finds no law compelling or even authorizing a woman to drop her maiden name on the simple excuse of marriage. In fact, he says that there is no authority for a change of name at marriage or any other time.
